

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

PREFACE.

ON the completion of a long-promised contribution to English lexicography some introductory notices seem indispensable, as an accompaniment to one of the most valuable linguistic monuments of its class to be found in any European country. Whether we regard the Promptorium Parvulorum* as an authentic record of the English language in the earlier half of the fifteenth century, as illustrative of the provincial dialects of East Anglia, or as explanatory of the numerous archaisms of a debased Latinity that pervades early chronicles and documents, its value can scarcely be too highly estimated. If, on the other hand, we take into consideration the curious evidence which it supplies to those who investigate the arts and manners of bygone times, it were difficult to point out any relic of learning at the period equally full of instruction, and of those suggestive details which claim the attention of students of mediæval literature and antiquities in the varied departments of archæological research.

These considerations, not less than the great scarcity of the work, whether we enumerate the MSS. hereafter described, or the few and often mutilated copies of editions by the fathers of English typography, Pynson, Julian Notary, and Wynkyn de Worde, preserved to our days, were induce-

* In the MS. at King's College, Cambridge, the work is entitled, in the prologue, "Promptorius Parvulorum;" in Pynson's edition "Promptorius Puerorum;" and in that by Wynkyn de Worde "Promptuarium Parvulorum Clericorum." The last title is doubtless most correct. Promptuarium in classical latinity signifies a store-room or repository; in mediæval times it denoted the department in a conventual or collegiate establishment or the like, whence stores were dispensed, which in a monastery was under the charge of the Cellarer. The author gives "Boterye; celarium, promptuarium;" p. 45; "Celer; promptuarium; Celerere of the howse; cellerarius, promptuarius;" p. 65; "Spence, botery or celere; cellarium, promptuarium;" p. 468. As illustrations of the use of the term by mediæval writers, I may mention the "Promptuarium argumentorum dialogice ordinatorum," Colon. 1496, "Promptuarium exemplorum," appended to the "Sermones de Sanctis" printed by Julian Notary in 1510, "Joh. Herolt Promptuarium," Nuremb. 1520, and "Jo. Piniciani Promptuarium Vocabulorum," Aug. Vind. 1516. The title, it may be observed, was adopted for a Latin-French and French-Latin vocabulary, "Promptuarium Latinæ Linguae," printed at Antwerp by Plantin, 1564; and the well-known series of medallion portraits first published at Lyons in 1553 is entitled "Promptuarium Iconum Insigniorum."

ments to undertake a task which has now, after many unforeseen impediments, been brought to completion. I will not, however, consume time in seeking to propitiate those whose indulgence I might hope to win, for shortcomings and imperfections which no one perhaps can more truly estimate or regret than myself. The student of early literature who has engaged in the minute toils which such an undertaking demands, or in the wearisome labor of collation, may be willing perhaps to regard with leniency deficiencies and even inaccuracies into which the editor may have been betrayed in the course of his work.

The special subjects to which I have limited my observations in the following preliminary notices may be thus stated:—

I. The author of the Promptorium, with such traces as may be found of his history or of his literary labors.

II. The sources from which his Latinity was derived.

III. The MSS. of the work, and also the printed editions which have been available in the preparation of this volume.

I. We are enabled to ascertain with certainty, from the author's own statement given in the Harleian MS. at the close of his Preambulum, that the Promptorium was compiled by a Dominican Friar of Lynn Episcopi, Norfolk, A.D. 1440.<sup>a</sup> This monastery of Black Friars or Friars-Preachers stood in the eastern part of the town. Few traces of it are now to be seen. It is believed that this house existed in the reign of Edward I., and was founded by Thomas Gedney.<sup>b</sup> An anchorage is stated to have belonged to it,<sup>c</sup> and herein possibly the author, who describes himself as "fratrem predicatore reclusum Lenne Episcopi," had sought a retreat from more active duties to devote his leisure to the task which he had undertaken. If the library of his own house could not supply him with the works necessary for his literary purpose, doubtless they could have been easily obtained from those of other houses belonging to the Order.

<sup>c</sup> There was a chapel of St. Catherine in the conventual church, and with this chapel probably the above-mentioned anchorage was connected. Henry le Despencer, Bishop of Norwich, wrote a letter to the mayor and burgesses of Lynn, 5 Rich. II. desiring that they would grant their part of the house of St. Catherine to John Consolif, a servant of Lord le Despencer, the bishop's brother, there to live a solitary life upon the alms of the good people; the other part of the house, belonging to the Archdeacon of Norwich, having been before granted to the said John Consolif. Blomefield, ut supra, p. 513. There was a remarkable hermitage at Lynn, in a cave on the sea-shore, in the bishop's marsh, at a spot called "Lenne Crouch," where, as appears by a document dated 1349, a lofty cross, 110 feet in height, had been erected for the benefit of seafaring men. But hermits and recluses were essentially different.

There is no reason to suppose that the word reclusus is here used in any other than its strict sense of an "ankyr," one who was shut up in a building specially appropriated to the purpose, and with a solemn service, by episcopal sanction; after which he could not leave his cell except in case of necessity or with the permission of the bishop.<sup>a</sup> The expression in the preface, "Lenne sub regula paupertatis astrictus," probably refers to the vows taken on the occasion of his becoming a Dominican friar. The author has himself explained the word "ankyr" by "recluse," and rendered it anachorita (p. 12). An instance of a friar being a recluse (inclusus) at Pagham in Sussex is mentioned in the will of St. Richard, Bishop of Chichester;<sup>b</sup> and we read of an anchoress within the nunnery of Clemen-thorpe, near York, in 1475.<sup>c</sup>

The author was, as we learn from his own words, bred, if not born, in Norfolk: "comitatus Northfolchie modum loquendi solum sum secutus, quem solum ab infancia didici, et solotenus plenius perfectiusque cognovi." It may deserve observation that the peculiarities of the local dialect of the county should have been thus distinctly noticed at this period. We are, however, informed that, at an earlier time, Samson de Botington, abbot of St. Edmundsbury 1182—1211, was accustomed to discourse to the people in the vernacular of Norfolk, the county in which he was born and bred, and that he had a pulpit for the purpose in the conventual church.<sup>d</sup>

There has hitherto been some uncertainty in regard to the name of the

<sup>a</sup> Hearne has given a note, hereafter mentioned, in which the compiler of the work is stated to have been "frater Ricardus Fraunces, inter quatuor parietes pro Christo inclusus." Ames has inserted a note by a Mr. Lewis, who was led to the conclusion that he had actually been starved to death between four walls; but Herbert observes that the phrase means no more than that he was confined or imprisoned; to which Dibdin adds "most probably a voluntary recluse or monk." *Typ. compiler of the Promptorium. In the Glossary to Hearne's edition of Langtoft's Chronicle, under the word "Nesshe," the following statement appears: "Maken nesshe is interpreted mollifico and molleo (so 'tis expressed for mollio,) in the Promptorium parvulorum sive clericorum (call'd also Medulla Grammaticæ), a very scarce folio book printed by Richard Pynson in the year 1499, being the 14th year of the reign of King Henry VII. at which time it was look'd upon as a work of great use and excellency, as may appear from this printed note at the end. ¶ Ad laudem et ad honorem," &c. (as given in the account of Pynson's edition, p. xlii. infra.) "The author was a preaching or black Fryer, and follow'd the dialect of the East parts of England, to which he had been used from his infancy, as he tells us in his Prologue. His name was Richard Frauncis, as I find by this note written in an old hand at the beginning of a copy of this book that was lent me by Mr. Ward of Longbridge, viz. ¶ Nomen Compilatoris istius libri est Frater Ricardus Fraunces, inter quatuor parietes pro Christo inclusus." <sup>a</sup> Against this statement, however, which is at most the anonymous note or tradition of some previous possessor of the book, may be cited, first, an entry of equal authority in a copy of the same edition by Pynson in the public library at Cambridge—"Auctor hujus operis fuit Galfredus Grammaticus dictus, frater Ordinis S. Dominici." To this friar we find the authorship ascribed by the learned Bale, Bishop of Ossory, himself an East-Anglian, not indeed under the title of the Promptorium, but as the Medulla Grammaticæ, distinctly identified however by the incipial words of the Preambulum as the work more commonly known by the name first mentioned. Bale, whose Catalogue of the writers of Great Britain was published at Basle in 1557,<sup>b</sup> writes also thus with his accustomed critical asperity:—"Galfridus Grammaticus, ad scholas semper a puero nutritus, sub corruptis, obscuris, ac barbaris præceptoribus, prima ejus artis rudimenta edoctus, corruptior ipse aliorum tandem magister evasit. Sibi ipsi nihilominus, non aliter quam olim arrogans ille Palæmon, adfectus, multa tribuebat, tanquam essent cum eo nato simul et bonæ literæ, et bene dicendi artes obortæ, atque cum eo demum moriente et illæ simul essent interituræ. <sup>c</sup> The Synonyma were printed by Pynson in 1496, 1500, and 1509, "cum expositione magistri Galfridi Anglici," namely, the author of the Promptorium here mentioned; also printed by W. de Worde, 1500, 1505, 1510, 1514, 1517, 1518. The first edition, by Pynson, is in the Bodleian (Auctarium, Q. 2, 5, 9); the expositio is in Latin, with a few English words; for instance, "perichelides, Anglice a bee" (A. Sax. Beag, beáh, corona, armilla). The words are arranged alphabetically by order of subjects, e. g. "Ocillum dic os minimum funis quoque ludum, qui se de more portant per inane puella:" thus expounded by the grammarian Galfridus, "et dictum est ocillum quia in ora moveantur hue et illuc, vel quia ora astantium ad risum moveant, vel quia solebant impelli in ora transeuntium, et iste vocatur Anglice (a totre or a rydyng rope,)" namely, a swing for children. <sup>e</sup> Tanner (Bibl. Brit. p. 305) refers to a MS. of this work in the library at Lincoln Cathedral, unfortunately not included among the cathedral libraries of which the MSS. are enumerated in Catal. MSS. Angliæ. I am indebted to the Rev. G. F. Apthorp, Senior Vicar of Lincoln Cathedral, for information that there is a MS. of the Medulla Grammaticæ, the Latin-English dictionary above cited among the works of Galfridus Grammaticus, and that the volume contains a "Liber Hymnorum," stated to be by the same author as the dictionary. The shelf-mark of the MS. was formerly H. 35; in the present arrangement it is A. 3, 15.

Pits,<sup>a</sup> always a keen opponent of the bitter censures of Bale, gives the following commendation of our author, whilst he concurs in ascribing to him the compilation of the Promptorium, which, however, he likewise designates by the title of Medulla:—

“Galfridus Grammaticus in orientalibus Angliæ partibus natus, ordinis S. Dominici Monachus, ut mecum multi sentiunt. Vir bonus et simplex, atque ita rebus Grammaticis impense deditus, ut inde cognomen assumpserit, et in iis discendis atque docendis omnem pene suam ætatem consumpserit. In quo genere non illaudata reliquit posteris documenta, quæ et Parisiis et Londini fuerunt aliquando typis mandata. Scripsit autem hæc.

“Præceptiones Pueriles, librum unum. Hortum vocabulorum, librum unum. Ut etenim multos nostræ præ . . . . Medullam Grammatices librum unum. Cernentibus solícite clericorum . . . . In Poetria nova, librum unum. MS. Oxonii in Coll. Balliolensi.<sup>b</sup> Et alia. Claruit anno postquam peperit Virgo 1490.” The list includes also the works on the writings of Neccham, John de Garlandia, &c. enumerated by Bale, as above cited.

Bishop Tanner, in his Bibliotheca Britannico-Hibernica, follows the statements of Bale and Pits, repeating the list of the writings of Galfridus Grammaticus, “annon potius Starkey”? as the Bishop remarks. Among these he noticed that the Hortus Vocabulorum was a Latin-English Dictionary, adding to Bale’s brief account part of the title more fully given in the printed work as hereafter described. He proceeds to notice as follows Geoffrey’s English-Latin Dictionary, the MS. of which, now in the Harleian collection, No. 221, the learned prelate appears to have examined in Sir Simonds d’Ewes’ library:—

<sup>b</sup> Bishop Tanner observes that this work was written by Galfridus Vinesauf. In the list of MSS. at Durham, 1891, we find “Nova Poetria Galfridi Anglici qui vocatur Papa Stupor mundi.” Cat. Vet. Eccl. Dun., Surtees Soc. p. 11. Hence obviously this work is erroneously assigned by Pits to Galfridus Grammaticus, who lived in the following century. See also Cat. Vet. ut supra, p. 177: Codd. Coll. S. Trin. Cant., Catal. MSS. Angl. t. ii., p. 99, No. 446. Mr. Coxe, Catal. MSS. Oxon., Coll. Ball. nos. cclxxiii., cclxxvi., ascribes the Carmen “De Poetria nova,” dedicated to Innocent III., to Galfridus de Vino Salvo.

'Cernentibus sollicite clericorum.' Lond. 1499, fol. MS. eccl. Lincoln. H. . . . . Quod sequuntur Nominale, Verbale, in cuius margine scribitur Galfridus Starkey; quære annon hoc sit cognomen Grammatici. . . . . Claruit A.D. 1490. Bale et Pits, locis citatis."<sup>a</sup>

The identity of the name Galfridus will, I think, scarcely dispose us to accept the suggestion of the Bishop of St. Asaph as regards the marginal scribbling which he noticed in this Lincoln MS.; the name Starkey, not unknown in East Anglia, is more probably to be regarded as that of a former possessor of the volume than that of the author. Whatever may have been his patronymic, I think that we may confidently ascribe to the Dominican recluse of Lynn, Galfridus, designated, from his special studies in an age of very debased learning, "Grammaticus," the laborious achievement of the first English-Latin and Latin-English Dictionaries. No doubt can, I think, be entertained of his identity with the expounder of the "Equivoca" and the "Synonyma" of John de Garlandia, who is entitled "Magister Galfridus Anglicus" in the editions of those popular treatises printed by Pynson and W. de Worde.

The author describes with simple earnestness in his Preambulum the troubles of aspiring scholars, who, amidst the prevalent barbarism of his times, thirsted for knowledge like harts for the water-brooks, and in vain sought for guides, so that like wild asses they fainted in sobbing and sighs; according to the lament of the prophet, the young children ask bread, and no man breaketh it unto them! He "drew up for their use," as expressed by the Rev. J. E. B. Mayor, in his valuable Essays on early Lexicography, "a slight compendium, 'opus exile,' chiefly from the Catholicon, Campus Florum, and Diccionarium. The most ignorant calumniator of the middle ages could not speak of the poor recluse ('sub regula paupertatis astrictus') in more disparaging terms than he applies to himself. 'Rudis et inscius, plusque aptus discere quam docere,' he contents himself for the most part with abbreviating the works of earlier grammarians, occasionally seeking counsel from the mouth of his betters, but very rarely venturing to pronounce sentence in his own proper person. He arranges the English words in alphabetical order, first placing under every letter the nouns and other parts of speech except verbs, and then the verbs by themselves." The title of the work denoted its use; from its brevity it would be readily procured and consulted by all parvuli or clerici. Mr. Mayor proceeds as follows: "The preface ends in a strain which was natural to scholars who, having seldom any means of procuring books except by transcribing them with their own hand, and being at the mercy of any scribe who might wittingly or unwittingly travesty their most careful works, learnt to detest a blunder as worse than a crime: 'I humbly with prayers entreat all pedagogues, teachers, and masters, that when they have examined this little work, they will approve what may by God's assistance have been rightly written, and will piously correct and emend what is written ill or erringly; since humble grammarians and boys may look on this short volume as on a mirror, and find freely and immediately the common words which belong to the Latin tongue.'"<sup>a</sup>

Fortunate indeed had it been if the original conscientiously elaborated by Geoffrey's own hand had been preserved to our times. We should not have been exposed to manifold perplexities occasioned by vitiations of the text through the heedlessness of transcribers. In offering to students of our old language and literature the results of minute collation of all the known MSS. of his work, by which many corruptions of the text may be amended, I can only renew the simple appeal of the author, "ut, cum exile hoc opus perspexerint, quod Deo me juvante sit recte scriptum approbent, et quod male aut devie pie corrigant et emendent."

Scarcely inferior in interest to the Promptorium, as an aid to the student of fifteenth-century language and literature, is the Latin-English dictionary, the first work of that description, entitled Medulla Grammaticæ or Grammatices. The notices of the recluse of Lynn, to whom we are undoubtedly indebted for the Promptorium, would be incomplete without some account of the Medulla, and of such MSS. of that valuable compilation as I have been enabled to discover. The two works have been ascribed, with much probability, to the same author. I have, however, failed to discover any contemporary statement to that effect; the name of Galfridus, it is true, is found as that of the author in several MSS. of the Latin-English dictionary in question, but such entries are, I believe, by a later hand. This ascription may be solely on the authority of Bale, who gives, as before cited, among the writings of Galfridus Grammaticus, the following:—

“Medullam Grammatices, lib. i. Cernentibus solícite clericorum.”

The Prologus of the Latin-English dictionary, the Ortus, printed by Wynkyn de Worde in 1500, begins “Ut etenim multos,” &c. I have never found this preface in any MS.: the only prologue occurring in MSS. hereafter described of the dictionary entitled Medulla, of which I believe the Ortus to be a modified reproduction, begins “Hec est regula hujus libri.” See notices of these MSS., p. l. to liv. infra.

The second work attributed by Bishop Bale to Galfridus, under the title of Medulla Grammatices, seems to have been in fact the English-Latin dictionary or Promptorium, the prologue of which begins alike in the MSS. and in the printed copies with the phrase given by Bale—“Cernentibus solícite clericorum.” But in the colophon of Pynson's edition of 1499 we find—“Finit excellentissimum opus, &c. quod nuncupatur Medulla Grammaticæ.” See p. 539 infra. In Wynkyn de Worde's edition the corresponding phrase is—“opus ... quod merito Medulla Grammaticæ apud nos, vel Paruulorum Promptuarium nuncupatur.” Hence doubtless, has arisen some discrepancy which it is desirable to point out, since Pits and the learned Bishop Tanner have followed Bale in ascribing to our author one dictionary (English-Latin) under a title which properly belongs to another.<sup>a</sup>

The MSS. of the Medulla are more numerous than those of the Prompto-

<sup>a</sup> It deserves notice that these authorities agree in ascribing the authorship of the “Hortus Vocabulorum” to Galfridus Grammaticus, and it will be remembered that Bale first published his account in 1548, about a century possibly after the recluse at Lynn brought his labors to completion. There can be little doubt that they contributed largely to that book, although his original compilation may have been amended and rium; they vary in their contents in a remarkable degree; it might indeed seem that each transcriber made such modifications of the text as pleased him, or that he engrafted upon it the additional words and explanatory glosses which he found inserted by any previous hand. The text also varies greatly from that of the Ortus printed by Wynkyn de Worde, a work of considerable rarity, in the compilation of which materials were undoubtedly derived largely from the Medulla, but with certain additions from other sources, such as the Breviloquus, the Cornucopia, probably the dictionary by Nicolas Perotti so entitled, and the Gemma Vocabulorum. It is difficult to account for the great variations to be noticed in MSS. of the Medulla and in the early Latin-English Dictionaries which I believe to be substantially the same as that work. None of those known to me can be assigned to an earlier date than the latter half of the fifteenth century. As an illustration of this remarkable want of conformity, I may offer the renderings of "Ciniflo," a remarkable word which will be found in the Promptorium as the rendering of "Askysye" or askefyse; p. 15, infra.* The principal variations which I have found are as follows:—

"Ciniflo, a fyre blower, a yrene beten" (sic). (Harl. MS. 1,000.) "A feyre blowere." (Harl. MS. 2181.) "A aske bathe, s. qui sedet in cineribus, et calefactor ferri." (Harl. MS. 2,270.) "A fire blower, and a heter of blode iren, or a axe wadelle." (Harl. MS. 2,257.) "An askfist or iren heter." (Add. MS. 24,640.) "Askebawe, qui s. sedet in cineribus, et calefactor ferri." (Canterbury MS.) "An aske fyse or irne eter." (MS. Coll. Phillipps, 8,244.) "A fyre blowere, an yryn hetere, an askefyce." (MS. ibid. No. 8,806.) "Qui flat in cinere, vel qui preparat pulverem muliebrem, angl' aske fyste a fyre blower or a yrne hotter."

enlarged by some other hand from the works above enumerated, before its issue from the press of Wynkyn de Worde, in 1500.

* The reading in Harl. MS. 221 is Askysye or Askesye, but possibly the word may be more correctly Askefyse; it was a term of reproach among the Northern nations, denoting an unwarlike fellow who stayed at home in the chimney-corner like a cat among the ashes. See Ihre, Lexic. Suio-Goth. v. Aska, and the Saga of Rolf, how the Askefis won the King's daughter to wife. A corresponding French word is given by Hollyband, "Cendrier, he that keepeth the chimney-corner, a sluggard," rendered likewise by Cotgrave "a sluggard, slowbacke, idlesbie, house dove, one that sits lurking in the chimney corner." The word may be preserved, as I am informed, in the name of a house in Lincolnshire, Askefy Hall, near Spalding, once the abode of Maurice Johnson, but now usually written "Ayscough Fee Hall."

(Ortus, first edition, by W. de Worde, 1500.) "Qui flat in cinere vel qui preparat pulverem muliebrem, Anglice a fyre blower, or an yren hoter." (Ortus, edit. 1509.)

At the close of this Preface will be found a list of MSS. of the Medulla Grammaticæ and of other Latin-English Dictionaries of the fifteenth century, which probably may be classed therewith. An account of the various editions of the Ortus Vocabulorum is there also given.

II. I proceed to offer some remarks on the sources from which the Latin words in the Promptorium were derived, according to the list given by the compiler. See p. 3, infra.

1. The first of the "auctores, ex quorum libris collecta sunt vocabula hujus libelli," is the most ample and highly esteemed of mediæval dictionaries, the Catholicon or Summa of Johannes de Janua, or Januensis, de Balbis. It has been repeatedly printed, the earliest edition being the noble volume produced at Mayence in 1460, which was followed by another at Venice in 1487. According to Du Cange, the author, a native of Genoa in the thirteenth century, combined the works of Papias and Ugutio, and reproduced a dictionary largely augmented, "ex multis diversis doctorum texturis elaboratum atque contextum," as stated in a colophon from which we learn that his labors were completed in the year 1286.<sup>a</sup> However severely this great work and also the treatises by John de Garlandia and other such writers are decried by Erasmus, in his lamentations regarding the degraded character of rudimental education at the commencement of the sixteenth century, the student of mediæval antiquities or of the literature of the period will find in the Catholicon an auxiliary rarely to be consulted without advantage and instruction.

2. Ugutio, Ugutio, or Hugo, a native of Pisa, was Bishop of Ferrara towards the close of the twelfth century. Ughelli supposes that he died about 1212.<sup>b</sup> The Elementarium compiled about A.D. 1053 by Papias appears to have supplied the groundwork of his dictionary, of which the design is thus set forth in the preface: "Opus divina favente gratia com-

Numerous MSS. of the Vocabularium of Uguccio exist, but it does not appear that it was ever printed.<sup>a</sup> It will be noticed that the compiler of the Promptorium cites not only the work in majori volumine, but also one in a metrical form designated Uguccio versificatus.<sup>b</sup>

3. Brito.—The treatise by William Brito, to which frequent reference is made by the compiler of the Promptorium, is probably his "Summa, sive opusculum difficultium vocabulorum Bible," an explanatory Glossary of words occurring in Holy Writ, sometimes entitled "Lexicon sive Vocabularium Bible," or, as described by Fabricius, "Vocabularius cum vocabulorum Hebraicorum in Bibliis occurrentium interpretatione Latina." Some account of this work may be found in Du Cange's Preface to his Glossary, § 49, edit. Henschel, t. i. p. 30, and Bandinius, Codd. Lat. t. iv. col. 218. The Summa is in prose, but it commences with some prefatory verses:—

Difficiles studeo partes, quas Biblia gestat, Pandere; sed nequeo latebras nisi qui manifestat Auxiliante Deo, &c.

<sup>a</sup> The following MSS. may be enumerated. In the Bodleian, Laud MS. 1384, 71, "Huicij Pisani Dictionarium Latinum;" and MS. Bodleii, 2486, 9. "Hugutionis Pisani Derivationes magnæ sive Dictionarium Etymologicum;" Cat. MSS. Angl. t. i. pp. 70, 129: "Hugonis, vel Hugutionis, episcopi Pisani derivationes magnæ," &c., Lambeth MS. 80: "Hugonis liber de significatione verborum, sive derivationes magnæ, opus valde prolixum," ibid. No. 120. See also Arundel MSS. in Brit. Mus. 127, 508, and 515, the latter being an abridgement. MSS. are also to be found in the Cathedral libraries at York and Durham; at Balliol College, Nos. 279, 298, and at Caius College, No. 459; Catal. by the Rev. J. J. Smith. In Add. MS. 11611 may be found "Tabula per alphabetum condita a fratre Lamberto de Pisis," an index of all words explained by Uguccio, with the indication of the primary words under which they occur, facilitating the use of the work.

<sup>b</sup> Possibly to be found in the Lambeth Library, MS. No. 502, f. 15, "Regulæ grammaticales versibus conclusæ." In some instances reference is made in the Promptorium both to the work "in majori volumine," and also in the versified form. It deserves notice, that, where the latter is cited, the reference is rarely to the letter which is the initial of the Latin word in question. Thus we find "Cleppyn or clenchnyn; tinnio;" Ug. V. in S.—Heere bonde; vitta; Ug. V. in C.—Mete yevare; dapaticus; Ug. V. in A.—Mychar; erro; Ug. V. in P." &c.

Brito was, according to Pits, a native of Wales of ancient British race, a monk of the Franciscan order versed in the learning of his times, and his writings were highly in esteem in foreign lands; he died at Grimsby in 1356.<sup>a</sup> It does not appear that the Summa has been printed. Another treatise entitled Synonyma ascribed to Brito was, according to Fabricius, printed at Paris in 1508. MSS. of the Summa are to be found in the British Museum, Sloane MS. 3319; Add. MS. 10,350, from Heber's library; see also Lambeth MS. 190; MS. Coll. Ball. Oxon., xi.; and MSS. Univ. Libr. Cantabr., Catal. vol. iii., p. 451.

4. Mirivalensis in Campo Florum.—A large number of Latin words, including many of obscure and curious character,<sup>b</sup> are cited as derived from this work, for which I have made diligent search hitherto in vain. In the library of St. Peter's College, Cambridge, there is a treatise thus described; "No. 1748, 86. Liber cui tit. Campus florum. Pr. Fulcite me floribus. Observat ordinem Alphabeticum."<sup>c</sup> This treatise, however, consisting of short common-places from the fathers and canonists, has proved on examination wholly different from the Campus Florum used in the compilation of the Promptorium. I have failed equally in the endeavor to identify the place or monastery from which the name of the author may have been taken. The Cistercian Abbey of Mereval (de Mira Valle)

<sup>a</sup> Pits, p. 481; Wadding. Ann. Minorum; Fabricius, Bibl. med. et inf. Lat. t. i. p. 282; Tanner, p. 121, &c. Brito is cited in the Promptorium under "Bras pott; emola;" p. 47; "Chyldys belle; bulla;" p. 75; "Cok belle;" p. 86; "Forelle, to kepe yn a boke;" p. 171.

<sup>b</sup> It may be well to cite a few Latin words given on the authority of the Campus Florum; the following will be serviceable, in any future inquiry, for purposes of comparison, if any work thus entitled should be brought to light; it may have been known by some other title, and hence my search has been fruitless. "Appulmoco, dyschmete; pomacium. Astelle, a schydy; teda. Babulle; pegma. Bane of a pley; coragium. Baselarde; sica. Caraway, herbe; carwey, sic scribitur in campo florum. Hey benche; orciatra. Joppe or folte; joppus. Karde for wulle; campus florum dicit quod cardi sunt pectines ferrei. Kyptre of a welle; tela. Lullynge songe; fescennia. Murche, lytyll man; nanus. Parget or playster for wallys; gypsum. Renlys for mylke; coagulum. Sprete or quante; conta. Stacyonere; bibliopola. Wyylde fyrr; ignis Grecus." These words will show how varied the contents of the Campus Florum must have been.

<sup>c</sup> Catal. MSS. Angliæ, vol. ii. p. 149. The title was taken from the Canticles, and also because, as the author states, he had compiled the work "contemplacione venerabilis patris domini mei domini archiepiscopi Panormitani, videlicet domini Theobaldi de Ursinis de Campo Florum," to whom he had transmitted it for correction. In the University library, Cambridge, is a MS. treatise entitled "Pratum Florum," beginning "Grammaticæ flores presens liber insinuabit." XIV. cent., MS. 1619, f. 98. Catal. vol. iii. p. 240.

in Warwickshire was first suggested; there was a monastery in Champagne called Miravallis or Mureau, in the duchy of Bar; and a Cistercian convent near Milan also bore the name.<sup>a</sup>

5. Johannes de Garlandia in diccionario scolastico.—The writings of this author are of considerable interest to the antiquary, however debased may be the Latinity of his treatises, once among the best elementary auxiliaries for the instruction of youth. It is not without reason that Erasmus thus bursts forth in contempt of the complicated sophistries of the Schools. “Deum immortalem! quale seculum erat hoc quum magno apparatu disticha Joannis Garlandini adolescentibus operosis ac prolixis commentariis enarrabantur.” The curious information, however, preserved in the Dictionarius of John de Garlandia, sometimes called de Gallandia or Gerlandus, may induce us to overlook the imperfect erudition of the period. The work has been edited with care by M. Géraud in the “Collection de Documents inédits sur l’histoire de France,”<sup>b</sup> and subsequently by Mr. Thomas Wright in a valuable volume of Vocabularies edited by him, and published at the expense of Mr. Joseph Mayer.<sup>c</sup> It commences thus,—“Dictionarius dicitur libellus iste a dictionibus magis necessariis quas tenetur quilibet scholaris,” &c. The statements of writers on mediæval authors and literature are contradictory in regard to the period when John de Garlandia lived, and the country of which he was a native. M. Géraud came to the conclusion that he was born in France in the eleventh century; that he travelled across the seas, returned to his native country, and there died; he supposes that the Dictionarius was compiled towards the year 1200. In this opinion my learned friend André Pottier, in his notices of the MSS. in the Public Library at Rouen which are under his care, was disposed to concur. There is a MS. of the Dictionary in that collection, accompanied by other treatises by John de Garlandia, including his Liber Distigii mentioned hereafter. Tanner, however, and some other writers affirm that he was an Englishman, who studied at Oxford, and subsequently established himself in the University of Paris early in the thirteenth century; in 1229 he became a professor at Toulouse, but he returned to Paris, and probably died there soon after 1250. He dedicated his treatise "De mysteriis rerum que sunt in ecclesia," of which a notice will be found hereafter, to Fulke Basset, Bishop of London 1241-1259. Mr. Wright has entered more fully into the history of John de Garlandia in the Introduction to his poem De triumphis Ecclesie edited for the Roxburghe Club, and also in an introductory note in the edition of the Dictionarius above mentioned.<sup>a</sup> He expresses the conclusion, to which I had been likewise led to incline, that these treatises should be assigned to the early part of the thirteenth century.

<sup>a</sup> Whilst these pages were in the press, Sir F. Madden has pointed out a work entitled “Campus Florum,” by Thomas Gualensis, of which see a notice infra, p. lxxiii.

The author of the Promptorium has drawn so largely upon these obscure relics of mediæval learning that the vexed questions connected with John de Garlandia, and the precise period when he wrote these grammatical treatises once so highly esteemed, are not devoid of interest. Upon this point of literary history, however, the evidence has been conclusively summed up by the Rev. J. E. B. Mayor in a dissertation in the Journal of Philology which I have already cited.<sup>b</sup> Mr. Mayor observes that "the patriotic attempt of Dom Rivet (Hist. Litt. de la France, viii. 83) to establish the French descent of Johannes de Garlandia has been defeated by the fairness of a later editor of that noble work, M. Victor le Clerc (ibid. xxi. 369), who has also proved that Johannes lived, not in the eleventh century, as Géraud maintained as late as 1837, but amid the intellectual stir of the thirteenth. For, in a poem entitled 'De Triumphis Ecclesiæ,' portions of which have been printed by Mr. Wright,<sup>c</sup> he thus at once acknowledges and repudiates his native land . . .

Anglia cui mater fuerat, cui Gallia nutrix,
Matri nutricam præfero mente meam.

Another poem, 'De Mysteriis Ecclesiæ,' published entire by Otto, commemorates the death of that 'Gemma pudicitiae . . . flos philosophiæ, Aula decens morum, redolens velut area florum,' Alexander of Hales, and is dedicated to Fulco Bishop of London. Now the irrefragable doctor, as Johannes himself tells us, died in 1245, and Fulke Basset retained his see, spite of the need and greed of King and Pope, from 1244 to 1259. Again, the triumph of the church which Johannes commemorates at greatest length is the Albigensian crusade (De Triumphis Ecclesiæ, iv. v. vi.), and in his Dictionary he tells us that he saw at Toulouse, among other engines of war, that by which Simon de Montfort was killed in 1218." There can no longer, I apprehend, be any question as regards the period to which we should assign an author, in whose productions, trifling as their grammatical value may be, the antiquary will still find, and more particularly in his Dictionarius, a large amount of recondite information.

6. Commentarius Curialium.—This curious little work is found in a collection of treatises principally by John de Garlandia, to whom it is also there attributed, preserved in the Library of Caius College, Cambridge.<sup>a</sup> I acknowledge with pleasure the kindness of the Master and Fellows in entrusting to me that valuable MS., which has proved of no slight advantage in the present undertaking. The Commentarius, of which no other copy has come under my observation, consists of six leaves; it is written in double columns, in a small neat hand of the thirteenth century, with marginal explanations and interlinear glosses by a second scribe in paler ink. It commences,—“Commentarius liber iste curialium personarum et rerum et vocabulorum preorditur,” and ends as follows,—“Hec edita sunt parysius sub venerabili cancellario parysius Galtero de castello Theodorici, anno domini m°.cc°.40°. sexto gloriosum et admirabilem partum beate Marie Virginis demonstrante.” If, as appears most probable, this tract, written in the style and manner of the Dictionarius by John de Garlandia previously noticed, can be recognised with certainty as from his pen, this colophon and date at its close supply fresh and conclusive evidence in regard to the disputed question of the period when he wrote, and agree perfectly with the circumstances mentioned hereafter in regard to his work “de Mysteriis ecclesie,” and its dedication to Fulke, Bishop of London, in the first half of the thirteenth century. The Commentarius Curialium seems well deserving of being printed, as illustrative not only of language but of manners and customs, and of social life at that period. The text is moreover full of French words explanatory of Latin terms of which a considerable portion are found scattered through the pages of the Promptorium.

<sup>a</sup> Catalogue of MSS. in Caius College Library, by the Rev. J. J. Smith, No. 385. This volume, "Ex dono Magistri Rogeri Marchalle," contains, besides the Commentarius, "Dictionarius Magistri Johannis de Garlandia, cum commento;" commencing, "Sacerdos ad altare accessurus," &c., treating of sacred vestments and ornaments; also of certain sciences, grammar, logic, arithmetic, ecclesiastical and civil law, &c.—"Accentarius ejusdem. —Dictionarius alius ejusdem sub alia forma;" the same as that printed by Mr. Wright (Volume of Vocabularies, p. 120), and by M. Géraud (Docum. Inédits). "De misteriis ecclesie per eundem Johannem de Garlandia;" commencing, "Anglia quo fulget:" also a "Compendium gramatice per eundem," in verse, commencing—"Gramaticam trivialis apex subiicit sibi fermo;" and "Morale scolarium per eundem," in verse. In the Histoire Littéraire de la France, tom. viii. p. 96, three distinct dictionaries are attributed to John de Garlandia. Of these, two, doubtless, are found in the volume here described; the third may be the compilation of similar nature entitled Commentarius.

7. Libellus misteriorum qui dicitur Anglia que fulget (quo fulget, Prompt. Winch. MS.)—Among works attributed to John de Garlandia a treatise is mentioned by Bale, p. 153, on the authority of Bostonus Buriensis, entitled “Mysteriorum Ecclesie, lib. 1. Anglia quo tendis tua dum.” Pits, p. 184, gives the same line as the commencement of a work with the title thus slightly varied, “De mysteriis Ecclesie:” he mentions also a commentary upon it. Leyser includes it in his list of the writings of Garlande.<sup>a</sup> A copy of a metrical treatise with a similar title but commencing “Anglia quo fulget,” may be found in Cott. MS. Claudius A. viii. f. 204 b., concluding thus, “Lucida terribulum redolem campana sonora;” and there is also a copy in a collection of grammatical tracts chiefly by John de Garlandia in Caius College Library, Cambridge.<sup>b</sup> The prefatory lines commence thus:—

<sup>b</sup> No. 385, f. 163, possibly late æc. xiii. This curious collection has been previously

In the margin is written : "Domino F. episcopo London. Magister J. de Karlandia (sic) seipsum et opus suum de misteriis ecclesie." There are interlinear glosses as well as marginal comments by a later hand; over basis aurea in the third line is to be read "alludit nomini suo," namely Basset. This work is a mystical explanation in hexameter verse of rites of the church, vestments and appliances of sacred use, &c. The difference of opinion among writers on mediæval literature, as regards the time when John de Garlandia lived and the country of which he was a native, has been already noticed. The assertion of Pits, that he was born in England, has been followed by Fabricius, Moreri, and Du Cange; and, although the dedication of the poem which I have here noticed is doubtless insufficient evidence to prove that the friend of a bi-hop of London was himself an Englishman, yet it may suffice to show that the author was contemporary with a distinguished prelate of that see named Fulke, and none so named is found earlier than Fulke Basset, who was elected in 1241, and died in 1259.<sup>a</sup> It would thus appear that John de Garlandia lived in the thirteenth century, which the evidence previously noticed tends also to prove, and not in the early part of the eleventh century, as stated by the Benedictines in the Histoire Littéraire de la France.

8. Merarius.—In a volume of grammatical tracts mostly attributed to Johannes de Garlandia, preserved in the Library at Caius College, Cambridge, as already noticed, I find appended to the "Dictionarius noticed. Catalogue of MSS. in Caius College Library, by the Rev. J. J. Smith, p. 179. A copy among Archbishop Parker's MSS. C.C.C. Cant. is described by Nasmyth, "Carmen ad Fulconem Episcopum Londoniensem de Ritibus Ecclesiasticis."—MS. CL. No. 4.

<sup>a</sup> M. Géraud, Paris sous Philippe le Bel, Append. p. 583, adverts to this poem by John de Garlandia, but he observes that it is not known who the bishop in question was, his name being indicated only by the initial F. He is, however, identified by the gloss in the MS. above described. The argument that the author was born in France, because the name de Garlandia, possibly from a place so called in Brie, is French rather than English, does not prove that he was not a native of this country, or of a family established in England.

cum comento" by that author, a short tract with an elaborate gloss.<sup>a</sup> A second copy is also found in the same library, following the tract entitled Distigius or Distigium,<sup>b</sup> attributed to the same writer, as hereafter noticed. That little relic of barbarous Latinity, which seems suited rather to darken knowledge than to initiate the unlearned, may probably have been composed by John de Garlandia, although his name does not appear, and I have not succeeded in discovering the tract in question in any catalogue of his productions. It commences thus,—"Merarii nuper cintillanti jubare pannidensi rejecta diployde macellam ex bisso subuculam cum recino duntaxat influo oloserico." The gloss or commentary gives the following explanation of the title of the work. "Merarii, etc. Hec meraria et hec merenda est comestio qui manducatur in meridie," &c.<sup>c</sup> On comparing some of the Latin words that occur in the Promptorium with a reference to Merarius or to the Glossa Merarii, as the authority, I find them all in this treatise, which therefore is doubtless that thus cited. It should seem that Merarius signifies the noon-tide time of the day, when it was usual to partake of a "nunchion" or noon-meal. (See Nunmete, infra, p. 360.) Whether the title of the treatise, however, was intended to refer in any manner either to the light of mid-day, or to the timely nourishment then dispensed, I cannot venture to affirm. As a specimen of its almost enigmatical contents, the following paragraph may be cited:—"Arpaco hinc repente mihi pseudofania phalam effetavit in campitro machinatam, in projecto monobatem, in yperliminario diapennem."

9. Distigius.—In one of the volumes in the Library of Caius College, Cambridge, entrusted to me as before mentioned by the Master and Fellows to aid my researches, I find, among grammatical writings by John de Garlandia and other writers, a treatise consisting of 42 hexameter lines thus entitled, "Opus istud dicitur Distigium, a dia, duo, et stigos, versus, quia in duobus versibus comprehendet autor totam sententiam proverbialem." There are a voluminous gloss in Latin and a few interlinear explanations. It commences thus, "Cespitat (anglice, stumlyt) in phaleris ippus

<sup>c</sup> So also in the Ortus Vocabulorum I find these words: "Merarius, i. meridianus. —Merarius, est quidem liber."

(i. equus) blattaque (i. purpura) supinus (i. superbus).<sup>a</sup> This MS. is probably of the close of the thirteenth century. There exist other MSS. of this tract, which has been attributed to John de Garlandia; it has been printed by Mr. Wright in the collection of vocabularies published by Mr. Mayer.<sup>b</sup> The text there given, accompanied by numerous English glosses, is taken from Harl. MS. 1002, fol. 118, sæc. xv., but the text is probably of earlier date. At the end is written, "explicit liber equus caballus;" and hence it may be conjectured that Distigius is the same treatise as that cited in the Promptorium as "liber equi." See p. xxxv. infra. This curious vocabulary contains a considerable proportion of words adopted from the Greek, and in one of the MSS. I find the following observation, "Intencio est quedam vocabula ex Grecis extorta provecis proferre, et etiam fatuis et stolidis qui volunt esse magistri antequam sciant."<sup>c</sup>

10. Robertus Kylwarbi.—Of this voluminous writer, described by Bale as "garrulus sophista," ample notices have been given by writers who have treated of the eminent men and the literature of the thirteenth century.<sup>d</sup> He was a native of England, educated at Paris and Oxford;

<sup>c</sup> Among Sir Thomas Bodley's MSS. there is a copy entitled "Liber Ditigii (sic), hoc est disticha 21, in quibus ex destinato plures voces e Greco fonte derivatæ occurrunt, sed addita in margine expositione Anglica." See the Catal. MSS. Angliæ, t. i. p. 135, No. 2562, 67. Among the MSS. in the Conventual Library at Peterborough there was "Liber Distigii Glosatus." Gunton's Peterb. p. 205. This metrical treatise may have been sometimes designated by another title, and be identical with that ascribed to John de Garlandia by Bale, Pits, and other writers, namely "Cornutum sive disticha." Haenel, Catal. MSS., p. 531, mentions a MS. at Basle entitled "Cornutus antiquus et novus;" also "Distichium sive cornutus." A copy is in the British Museum, Arund. MS. 243, f. 343, "Cornutus, sive disticha hexametra moralia cum interpretatione Germanica et commentario Latino." The "Expositio disticii seu Cornuthi," by Mag. Jo. de Garlandia (sic) was printed at Hagenau in 1489. Hain, Repert. Bibl., vol. ii. p. 436. It should be noticed that Johannes Destigius, an author of English origin, is mentioned by Pits, p. 873, who wrote a work "Super Vocabulis Sacrorum Bibliorum;" following the writings of Neccham and Brito.

he became Provincial of the Dominican Order in England; was nominated Archbishop of Canterbury by Gregory X. in 1272; resigned the see on being made a cardinal by Nicholas III. in 1278; and died shortly after at Viterbo, as it was alleged, by poison. Among his numerous works enumerated by Pits and Tanner there are several grammatical and other treatises which may have supplied materials to the compiler of the Promptorium, such as the "Tractatus de ortu scientiarum," of which copies exist in Cott. MS. Vitell. A. 1., f. 173; in the Bodleian library among the Digby MSS.; in the college libraries of Merton and Balliol, and elsewhere. He wrote commentaries on Priscian's treatise De Constructione, on Donatus, and on various works of Aristotle.

11. Alexander Neccham.—A full account of the voluminous writings of Neckam or Neccham, one of the most erudite scholars of his time, is given by Leland, Pits, Tanner, and other writers on the literary history of the twelfth and thirteenth centuries. He was a native of Hertfordshire, born at or near St. Alban's about A.D. 1157, and pursued his studies in the schools of France and Italy, where his learning was held in high estimation. In 1215 he became Abbot of Cirencester; he died at Worcester in 1217. His principal works were theological. He compiled also a treatise "De rerum naturis," a "Repertorium Vocabulorum," an "Elucidarium Bibliothecæ," explanatory of difficult words in the Scriptures; also a treatise entitled "Isagoge ad Artes." The first of these, namely "De naturis rerum libri duo priores," has recently been edited by Mr. Wright for the series of Chronicles and Memorials of Great Britain published under the direction of the Master of the Rolls. It was, however, as I believe, from the treatise "De nominibus Utensilium" of Alexander Neccham that the compiler of the Promptorium derived a large number of Latin words. That curious little work has been given by Mr. Wright, in the collection of Vocabularies to which I have already made frequent reference, from Cotton. MS. Titus D. xx., a copy written about the close of the thirteenth century, and accompanied by interlinear English glosses.<sup>a</sup> The text has been collated with two other MSS. in the Imperial Library at Paris.<sup>b</sup> There was a copy in the cathedral

<sup>b</sup> Among numerous words occurring in the Promptorium with references to Neccham, and likewise found in the treatise "De Utensilibus" given by Mr. Wright, may be cited, library at Worcester, where the author, who is said to have been an intimate friend of Sylvester de Evesham, bishop of that see, and to have died at the episcopal palace at Kemsey, was buried in the cloisters. His mutilated effigy is still pointed out. This manuscript is now unfortunately not to be found: there is a copy in the library at Caius College, Cambridge, another at St. Peter's College in the same University;<sup>a</sup> and at Oxford a valuable copy with a French gloss exists at St. John's College, MS. No. clxxviii. 23.

The works enumerated in the foregoing list, as the principal authorities consulted by the compiler of the Promptorium, were not, however, the only sources from which the materials of his dictionary were derived. It may be of some interest to collect the scattered notices that occur under various words, since they indicate not only the grammatical or other treatises with which the recluse friar of Lynn was conversant, but they may also serve to shew the resources of conventual libraries in the fifteenth century. Mr. Hingeston has pointed out, from the number of rare and valuable works referred to in Capgrave's Chronicle, how extensive a store of learning must have been treasured up in the library of the Austin Friars at Lynn,<sup>b</sup> and it is probable that the library of the neighbouring convent of the Dominicans was not less copiously provided. The works of Aristotle are repeatedly cited; thus under the word "Dysowre," p. 122, is found "Bomolochus," Aristotleles in Ethicis;" the same treatise is cited under "Dullarde," p. 135, and, under "Deffe or dulle," p. 116, reference occurs to Aristotle "in politicis." Under "Telte," p. 488, is found a reference to "Egidius super rhetoricam Aristotelis." The "Historia Scholastica," doubtless the popular work of Peter Comestor, a celebrated theological writer of Troyes in the twelfth century, is cited under "Fyyr forke," p. 161, and "Prynce "Garbage of fowlys; entera, vel azia," p. 186 (compare Mr. Wright's edition, p. 97); "Jowpe, garment; jupa," p. 275 (Wright, p. 98); Latche or snekke; peusula," p. 283 (compare Wright, p. 110); "Perre, drynke; piretum," p. 394 (compare Wright, p. 98).

<sup>c</sup> The word in Harl. MS. 221 is written Homolochus. Βομίλοχος, a low jester, is a word used by Aristotle, Ethica, N. 4, 8, 3, and also by Aristophanes. Compare Ortus Vocabulorum:—"Bomolochus, ī. scurra (a brawler):—Bomolochia, ī. scurrilitas."

of prestys," p. 413. The "Vitæ Patrum" <sup>a</sup> are given as the authority for the Latin words occurring under "Gylle, lytylle pot," p. 194. Reference will be found to the "Horologium divine sapiencie" under "Amuce of an hare," p. 11, probably the treatise with that title by the celebrated Dominican preacher and ascetic divine of the fourteenth century, Henry de Suson; it was translated into French and English, and was printed by Caxton. Pits, however, ascribes to John Wilton, a monk of Westminster, c. 1360, a treatise entitled "Horologium Sapientie," commencing "Sentite de Domino." The name of an author whom I have not succeeded in identifying occurs under "Cawdelle; caldellum," p. 64, where it is said "hoc nomen habetur in commentario Johannis de Gara." Under "Feest; agapes," p. 158, are found the following, "Nota, de Agape in Jure, distinctione xlij. Si quis; et Raymundus, lib. iii. tit. iv." The former of these is a reference to the first part of the Decretum of Gratian, of which several printed editions exist; the latter to the Summa by the Dominican Raimundus de Pennaforte, compiler of the Decretals. Again, under another word, "Frogge or froke, munkys abyte; flocus, in Jure, libro vj.;" p. 179, it is probable that we have a reference to the Decretals. References to "Greg' in dialog." deserve notice; the work in question being probably the Dialogues of St. Gregory the Great, of which several early translations exist. At p. 483 will be found "Swerd berare; spatarius, Greg' in dialog." and in the Winchester MS. "Schyppe, boote; carabus, secundum Greg' x. dialog." I may also here notice the following: "Matyn at the chesse; mato, ij. libro de tribus dietis, cap. ij.;" <sup>b</sup> and "Matynge at the chesse; matacio, in libro iij. de dominis, cap. ij.;" p. 239. Under "Leterone" we find a Latin term for a lectern or desk, discus, given as "secundum li. equi," possibly, as has been already suggested, the metrical vocabulary entitled "Liber Equus Caballus," given by Mr. Wright among the Vocabularies published <sup>a</sup> The "De Vitis SS. Patrum liber" has been attributed to St. Jerome, but hereon the learned have been much at variance. Oudin, t. i. p. 851. The work was doubtless, as Bellarmine and others have observed, compiled from several authors. These lives have been frequently printed; they were translated into several languages. A translation by Caxton from the French, finished, as the colophon states, on the last day of his life, was printed by Wynkyn de Worde in 1495. Dibdin, Typog. Ant. vol. ii. p. 43.

<sup>b</sup> Mr. W. S. Walford, to whose valuable suggestions I have very often been indebted, has pointed out that among the books of Charles V. King of France, 1409, occurs a "Liber de tribus dietis," but there is no clue to what may have been the subject of it. See Bibliothèque Prototypographique, p. 81.

ment in excellent preservation. The writing, of which a fac-simile is given, is probably not much later than the date of the compilation; it is in two columns, and carefully executed, distinct, and remarkably uniform throughout. The leaves measure  $9\frac{3}{8}$  inches in height by  $6\frac{3}{4}$  in breadth. The first twelve are rubricated, the initial letter of each line being in red. The English words also are underlined with the same color. A few errors and omissions have been amended. Each quire of parchment has a checkword at the lower corner of its last leaf, and the leaves are numbered, the signatures running from A i to r, Arabic numerals being used here and also throughout the MS. A small portion is deficient, by some accidental oversight, namely in the verbs between Clyvyñ and Cracchyñ. This MS. was formerly in the possession of Sir Symonds D'Ewes, Bart. It is doubtless the same which is noticed by Bishop Tanner (Bibl. Brit. p. 305, published in 1748). On the reverse of the fly-leaf at the beginning of the MS. the following note is written, "This book belongs to Sir Symonds Dews Library, and is to be restored." I have been unable to ascertain whether this possessor of the volume was the distinguished statesman and antiquary of that name, compiler of the Journals of the Parliament in the reign of Elizabeth; he died in 1650. In the list of MSS. in the possession of his grandson, Sir Symonds D'Ewes, Bart. of Stow Langtoft Hall, Suffolk, who succeeded in 1685, I find "An ancient Latin-English Dictionary written about the year 1440," the volume probably now under consideration, but inadvertently described as Latin-English instead of English-Latin.<sup>a</sup> There can, however, be little doubt that the valuable library at Stow Langtoft, of which this MS. formed part, had been collected by the eminent scholar, the friend of Selden, Spelman, and Cotton.

On the fly-leaf at the beginning of the Harl. MS. is pasted a slip of paper, with the name probably of a former owner,—"liber hugonis barker."<sup>b</sup>

I may here repeat the observation previously made<sup>c</sup> that this valuable MS., although as I believe from internal evidence only a transcript, has been selected for the groundwork of the present edition, as supplying the earliest, most ample, and most correct text among the MSS. of the work which have come under my observation. The original by the author's hand has not been brought to light, and there are numerous indications of alterations in spelling and other minutiae by the transcriber. The age of the transcript, however, may entitle it to be considered as that which most faithfully represents the original text; it contains a much greater number of words than are found in any other MS. or in Pynson's and subsequent editions; in addition to this a synonym or explanatory phrase is frequently found in the Harl. MS., contributing to elucidate the signification of some archaism which in the other texts is comparatively obscure.

2. Fragment of a copy in Harl. MS. 2,274, from which a few various readings have been obtained; they are in each instance indicated by the number of the MS. It contains portions of the letters G. H. M. N. and R.; and more nearly resembles the text of Pynson's printed edition than any of the other MSS. The termination of the verbs is written -ynge, as in Grawntyng, &c.

3. MS. preserved in the Library of King's College, Cambridge (class mark, No. 8); a thin volume containing 75 leaves of parchment; dimensions 12 inches by 8 inches. The writing is in double columns, in a good legible hand of the latter part of the fifteenth century, and very uniform throughout the book. The initials at the beginning of each letter in the alphabetical arrangement are painted with bright opaque blue, and have rubricated marginal flourishes, as shown in the facsimile. On the reverse of the last leaf the donor is thus recorded, "Dedit Collegio Regali Sam. Thom's ibidem Socius 1684."<sup>a</sup> The name, probably, of a previous possessor is written on a fly-leaf at the beginning, "Rob't london," and repeated on the last leaf, in the same hand, "Rob't london nuper de Aldeby in Com. Norff. ar."<sup>b</sup> The names, "Thomas Wyndham," "Joh'es Buckenham," and "John Bayspoole," occur also in the volume.

<sup>a</sup> Samuel Thomas, possibly the donor of this book, was appointed prebendary of Wells, Aug. 3, 1681. His successor in the stall (Compton Bishop) was appointed in 1691. Le Neve, edit. Hardy.

<sup>b</sup> The family of this name lived, according to Blomefield (Hist. Norf. vol. viii. p. 4) at Aldby or Aldeburgh, and had a lease of the priory manor. He mentions three persons, in successive generations, living there about the sixteenth century and subsequently, each of whom bore the name of Robert London.

In the present edition all various readings and additions obtained by collation of this MS. are indicated by the letter (K).

4. MS. in the Chapter Library, Winchester Cathedral; on paper, consisting of 114 leaves; dimensions  $13\frac{1}{2}$  inches by 10 inches.<sup>a</sup> The writing is in double columns, in a bold clear hand without any rubrication. The text resembles that of Harl. MS. 221, but it is by no means identical; some words which occur in the other MSS. or in the edition printed by Pynson, but are not in the Harl. MS., being here found. The verbs from CLYVYN or ryvyn to COWRYN, inclusive, accidentally omitted in the Harl. MS., occur here, and they have been supplied in the present edition chiefly from this MS. The errors of the scribe are few and of slight importance; a few words are omitted, and some transposed. In regard to certain peculiarities in spelling, I noticed woke for oke, wold for old, &c.; awynsweryn, byyndyn, chawynce, dawynce, fesawynt, grawyntyn, parchemyyn, plyawynt, &c.; rygthe, myth, nygthe, wygthe; also hwy for why, hwat for what; an happel, hirkyn for irk, and the like. The þ is often but not invariably used, and many words are written with th. This fine relic of the ancient conventual library contains the "Liber Catonis" with other tracts, and after the "Explicit" of several of these is written—"Q' M. W. Grene." It was in the possession of Thomas Sylkestede, Prior of Winchester about 1498, a liberal benefactor to the fabric of the Cathedral, the friend of Bishop Fox, to whom he rendered assistance in founding Corpus Christi College, Oxford; he died in 1524. On a leaf of parchment at the beginning of the volume is written—"Liber T. Sylkestede, prec. xiiij s. iiij d.," and lower on the page in a smaller hand—"Anno domini m.cccc. iiij<sup>xx</sup> xiiij" (1494). On the reverse of one of the fly leaves at the end is written—"Constat Thome Sylksted," to which is added in different ink "Supprioris," the book having possibly belonged to him previously to his election to that office. Also—"Iste liber est de domo Sancti Swythini Wynton. Qui eum alienaverit Anathema sit." On a second fly-leaf the record of its having belonged to the monastery of Winchester is repeated; also the date m.cccc. iiij<sup>xxv</sup>. (1485) the Anathema, and a few words scarcely legible, which may be read—"Ex providencia Willelmi Grene," whose name occurs repeatedly elsewhere as before noticed; he may have been either the scribe or the donor.

In the present edition all various readings and additions obtained by collation of this MS. are indicated by the letter (S). It is with grateful satisfaction that I would express my acknowledgment of the liberality of the Dean and Chapter in entrusting to me, through the friendly mediation of Mr. Vaux, a volume of such value, and from which I have derived much assistance in my undertaking.

5. MS. in the library of Sir Thomas Phillipps, Bart., collated, by his kind permission, at Middle Hill (No. 8306, Heber Library No. 1360). It is on paper, dimensions  $11\frac{3}{8}$  inches by  $8\frac{1}{4}$  inches. The writing is in double columns in a small neat hand of the close of the fifteenth century with rubricated initials; the English words are underlined with red. The Promptorium extends to p. 166. On the first column of p. 167 is written in red ink, "Explicit liber dictus Promptorius Parvulorum," &c. as in other MSS. and immediately after, "Brooke owyt yis Boke hose wyssly loke." The name of this former owner, "Joh'es Broke," occurs repeatedly, also "Thomas Wade," and, in a handwriting of later date (? xvii. sæc.), "Henry Sherbrooke." On the second or right-hand column of p. 167 commences the Latin-English Dictionary entitled "Medulla Grammaticæ," and written apparently by the same scribe as the Promptorium. It is imperfect in several parts,<sup>a</sup> and ends with the word "Ticio, onis, a brond of fyre," p. 342.<sup>b</sup> In this MS. y is used instead of þ. A few peculiarities in spelling deserve notice; for instance, almyhty, bryth, flyht, feythtyn, lyth, syth, ryth, nyth, instead of almyghty, bryght, &c.; qwat, qwyl, qhyp, qhyth, &c. for what, whyle, whyppe, &c. The verbs sometimes terminate in -ng, thus, "Betydyng, happyng."

In the present edition all various readings and additions obtained by collation of this MS. are indicated by the letter (H).

6. MS. in the British Museum, Addit. MS. 22,556, formerly in the library of the late Mr. S. W. Singer, and obtained by purchase in 1858.<sup>c</sup>

It is on parchment, 106 leaves, dimensions  $10\frac{3}{8}$  inches by  $7\frac{1}{4}$  inches. The writing is of the close of the fifteenth century, in double columns, the initial letters marked with a yellow stain instead of rubrication, as is not uncommonly seen in English MSS. of the fifteenth century. This is not shown in the fac-simile. This MS. is unfortunately imperfect; it commences with the word "Bowntevousnesse." Of many leaves only fragments remain, and it ends abruptly at "Tryin a truthe be doom," the concluding line being the first of the second column on the reverse of the leaf, as if the scribe had discontinued his task; and on the blank space of the lower part of the page are several scribblings: "Sum Johannis Saulfi" (twice); a hare; a quaint pen sketch of a pedagogue, possibly John Saulfi, holding an open book in his left hand, and in his right a short staff or palmer for the correction of his scholars; also a squirrel, and other performances of boyish penmanship. This MS. is of considerable interest. It was unfortunately unknown to me until a great portion of the present edition had been printed off.

The various readings and additions obtained by a partial collation of this MS. are indicated by the letter (A). It will be observed that the collation has been carried out in the later part of the volume only.

It is possible that a MS. formerly in the library of "Abraam Seller . . . viri antiquitatum ecclesiasticarum peritissimi," may have been an imperfect copy of the Promptorium. It is described as a folio volume, "3,774, Dictionarium Anglo-Latinum, in pergamen. ante annos 200 scriptum, ἀκέφαλον καὶ μείονρον." Catal. MSS. Angliæ, tom. ii. p. 96; published in 1697.*

Having thus described the existing MSS. which I have succeeded in discovering, I have now to notice the editions issued by Pynson, Wynkyn de Worde, and Julian Notary, all of these being of the greatest rarity.

what source the MS. had come into his hands; on the first leaf are the class marks of some former possessor—L. 6. 26, and W. 7. The early portion is in a fragmentary state, until fo. 6, beginning with the word Candelere, after which the continuity is broken at intervals, until the letter T.

* Abraam or Abednego Seller was a writer of some note on matters ecclesiastical in his day. His chief works are "Remarques relating to the State of the Church of the first centuries," Lond. 1680; "History of Passive Obedience since the Reformation," &c. Amst. 1689; "History of Self-Defence," &c. See Ant. Wood, Watt, and Lowndes. I have not succeeded in ascertaining what became of his library; some of his MSS. are in the library of the University of Cambridge.

The edition by Richard Pynson in 1499 is one of the most scarce productions of his press; probably, as Dibdin observes, he may have reprinted in subsequent years a volume which must have proved so extensively acceptable; no other impression of it, however, by that printer, who industriously prosecuted his art until 1529, is known to exist. The volume is a small folio of 115 leaves; there is no title page, the first page is blank, the prologue being on the reverse of the leaf. It commences thus :—

“¶ Incipit prologus in libellum qui dicitur promptorius puerorum.

Cernentibus sollicite clericorum condiciones,” . . . and concludes, . . . “pro me peccatore misericorditer intercedant dominum nostrum ihesum christum,” etc.

“¶ Explicit prologus.”

Sign. a. ii. “¶ Incipit liber quid dicitur Promptorium paruulorum siue clericorum.”

The signatures a and b have eight leaves each, the rest, to t inclusive, have only six. The book is printed in double columns; there are running titles or headings of the pages, “Nomina A—Verba A,” and so forth, throughout the alphabet, distinguishing nouns and other parts of speech from the verbs, respectively. On sign. t iii. there is the following colophon:—

“¶ Ad laudem et ad honorem omnipotentis dei et intemerate genitricis ejus. Finit excellentissimum opus exiguis magnisque scolasticis vtillissimum quod nuncupatur Medulla grammaticæ. Inpressum per egregium Richardum pynson, in expensis virtuosorum virorum Fredrici egmond et Petri post pascha. anno domini .M.CCCC. nonagesimo nono. Decima v<sup>a</sup> die mensis Maii.”

In this colophon, here printed with the contracted words in extenso, two points of interest claim attention; the first is the change of title, the libellus, described in the prologue as “Promptorius puerorum” being here called “Medulla grammaticæ;” the second is the mention of the patrons through whose encouragement the costs of Pynson’s undertaking were defrayed. By similar notices in other books from his press we know that he received the like favors from Margaret, mother of Henry VII., from the Earl of Kent and other patrons of literature. Frederic Egmond may have been of an ancient race of the name in the Netherlands. Dibdin seems to have assumed that “post pascha” was part of the date, whereas from the precision with which this is stated such can hardly be the case. He speaks of Frederic and Peter as if both were of the family of Egmond. (Typ. Ant. vol. ii. Prelim. Obs. p. vii.) We find about the time in question a distinguished person of that family, possibly the patron of Pynson, Frederic, son of William IV. Count of Egmond. In 1472 he received from his uncle the Duke of Gueldres the lordship of Buren; he was named governor of Utrecht by the Archduke Maximilian in 1492; two years later Buren was raised to a County in reward of his services; he died in 1500.<sup>a</sup> I have, however, sought in vain to trace a connection between this personage and England; we learn from Pontanus that he was educated at the University of Paris, and it may therefore be presumed that he retained some taste for literature. There was a Peter, an illegitimate brother of his father, who might have been living at that time; what was his surname does not appear. Had these persons, however, been Pynson's patrons on this occasion, the nobility of the former would surely have been in some way mentioned, instead of the word "virtuosi" being applied to both. It may be more probable that these patrons were either merchants or booksellers; in the latter case the work must have been printed for them as a trade speculation. Panzer, in his Annales Typographici, has perhaps somewhat too hastily placed the names of Frederic Egmond and Peter Post pascha in one of his lists of printers (that arranged by their Christian names), probably on the authority of this colophon, as no other mention of either is known in connection with typography except that, as I have been informed by Mr. Winter Jones, a Frederic de Egmont appears in the colophon of a Sarum missal printed at Venice in 1494, "jussu et impensis præstantissimorum virorum Friderici de Egmont ac Gerrardi Barrevelt: impressum per Joannem de Hertzog de Landoia." (Panzer, vol. iii. p. 358.) Mr. Winter Jones considers that the designations virtuosus, præstantissimus, and the like, do not indicate persons of high rank.

On the reverse of the last leaf is Pynson's device, No. 4, Herbert Typ. Ant., No. 5, Dibdin. A more minute account of this rare volume may be found in the Typographical Antiquities.<sup>a</sup> It was described by Herbert from a copy in Dr. Hunter's library at Glasgow. Five copies only have been seen by me; one of these, in the Althorp Library and pronounced "sound and desirable" by Dibdin, was made perfect, as he informs us, by the acquisition of two copies at the sale of the library of Mr. Lloyd of Wygfair in 1817; in the Public Library at Cambridge there is a good copy, in which I found the MS. note, before mentioned, "Autor hujus operis fuit Galfridus Grammaticus dictus frater Ordinis S. Dominici;"<sup>b</sup> a third, in fine condition, is in the Bodleian; the fourth, in the Royal Library in the British Museum, was in the possession of James West, President of the Royal Society;<sup>c</sup> at the sale of his library in 1773 it was purchased for George III. for 2*l.* 6*s.*;<sup>d</sup> the fifth is in the Grenville library.<sup>e</sup>

The numerous various readings and additions both of English and Latin words obtained from Pynson's edition are indicated by the initial (P).

Several editions of the Promptorium issued from the press of Wynkyn de Worde, in small quarto form; copies in fine condition are scarcely less rare than those printed by Pynson. Notices are to be found in bibliographical works of editions in 1510, 1512, 1516, 1518, 1519(?), 1522, and 1528;<sup>f</sup> of these I have been able to examine copies in a few instances

<sup>d</sup> At the beginning of this volume a leaf printed by Pynson is bound in, unnoticed by bibliographers; it is a formula of an indulgence granted by Julius II. and dated 1508, with a blank for the name of the person to whom it might be granted, and purports to be issued by the Archbishop of Canterbury and the Bishop of St. David's, the Pope's Commissaries general, to authorise the appointment, by the person for whose benefit it was intended, of a confessor, who might grant absolution of sins, with exception of some which are specified, including exportation of arms to the infidels and importation of alum from them. only; in those which I have seen I perceived no essential variations in the text. A copy of that of 1516, formerly in Heber's library and obtained by Sir Frederic Madden in 1836, has been, among many kindnesses which I have received at his hands, entrusted for my use throughout the preparation of this volume.<sup>a</sup> Occasionally the Latin-English dictionary, Ortus Vocabulorum, printed by the same printer and in the like form, is found bound up with the Promptorium for the convenience of students. Dibdin remarks that Wynkyn de Worde's Promptuarium Parvulorum was an abridgment of the dictionary of which the editio princeps had issued from Pynson's press with the title "Promptorius puerorum"; the omissions are principally, however, of some portions of the Latin explanations, and of references to authorities, whilst occasionally English synonyms, &c. are added in the smaller volume. The variations in the title may be without any material significance. The following brief description of this rare book will here suffice.<sup>b</sup>

The volume consists of 69 leaves, sign. A. ij. to M. iij.; it is printed in double columns, with running titles distinguishing the Nomina from the Verba, as in Pynson's edition.

Title.—"Promptuarium parvulorum clericorum: quod apud nos Medulla grammaticæ appellatur. Scolasticis quam maxime necessarium. Impressum Londoniis per wynandum de worde hac in vrbe in parochia sancte Brigide (in the fletestrete) ad signum solis commorantem." On the title is introduced the well-known wood-cut device used by Wynkyn de Worde, in 4. de 70 ff., réimpr. en 1522 et en 1528." I am not aware on what authority this mention of any edition without date is made. The Ortus Vocabulorum having been printed by W. de Worde in 1500, as hereafter noticed, it may be supposed that he likewise produced an edition of the Promptorium about the same period as a convenient accompaniment. None has been found earlier than the edition of 1510, which is described by Dibdin as the first from that press. He mentions a fine copy in the late Mr. Roger Wilbraham's library.

<sup>a</sup> This copy is in old brown calf, and in good condition; the Ortus Vocabulorum, edit. 1518, precedes the Promptorium. The name "Myles Blomefylde of Bury St. Edmund" is written several times on the title pages. "Myles Blomefylde owe this booke," &c. Another copy of the Promptorium, edit. 1516, is in the Grenville Library in the British Museum, and also one of edit. 1528. A fine clean copy of edit. 1516 is in the Public Library at Cambridge; another is in the Bodleian, Tanner Coll. No. 271.

composed of the sun and stars, and the initials W C (William Caxton) with interlaced Arabic numerals 74; at the bottom are a greyhound, sagittarius, and the name "Wynkyn de Worde" on a scroll. On the reverse—"¶ Incipit prologus in libellum qui dicitur promptuarium.—Cernentibus sollicite clericorum," &c. as in Pynson's edition before described, and also, a few various readings excepted, in the MSS.; see p. 1, infra. On the second leaf, sign. A. ij., commence "Nomina A.—¶ Incipit liber qui dicitur Promptuarium paruulorum siue clericorum." On the last leaf, recto, we find, after the verbs commencing with Y, a note and two distiches relating to the conjugations of verbs, to which immediately succeed a notice "Ad lectorum.—¶ And yf ye can not fynde a laten worde," &c. as given p. 540, infra, and the colophon "¶ Ad laudem et honorem omnipotentis dei et intemerate genitricis eius finit excellentissimum opus scolasticis anglie quam maxime necessarium. quod merito medulla grammatices apud nos vel paruulorum promptuarium nuncupatur. Impressum Londoniis per wynandum de worde in vico anglie (the flete strete) appellato sub solis intersignio commorantem. Anno domini m.cccc.xvi. die vero v. mensis Septembris."*

Besides the numerous editions by Wynkyn de Worde in small quarto the Promptorium was printed in 1508 by Julian Notary in the same conveniently portable form, suited for the requirements of students. A single copy is known; it is preserved in the library of the late Right Hon. Thomas Grenville, now in the British Museum.<sup>b</sup> I cannot refrain from grateful acknowledgment of his liberal courtesy in entrusting to me this and also other precious volumes, from which I have derived no slight advantage. This edition is mentioned by Ames, but Mr. Grenville observed, adverting to the volume in his own possession, "I do not get trace of any other copy of it." The volume consists of 78 leaves. The text appears to follow that given by Wynkyn de Worde; the pages are printed in double columns, sign.

* It may deserve mention that the verbs are mostly printed with the termination yn or en; in a few instances, however, with a final e, as "agyne, seneo; seyne, dico; atachyne," &c. or ynge, as "pargettynge walles, gipso; poyntyng, or portrayen, pingo;" and not unfrequently the peculiar form of the A.-Saxon gerundial infinitive, followed in the MSS. of the Promptarium (see p. xlviii., infra) is laid aside; for instance we find in W. de Worde's edition "amende, bende bowes, consent," &c. The words written in the MSS. with ȝ, and so printed by Pynson, are printed with y.

a ii. to n iii. On the title f. 1, "Promptorium paruulorum clericorum," &c. as in W. de Worde's edition before described, a woodcut is introduced portraying the author seated at a desk. On the reverse is the prologue, "Cernentibus," &c. On f. 2 commence the "Nomina A.—Incipit liber qui dicitur Promptorium paruulorum sive clericorum." At the end is the colophon, "Ad tandem, &c. Impressum per egregium Julianum notarium Impressorem commorantem extra temple barre sub Intersignio Sanctorum trium regum, &c. Anno domini millesimo CCCCC.Octauo xii. die Augusti." On the reverse is a woodcut measuring  $5\frac{1}{2}$  inches by 3 inches, being the device of the printer, a tree to which is appended a helm and an escutcheon charged with Julian's mark and initials. Around the tree are animals, birds, a butterfly, &c.\*

A few various readings obtained from the editions by Wynkyn de Worde and Julian Notary are indicated in the present work by the initials (W) and (J) respectively.

I have now described, with minuteness of detail which, I fear, some may regard as tedious, all the MSS. and printed texts of the Promptorium known to me; and these have been collated in the preparation of the present edition. On a former occasion I stated the grounds of preference which influenced me in selecting the Harleian MS. 221 as the groundwork and text of the present edition, and I pointed out that all additions are distinguished from the text by being placed within brackets with the authority for their introduction, each word or various reading being followed by an initial indicating the source whence it is derived.

The contractions have been printed in extenso, with a few exceptions where any doubt could arise; thus the letter h is found with the transverse stroke usually indicating an e, but accompanied also by that letter, as for instance, in the words "dethe, tetchie." Although probably redundant, or merely an accidental error, the contraction has been printed as in the MS. The chief difficulty has however arisen from the frequent use of  $\bar{m}$  and  $\bar{n}$ , the latter especially in the verbs, with a prolongation of the last stroke of the letter in each instance. It should be observed, that in early typography these letters are not uncommonly found with the like peculiarity; it is believed that, occasionally, in writing of the fifteenth century this elongated minim may denote a mute final e, and, accordingly, it has been thus indicated— $m'$ ,  $n'$ , or  $\bar{m}'$ ,  $\bar{n}'$ , leaving the decision in questionable cases to those who may take interest in analysing the unsettled orthography of the period. Whilst, however, there can be little doubt that these terminal contractions have the power of mme, or nne, respectively, the anomalies which occur have induced me to retain them, and especially on account of the peculiarity in the verbs, which here claims notice.

It is worthy of remark that, though the verbs in the infinitive mood at the time when this work was compiled were in general no longer written with the final "n" of the Anglo-Saxon infinitive, they are here found ending in "yn, y $\bar{n}$ , y $\bar{n}'$ , yng, en, e $\bar{n}$ , e $\bar{n}'$ , on,  $\bar{o}ne$ , in." Those in "yn, en, on, and in" may possibly represent the Anglo-Saxon infinitive in "an;" but those in "y $\bar{n}$ , y $\bar{n}'$ , yn', yng, e $\bar{n}$ , e $\bar{n}'$ ,  $\bar{o}ne$ ," should seem to represent the Anglo-Saxon gerundial infinitive in "anne" or "enne." On this subject the following observations of Professor Bain may not be deemed out of place:—

"In Anglo-Saxon the infinitive was formed by a suffix, and had cases like a noun. Nom. and acc. 'writ-an,' to write; dat. 'to writ-ann-e,' for writing. This last case had the meaning of purpose, and corresponded to what is now called the gerund. The simple form 'writ-an' was the same as our infinitive. When the case-endings, 'an,' 'anne,' were lost, the sign 'to' remained, and, not only so, but was erroneously prefixed to the other cases of the infinitive, instead of being confined to the dative or gerund case. By this mistake we have the same form for both applications.

"Farther, the form 'writ-an' changed in another direction. The termination 'an' became first 'en' and then 'ing,' thus producing the form 'writing' as an infinitive form, which explains our having an infinitive and a gerund in 'ing.' This change seems to have been facilitated by the existence of a class of abstract nouns in 'ing' (Anglo-Saxon ung), which by their nature are nearly allied to the infinitive.

"To increase the confusion still farther, the imperfect participle originally ending in 'ende,' 'ande,'—' writende,'—became a form in 'ing.' Thus the same ending in English represents four different verbal endings in Anglo-Saxon: the infinitive, the infinitive of purpose (gerund), the verbal noun, and the participle." <sup>a</sup>

It will be seen that, although the letter þ should seem to have been fully recognised, and it takes in the alphabetical arrangement the penultimate place assigned to it in the Anglo-Saxon alphabet, yet not unfrequently, through inadvertence or transitional orthography, the scribe has written 'th,' whilst in other words the proper character is represented, as it was generally in the following century, by a y. Thus we find "Blo eryl, p. 40; Erye, or erthe; Eryyn, or of the erthe," p. 141 infra, and the like.<sup>b</sup>

It has been suggested that a list of the principal MSS. and printed authorities, mediæval vocabularies, glossarial and grammatical compilations, with many rare works which throw light on the language of the period, would prove acceptable. The enumeration here appended includes chiefly MSS. and printed works of reference from which I have drawn materials for the notes. With these will be found, however, some not thus cited, but which are of essential interest to the student of the English literature and archaisms of the fifteenth and the sixteenth centuries.

APPENDIX.

NOTICES OF GLOSSARIES, VOCABULARIES, AND OTHER WORKS ILLUSTRATIVE OF THE ENGLISH LANGUAGE AND OF MEDIEVAL LATINITY, AND USED, FOR THE MOST PART, IN THIS EDITION OF THE PROMPTORIUM.

I. MEDULLA GRAMMATICÆ OR GRAMMATICES.—This is the earliest Latin-English Dictionary known to me, and it is supposed to have been compiled by the author of the Promptorium. On this account, and also in consideration of its value to the student of the language of the period, I have thought it desirable to give a somewhat detailed description of the MSS. that I have been able to discover, all of them being of the later half of the fifteenth century, and including those in which, as previously stated, very great modifications of the text will be found, although, as on careful examination I have been led to suppose, they are substantially identical with the Medulla and may properly be classed with it. See p. xxii.

1. I have not met with any copy of earlier date than a MS. in my own possession, obtained about 1841 from the late Mr. Rodd. It is a small folio, containing 116 leaves of parchment, written in double columns very legibly by two different hands; the initials are rubricated. There is a prologue commencing thus:—"Hec est regula generalis pro toto libro. Omnia nomina, verbalia, et participia habent significationem verborum a quibus descendunt secundum eorum formam et analogiam, &c.—Fructum grammatice pueris do sub brevitatē. Incipit liber intitulus Medulla grammatice." The dictionary then begins with—"Alma .i. virgo abscondita vel absconsio virginitatis," and concludes—"Zonigogo, as, to gyrd vp.—Explicit Medulla Grammatice." The date of this MS., which is in excellent preservation and in the original wooden boards covered with leather, may be about 1460.*

* On the first of three leaves of parchment bound in at the beginning is written, in a hand contemporary with the MS., "Brother Wylliam Barker I pray you lett thys booke be bounde at the vtmoste by myddyll lent and my brother shalle pay for the byndynge;"

2. MS. in the Library of the Dean and Chapter of Canterbury, shelf-mark D. 2; it was entrusted to me by their kind permission through the request of Sir Henry Ellis, to whom I acknowledge with pleasure my frequent obligations. It is written on paper in a small clear hand, in double columns, with initials in blue and red; the English words also are in red. It begins with the short prologue above noticed, but, part of the leaf being torn away, the first lines are mutilated; this prologue ends thus—"Et sic propter vocabulorum copiam liber iste Medulla grammatice intitulatur." This MS. is in the original stamped binding with boards, probably of oak; it is doubtless the same which occurs in the list of MSS. at Canterbury Cathedral about 1697, as "Dictionarium dictum Medulla Grammaticæ." This venerable relic of fifteenth-century learning has been regarded with special interest on account of the addition of numerous Anglo-Saxon words, as supposed, by Somner; the MS. of whose Anglo-Saxon Dictionary is in the Canterbury Library. From the manner, however, in which the Anglo-Saxon words are given, it may be inferred that they were, at least in part, taken from some Vocabulary in Somner's possession not his own compilation. The English portion is full, and contains curious archaisms, including a considerable proportion of words noticeable as retained in North-country dialects.<sup>b</sup>

3. Harl. MS. 1000. An imperfect copy, ending with the words "Stamen est filum tele or warpe." On paper; written in a neat hand; late fifteenth century; with rubrications.

4. Harl. MS. 1738. The Medulla in a very abridged form, in a clear on the reverse is rudely sketched with the pen Our Lord rising from the Sepulchre. On the third leaf, v<sup>o</sup>. are two short Latin poems in hexameters, the first beginning thus: "Siccine tam crebris frustra commentibus anglos;" the second: "Convenient gallos crebris conventibus angli." At the end: "Thys ys Rychard . . . ys boke." It may deserve mention that after certain words of ill omen the sign of the cross is found, thus: Diabolus, the deucl. ✕ Demon, the deucl. ✕ Dis, the deucl. ✕ Comicius, the fallinge eucl. ✕ Epilencia, the fallinge eucl. ✕ Febricito, to haue the feuerus. ✕ Genetarius, that vseth hore hous. ✕ I have noticed occasionally a similar practice in other MSS. of the period.

legible hand, on parchment and paper mixed; imperfect. At the beginning is the prologue, "Hec est regula," as above; at the end, "Explicit Medulla Grammaticæ." Late fifteenth century.

5. Harl. MS. 2181. Another copy in abridged form, carelessly written on parchment; late fifteenth century.

6. Harl. MS. 2257. A neatly written MS. The text seems to resemble that of the Ortus Vocabulorum, but it contains much that is not found in that book, nor in the Medulla in its ordinary form; possibly an abridgement of this dictionary. This is perhaps the most valuable MS. of its kind in the British Museum, but it is unfortunately imperfect. It commences with the word "Boletus est genus fungi," and ends with "Zona."

7. Harl. MS. 2270. Attributed in Catal. Harl. MSS. vol. ii. p. 635, to Galfridus Grammaticus, and on the first leaf is written, but not by a contemporary hand,—"Medulla Grammaticæ Galfridi." On paper; beginning "Hec est regula generalis," &c. The first word in the dictionary is "Alma;" the last is "Zozimus . . . Explicit Medulla Grammaticæ Noviter."

8. Harl. MS. 6514. Imperfect; the explanations in Latin are given more fully than in some other copies.

9. Add. MS. in Brit. Mus. 24,640. This copy, in small folio, written on parchment, is unfortunately imperfect at the beginning and the end.* It is otherwise in fine condition, written in a neat legible hand; probably not much later than the middle of the fifteenth century. There are plain rubricated initial letters; and some marginal additions occur which seem to be by a nearly contemporary hand. It begins with the word "Abhominarium," and the concluding word is "Hec mantica, a male." It was purchased from Mr. J. O. Halliwell in May, 1862, and, as stated in a note written by his hand, it had been presented to him by Mr. Hunt of Stratford-on-Avon.<sup>b</sup>

* On the fly-leaf at the end there is the following verse:—

Anno Milleno quadringentesimo trino
Bellum Salopie fuit in Mag. nocte marie.

The fatal battle of Shrewsbury was fought on July 23, 1403; the festival of St. Mary Magdalene here referred to being July 22.

<sup>b</sup> The entry by Mr. Halliwell is as follows: "This MS. was given to me by Mr. W. O. Hunt of Stratford on Avon, April 23 (Shakespeare's birthday) 1862. I accepted it on the condition that I was to be at liberty to sell it, adding the proceeds to the Shakespeare fund.—J. O. H."

10. MS. in the Library of St. John's College, Cambridge, thus described in the Catalogue by the Rev. Morgan Cowie published by the Cambridge Antiquarian Society, 1842, 4to. p. 30:—"C. 22. Medulla Grammatices, 4to. MS. vellum and paper, principally the latter; with date in the same writing as the MS. 1468. It has the name 'William Jenour,' but this seems to be the name of the owner. It is a Latin Dictionary; the explanation of the words in Latin." This is one of the MSS. presented to the college by Thomas Earl of Southampton; it is stated that they were purchased from Mr. William Crashawe, brother of the poet, a fellow of St. John's admitted 1593.

11. MS. in the Pepysian Library, Cambridge, erroneously described amongst Pepys' MSS., Catal. MSS. Angliæ, tom. ii. p. 209, as "Dictionarium Anglo-Lat. written about A.D. 1450, fol." It is, however, a Latin-English Dictionary, apparently a variety of the Medulla.

12. MS. in the Library at Lincoln Cathedral, written on parchment in double columns with numerous marginal additions. It consists of 146 pages. At the end is written, "Explicit Medulla Grammaticæ." A Latin-English vocabulary of 79 pages and three other works are bound up in the volume, the last of these being a "Liber Hymnorum" attributed to Galfridus, the author of the Promptorium. On a fly-leaf at the beginning is written "Gabridus (sic for Galfridus) Grammaticus author Anglus vixit circa A D. 1490." This MS. has been cited by Bishop Tanner, Bibl. Brit. Hib. p. 305, as an English-Latin Dictionary, namely the "Promptuarium," of which he mentions the MS. in Sir Symonds d'Ewes' library (now Harl. MS. 221), and the edition by Pynson 1499. By the courtesy of the Rev. G. F. Apthorp I have been enabled to ascertain the real description of this volume, which is in good preservation.<sup>a</sup> The shelf-mark was formerly H 35, altered in 1858, when the library was rearranged, to A 3, 15.<sup>b</sup>

<sup>b</sup> Sir Frederic Madden has pointed out Bishop Tanner's original notes regarding the Lincoln MSS., as given in his voluminous collections now in the British Museum, and occurring in Add. MS. 6261, ff. 143, 171. As before mentioned, I have little doubt that the slight error in the learned Bishop's account of the MS. above described may have arisen from the title of "Medulla" being occasionally given to the Promptorium in the printed editions.

13. MS. in the possession of Sir Thomas Phillipps, Bart. No. 8244, formerly in Heber's library, No. 1020; imperfect, on paper. It contains many English words; the last word is "Vespilio."

14. MS. in the same collection as the last. No. 8306. Bound up with a transcript of the Promptorium described p. xl. supra. The two dictionaries appear to have been written by the same hand. The Medulla begins on p. 167. It is imperfect in several parts, and ends with "Ticio, a brond of fyre," p. 342. On paper. From Heber's library, No. 1360.

15. MS. in the Library of King Edward's Grammar School at Shrewsbury. "Incipit liber intitulatus Medulla gramatice, v' Fructum gramatice qu' medullam de breuitate." The shelf mark is X. 29.

16. MS. in the library of the Earl of Leicester at Holkham, Norfolk. It is cited by Sir Frederic Madden in his glossary to Havelok, edited by him for the Roxburghe Club in 1828, as a Latin-English vocabulary of the middle of the fifteenth century, and substantially the same as the Ortus Vocabulorum.<sup>a</sup> Chiefly on paper, partly on vellum. Its resemblance to the Medulla appears by extracts, for which I am indebted to the Rev. R. Collyer, Hon. Canon of Norwich.

17. In the enumeration "Librorum MSS. Henrici Worseley de Hospitio Lincolniensi apud Londinium," c. 1697, occurs "No. 6914.66; Medulla Grammaticæ sive Dictionarium Latino-Anglicum." Catal. MSS. Angliæ, tom. ii. p. 213. I have not been able to trace where this copy may now be preserved.<sup>b</sup>

II. Ortus Vocabulorum.—The first Latin-English Dictionary printed in this country; in great measure, as it would appear, based upon the Medulla

<sup>a</sup> The name of "Sire John Mendames," parson of "Bromenstroppe" (Brunsthorpe) occurring in this MS., has been supposed to be that of the writer, but it is more probably the name of a former owner of the book. In the list of incumbents of Brunsthorpe John Mendham occurs. He was collated in 1529, and resigned the preferment in 1532. Blomefield's Hist. of Norf. vol. vii. p. 7.

<sup>b</sup> There existed formerly a MS. in the Chapter Library at Exeter Cathedral, thus noticed in the brief catalogue given in Catal. MSS. Angliæ, tom. ii. p. 55. "Dictionarium seu Glossarium Latinum, mutilum." This MS. which, from information formerly received, I had hoped might prove to be a copy of the Medulla, is not to be found, as I am assured by Mr. Charles Tucker, after careful search in the depositories of the Chapter. It is not mentioned in the short enumeration of MSS. at Exeter in 1752. See Dr. Oliver's Lives of the Bishops of Exeter, App. p. 376.

Grammaticæ last described, but with considerable modifications and additions from other sources. Although comparatively of more frequent occurrence than the Promptorium, it is a book of great rarity. The earliest edition hitherto noticed is that printed in 1500 by Wynkyn de Worde in small folio, ranging with the editio princeps of the Promptorium issued from the press of Pynson in the previous year. It is indeed probable that it may have been intended to supply an accompaniment to that Dictionary. This rare editio princeps of the Ortus has not been carefully described; the imperfect mention by Dibdin would lead us to suppose that, having never examined a copy, he had relied on the brief notice by Herbert chiefly derived from the Harleian Catalogue, in which two copies are enumerated, Nos. 5213, 5304; I have been unable to ascertain where these may now be found.<sup>a</sup> There is, however, a copy of this first edition among the books, chiefly MSS., bequeathed by Junius to the Bodleian; it is thus described in Tanner's Catalogue of that precious lexicographical collection.—“Hortus Vocabulorum, Impr. Lond. 1500, per Wynkyn de Worde, interspersis Cl. Junii notis.” Catal. MSS. Angliæ, t. i. p. 251. The following description has been taken from a fine copy of this edition in the British Museum, in the Grenville Library.

Fo. 1 recto.—“¶ Ortus. Vocabulorum”—the lower portion of the page being blank.

Fo. 1 verso.—“¶ Prologus in librum qui ortus vocabulorum dicitur feliciter incipit.”

“Ut etenim multos (nostre precipue nationis anglicos: qui igitur quam procul a latio vbi roma est in orbis angulo sumus constituti dicimur) bonarum artium studiosos ex latinarum dictionum difficultate illarum significationum se inscios censentes non solum magno tedio affici: verum studia ex quibus summos magistratus emolumentum vtique maximum adipiscerentur paruifacere intellexerim: multorum rogacionibus ad hoc exile opus diuersis ex auctoribus collectum vigilanterque correctum imprimendum sum coactus quem propterea quod in eo fructuum copia reperiri possit ortum vocabulorum appellari decreuimus: omnes igitur, . . .” Ending—“p. primam conjugationem. s. secundam. t. tertiam. q. quartam significat.”

<sup>a</sup> Herbert, Typ. Ant., vol. i. p. 136, Dibdin, vol. ii. p. 88. It is described by the last-named author as in quarto, like the subsequent editions by W. de Worde, instead of folio.

The dictionary commences on fo. 2, in two columns, sign. A ij. to QQ iijj., preceded by the leaf forming the title. The whole work consists of 266 leaves, measuring  $10\frac{3}{4}$  by  $7\frac{1}{4}$  inches. There are running headings—"A ante B" and so forth; each of the first six pages has also at the top, in the middle of the page, the word "Vocabulorum," and the six following have "Ortus" (twice printed "Oortus"); after these, this heading is discontinued.

On fo. 266 recto, the dictionary concludes in the second column with the word "Zucara re. quedam species. anglice sugere;" after which is the following colophon:—

"Adest iste studiosissime lector opusculi finis quod non minus preceptoribus vt vocabulorum significaciones memorie commendat quam scolasticis ceterisque studiosis eas ignorantibus conducet. omnium enim vocabulorum significaciones (sic) que in Catholicon Breuiloquo<sup>a</sup> Cornucopia<sup>b</sup> aut Melulla grammaticæ ponuntur continet. quum igitur summa diligentia sit collectum vigilantique studio correctum vt magis in lucem prodiret ipsum a viris studiosis comparandum esse constat. Per virum laudabilem ciuem providum magistrum Winandum de worde prope celeberrimum monasterium quod Westmynstre appellatur. Anno incarnationis dominice. m.ccccc. impressum."

Under this colophon there is a small woodcut of the device of Wynkyn de Worde, being that given among the devices of that printer, with the initials of Caxton and the Arabic numerals 74, Dibd. Typ. Ant., vol. ii. p. 30, No. 11.<sup>c</sup> This cut measures  $1\frac{3}{4}$  inch by  $1\frac{1}{4}$  inch.

Mr. Grenville's note in this choice volume is as follows: "This first edition is so rare that it was sold to me as a unique copy, but, according to Dibdin's Typog. Antiq. the Harleian Catalogue specifies two copies. I have never seen or heard where they are to be found."<sup>d</sup>

<sup>c</sup> It may be remarked that the woodcut in the rare volume above described has the background, not black as in Dibdin's fac-similes, but speckled with white dots. It measures  $1\frac{3}{4}$  by  $1\frac{1}{4}$  inch.

<sup>d</sup> There was an imperfect copy of this edition in Mr. Roger Wilbraham's library; the first and the last leaf, however, being lost. Dibdin, who seems, as previously observed,

The text in this editio princeps varies considerably from that of the later editions which I have seen. In some instances, errors of the press seem to have been corrected; in others, the earlier edition is more accurate than the later, and a large number of hexameter lines illustrating the meaning of Latin words, here introduced with the heading "Versus," are not found in subsequent editions; these reprints do not appear in other respects to have undergone any material abridgment.

The edition printed by Pynson in 1509, is not less rare than that of 1500 by W. de Worde. The following description has been taken from a copy in the King's Library in the British Museum. It was in Herbert's collection in 1773. It is a small 4to. measuring  $7\frac{3}{8}$  by 5; Sign. 3 iii. is wanting. Fo. 1. Title partly printed in red.

never to have seen the edition of 1500 (in perfect state), supposed that this book had been printed by W. de Worde about the close of the fifteenth century, and that it might be the editio princeps of the Ortus, ranging with Pynson's folio Promptorium. In its present state this copy consists of 264 leaves, measuring 10 inches by  $7\frac{1}{4}$  inches; it commences with Sign. A. ii.—"A est nomen prime littere," and ends, "Zintala,...i. parva musca, eulex, f. p.," on the leaf following Sign. QQ. iiiii. Dibdin recognised the type as the earliest used by W. de Worde and discontinued about 1510. This book was presumed to be unique.

This title is printed in black and red, the latter being here indicated by Italics, and in a singular fashion described by Herbert as “the form of a jelly glass;” the heading “Ortus vocabulorum” is a long narrow woodcut of the full width of the page, and printed in red, the letters being white.

On the last leaf, recto, is the following colophon :—

Verso, woodcut device of Pynson, with his monogram on an escutcheon ensigned with a helm and crest.<sup>a</sup>

Of subsequent editions by Wynkyn de Worde in small 4to., ranging as before observed with those of the Promptorium issued from the same press, and doubtless intended to be bound up with them, I may describe that of 1514 as an example.

The title, fo. 1, recto, is as follows:—

“¶ Ortus vocabulorum Alphabetico ordine fere omnia que in Catholicon, Breuiloquo, Cornucopia, Gemma vocabulorum, atque Medulla grammaticæ ponuntur, cum perpuleris additionibus Asceñ.<sup>b</sup> et vernacule Anglicane expositionem continens. Londini impressus per wynandum de worde, ac in vrbe in parrochia Sancte Brigide (in the fletestrete) ad signum solis moram trahentem.” In the lower part of the page is the device of the printer, with the initials of Caxton and interlaced numerals 74. On fo. 1, verso, we find the prologue given above—“ Ut etenim multos,” &c.

On the last leaf, verso, is the following colophon:—

¶ Finis.

“¶ Adest studiosissimi lectores opusculi finis:....” (as in edit. of 1500) “omnium enim vocabulorum significationes que in Catholicon, Breuiloquo, Cornucopia, Gemma vocabulorum, aut Medulla grammaticæ ponuntur continet.... Impressum Londoñ. per wynandum de worde commorantem in vico nuncupato (the fletestrete) sub intersignio Solis. Anno incarnationis Dominice. m.ccccc.xiiii. die vero. xv. Februarii.”

The dictionary is printed in double columns; sign. A. 11 to LL. iij.; the leaves measure nearly  $7\frac{1}{4}$  by  $5\frac{1}{8}$  inches.

<sup>a</sup> The rarity of these early books is so great, that a few examples of variations in the text may be acceptable. In edit. 1500 I find—“ Abamita est soror aui (angl' my fathers aunte;” in edit. 1509...“ an aunte.” Edit. 1500, “ Ciniflo, qui flat in cinere, vel qui preparat puluerem muliebrem, (angl. aske fyste, a fyre blawer or a yrne hotter)” edit. 1500; edit. 1509, “ askye fyster, a fyre blawer, or a yren heter.” Edit. 1500, “ Colonia, a stypell, vel nomen proprium ciuitatis vel regionis;” edit. 1509,...“ id est proprium nomen...colen.” Edit. 1500, “ Dinodacio...a lawsynge;” edit. 1509...“ a lousynge.” Edit. 1500, “ Fena (sic)...quedam bestia valde timida scilicet cerua, (anglice, a shoo harte)” edit. 1509, “ Felena...a she harte,” &c.

<sup>b</sup> This reference to additions from the works of the eminent scholar, Ascensius, father-in-law of Robert Stephens, does not occur in the title in either of the previous editions, and it is not found in that of 1518.

Besides the editions issued from the press of Wynkyn de Worde, two printed in France, and not mentioned by Dibdin or other bibliographers, remain to be noticed. The first of these was printed for Jaques Cousin, of Rouen, in 1520. The only copy known to me is in the Grenville Library in the British Museum. In dimensions and general arrangement, the book closely resembles the small quartos by W. de Worde; on the first leaf is introduced a woodcut of the arms of the city of Rouen, the escutcheon is supported by two rams, and over it on a scroll is the motto "In te iesu spes mea." On the field of the escutcheon appear the printer's initials, and under it is a scroll inscribed "Jaques: cousin." The title is as follows, printed at the head of the page, over the woodcut:—

"¶ Ortus vocabulorum Alphabetico ordine fere omnia que in Catholico. Breuiloquio. Cornucopia. Gemma vocabulorum atque Medulla grammaticæ ponuntur, cum vernacule lingue Anglicanæ expositione continens: nouiter Impressus Anno salutis vicesimo supra millesimum et quingentesimum. Die vero vicesima septima mensis Junii."

On the reverse of the leaf is found the "Prologus," as before. The dictionary is printed in double columns, Sign. A. ii. to LL. iii. On the reverse of the last leaf is the colophon:—

"Adest studiosissimi . . . . Quum igitur summa diligentia sit collectum vigilantique studio correctum: vt maius in lucem prodiret: ipsum a viris studiosis comparandum esse constat. Impressum. Per Magistrum Petrum Oliuier optimis caracteribus. Anno salutis christiane vigesimo supra millesimum et quingentesimum Die vero quinta mensis Octobris."<sup>a</sup>

Dimensions, 7½ inches by 5 inches. Mr. Grenville observed that this edition is not mentioned by Panzer, Maittaire, or in any work which he had seen.

The second edition, to which allusion has been made as produced on the continent, was likewise printed at Rouen, at the joint costs of a bookseller of that city and of another, John Gachet, "mercatoris librarii," as he is elsewhere designated, and who appears to have carried on his trade at <sup>a</sup> A missal of Salisbury use is mentioned in Ames' Typ. Ant. by Herbert, printed at Rouen in 1521 by Peter Oliver for Jaques Cousin. I am unable to account for the discrepancy in date which may be noticed in the colophon as compared with the title, unless we may suppose that the printing commenced on June 27, and that nearly four months were required for its completion.

Hereford possibly, and at York.<sup>a</sup> A single copy has been noticed, which came in 1862 from the Hengwrt library, Merionethshire, into the possession of Mr. Kerslake, of Bristol, to whom I am indebted for permission to examine this valuable book.<sup>b</sup> The title commences as before given, and it concludes thus : — “Impressum Rothomagi per Eustachium Hardy. Impensis honestorum virorum Johannis Caillard librarii Rothomagi moram trahentis, et Johannis Gachet Herfordensis commorantis Anno incarnationis dominice Millesimo quingentesimo decimoseptimo incipit feliciter.” A small woodcut of the Annunciation is introduced at the bottom of the page. In the colophon is likewise found the date 1517, “die vero penultima mensis Maii.” On the last page there is a large woodcut of St. George and the arms of England. This unique volume is in the original stamped binding, probably English ; on one of the sides are figures of St. John the Evangelist, St. Barbara, St. Catharine, and St. Nicholas. The following names of former possessors occur,—“Thomas Heapey, — Thomas Keteylby owith this booke. — Iste liber pertinet ad Thomam Ketylby.” After the colophon there are woodcuts of the Greek letters, strangely formed, with the heading, “Sequitur figura alphabeti greci.” The book is well printed and in fine condition ; sign. A iii. to T T ii. ; dimensions 7  $\frac{5}{8}$  inches by 5  $\frac{3}{8}$ . The text appears to follow that of the editions by Wynkyn de Worde, and it is of the same small quarto form as that of so many grammatical works from his press.

<sup>a</sup> John Gachet appears to have been established in 1516 at York ; he there pursued his calling near the Minster. Herbert possessed a copy of a folio edition of the York Missal with the following title : — “Missale ad usum celeberrime ecclesie Eboracensis, optimis characteribus recenter Impressum, cura peruigili maximaque lucubratione, mendis quam pluribus emendatum. Sumptibus et expensis Johannis Gachet, mercatoris librarii bene meriti, juxta prefatam ecclesiam commorantis anno domini decimo sexto supra millesimum et quingentesimum. Die vero quinta Februarii completum atque perfectum.” Ames’ Typ. Ant. by Herbert, vol. iii. p. 1437 ; Maittaire, Ann. Typ., Index, vol. i. p. 74. Herbert notices also (p. 1438) a Breviary of York use, “in preclara Parrhisiensi academia in edibus videlicet Francisci Regnault impressum, ac expensis honesti viri Joannis Gascheti, in predicta Eboracensi civitate commorantis,” 1526 ; and a York Processional printed “Impensis Johannis Gachet, librarii Ebor. 1530.” See Gough’s Brit. Top. vol. ii. p. 425.

<sup>b</sup> Within the cover is pasted a book-label — “R. Wmes Vaughan, Hengwrt,” — being that of Sir Robert Williams Vaughan, Bart., of Nanney, co. Merioneth, who died in 1859. His valuable collection of MSS. has come into the possession of W. W. E. Wynne, Esq. M.P. of Peniarth.

Having described the various editions of the Ortus Vocabulorum, a compilation which may be placed amongst the most rare and instructive books of its class and period in any country, it may suffice to notice briefly the grammatical and lexicographical treatises from which materials for the work were obtained. I have already pointed out that considerable assistance may have been derived from the dictionary, precisely analogous in character, attributed by Bale and other writers to the author of the Promptorium, namely the "Medulla Grammaticæ," to which the compiler in the Prologue of the Ortus acknowledges his obligations. We here find likewise enumerated the "Catholicon," of which some notice has been previously given (see p. xxiii. ante); a compendium also of that voluminous work entitled "Breviloquus" or "Vocabularius Breviloquus," attributed to Guarinus, probably the learned grammarian of Verona, at the close of the fourteenth century;<sup>a</sup> the "Cornucopia" by Nicolas Perotti;<sup>b</sup> and the "Gemma Vocabulorum," a dictionary which appears, by the number of editions printed at Antwerp, the Hague, Strasburgh, and elsewhere, to have been highly esteemed.<sup>c</sup> On comparison of a copy of a Latin-German dictionary in my own possession, printed at Strasburgh, 1508, and entitled "Vocabularius Gemma gemmarum," I find its contents for the most part identical with those of the Ortus, with the exception that English words are

<sup>b</sup> Du Cange, ut supra, § 52. The "Cornucopia, sive lingue Latine commentarii," was frequently printed; the first edition being that given at Venice in 1489.

<sup>c</sup> Du Cange, præf. § 51, notices the Gemma Vocabulorum published at Deventer in 1502, or, according to Maittaire, Ann. Typ., t. i. p. 728, in 1500. There may, however, have been more than one such work, somewhat similar in title and not readily to be distinguished. Among MSS. bequeathed by Junius to the Bodleian occurs—"Gemma Gemmarum, Dictionarium Latino-Germanicum." Catal. MSS. Angl., t. i. p. 252. We find the "Vocabularius optimus Gemma Vocabulorum dictus; editio aucta sub titulo Gemma Gemmarum;" Argent. 1505, and also an edition printed at the same place in 1518, "Dictionarium quod Gemma Gemmarum vocant," &c. but called "Vocabularius Gemma gemmarum" in the colophon. Panzer and Brunet cite several editions also of the "Vocabulorum Gemmula," the two earliest being those printed at Antwerp in 1472 and 1487.

found in the latter in place of German. In the title of the edition of the Ortus in 1514, described p. lix. supra, we find these authorities combined "cum perpulcris additionibus Asceñ" (? for Ascensii, or Ascensianis), to which no allusion is made in the earlier editions. Jodocus Ascensius, father-in-law of the eminent scholar and lexicographer Robert Stephens, was a writer of considerable note at the period of the revival of learning. It may not easily be ascertained from which of his treatises these perpulcræ additiones were selected to augment the Ortus. The "frugiferæ annotationes" of Ascensius enriched, as we are informed, the highly-esteemed Lexicon by Calepin in 1525.*

I have sought in vain to ascertain who may have been the compiler of this Latin-English dictionary; to which I have been desirous to invite attention as a work of considerable interest, and from its rare occurrence comparatively unknown to the student of either mediæval language or antiquities. It will be seen, however, from the foregoing observations that in the preparation of the Ortus, the earliest work of its class printed in England, the most erudite authorities available at the period had been consulted.

The following enumeration of editions of the Ortus Vocabulorum may be acceptable in default of accurate notices of the work by bibliographical writers.

1500. W. de Worde; folio.—Harl. Catal. nos. 5213, 5304; Grenv. Libr. Brit. Mus.; copy with notes by Junius among his MSS. in the Bodleian; imperfect copy in Mr. Wilbraham's Library.

1508. W. de Worde; 4to.—Harl. Catal. nos. 15169, 15170.

1509 Pynson; 4to.—Herbert's copy, in the King's Library, British Museum.

1511. W. de Worde; 4to.—Thorpe's Catal. in 1843, described as the only copy known; imperfect copy in possession of Albert Way.

* An account of the literary labors of Ascensius is given by Maittaire, Vit. Stephanorum, pp. 17, 109. His treatises "De Epistolis" and "De Orthographia Latinorum dictionum" were included in a collection published in 1501, to which he prefixed a preface "ex officina nostra litteraria in Parrhis. Lutetia." Another of his works, the "Vocabulorum Interpretatio," may be found in the Opus Grammaticum of Sulpitius Verulanus, printed by Pynson, 1505, and stated to be "cum textu Ascensiano recognito et aucto." Dibdin, Typ. Ant. vol. i. p. 403.

(3.) "Catholicon in Lingua materna."—The valuable English-Latin Dictionary, frequently cited in the notes to this edition of the Promptorium as the "Catholicon Anglicum," is a MS. which was kindly confided to me in 1841 by Lord Monson, as before stated.* Its contents are wholly distinct from those of the Promptorium; the nouns, verbs, and other parts of speech are arranged consecutively in alphabetical order, instead of forming, as in the Promptorium, a Nominale and a Verbale. The MS. consists of 16 "quaterni," or 192 leaves; dimensions 8½ inches by 6. At the end of the Dictionary, which forms 183 leaves, are the following note and colophon:

"Nota.—Quum ad utilitatem et comodum singulorum, in grammatica precipue . proficere cupiencium, hanc brevem et summariam tabulam extractam de tabula prescripta Catholicon breviter nuncupatur in linguam maternam, Deo disponente, disposui, sic jam proferre respicienti seu studenti, supplicans si qua in ea reprehensione digna invenerit, aut corrigat, aut oculis clausis pertranseat, aut saltem humane ignorancie imputet. ¶ Sed inquirendo quisque prudenter caveat, tum de variacione linguarum ¶ Et quicquid inferius offendero, mihi parcat socialis dileccio. Amen.

Corpus scribentis benedicat lingua legentis.

Explicit Catholicon in lingua materna. Anno domini 1483."

I have found no clue to the author; the dialectical peculiarities seem to indicate that it was compiled in the North-Eastern parts of England; amongst names of places occurring in it, besides London, Salisbury, Bath, Oxford and Cambridge, I notice Norwich, Lincoln, York, Richmond, Ripon, Durham, and Carlisle; no other places in the North-Western counties, however, are found. The chief authors and Latin works cited are Virgil, Ysidore, Papias, Brito, Hugutio, the Catholicon, the Doctrinale, the gloss on the Liber Equivocorum (by John de Garlandia); many hexameter verses also are given from some popular grammatical work, possibly by that writer. A fenny district may have been familiar to the author, since amongst other words we find sedge and sedge hill, rush and rush hill, namely, as I imagine, the stack or pile of sedge or rushes; also reed and reed bed, fen, marsh, "natte" and "natte" maker, "schergrysse, carcx," "jonkett for fish, nassa," &c. On the reverse of the last leaf is the following indication of a former owner:—"Liber Thome Flowre Succ' ecclesie Cathedralis beate Marie Lincoln. Anno domini M.cccccc.xx."<sup>a</sup>

This venerable relic of mediæval learning is in very perfect condition. Its value as a memorial of the state of our language at the period can scarcely be too highly estimated, and it is probable the MS. may be the author's holograph.<sup>b</sup> At the end is found a Latin and English list of terms of consanguinity commencing "Hic pater, a fader," &c.

(4.) I am indebted to Sir Frederic Madden for pointing out to me another copy of the English-Latin Dictionary last described, written as he

<sup>a</sup> I do not find the sub-chanter Thomas Flower in the Fasti of Lincoln. John Flower occurs amongst the prebendaries of that church in 1571. The owner of the MS. above described may have been of Lincoln College, Oxford; Thomas Flower was one of the proctors of the university in 1519. Le Neve, edit. Hardy, vol. iii. p. 486.

<sup>b</sup> Some curious indications occur of popular notions, which may give a clue to the country where the author lived. We find the belief in the Ignis fatuus, which is still rife in some fenny districts, here shewn by the word "Hobb Trusse, hic prepes, hic negocius." In some parts of England the Will o' the wisp is known as "Hob and his Lantern," or "Hob-thrush;" Ang. Sax. thyrs. Brockett gives "Hob thrust," North country dialect. Again, we find "Sterne slyme, assub," the jelly (tremella) projected Sotheby in 1845, and is unfortunately imperfect, beginning " . . . culampnari," &c. an accusere, hic accusator," and ending, f. 142 vo. "Wrathe. Ira," &c. On paper. The various readings are numerous and of value: the text is, however, mostly the same as that of Lord Monson's MS.

(5.) Latin-English Vocabulary, attributed to William Ingram, a monk of Christ-Church, Canterbury. Harl. MS. 1587; which contains other treatises of the same class.

(6.) Latin-English Vocabulary, Brit. Mus. MS. Reg. 17 C. xvii. f. 21 r<sup>o</sup>, edited by Mr. T. Wright in his volume of Vocabularies published at the expense of Mr. Joseph Mayer, p. 185. Early xv. cent. In the same MS. may be found another similar list; f. 33.

(7.) Latin-English Vocabulary, xv. cent. Brit. Mus. Add. MS. 25,238; purchased from Lord Robert Montagu, in June, 1863. The words are classed by subjects, beginning—"Hic pater, hic genitor, a Fadur," &c. On paper, 58 leaves.

(8.) Latin-English Vocabulary by Nicholas de Munshulle, a writer not noticed by Leland, Bale, or Pits. Bishop Tanner designates him "Anglus Grammaticus insignis. Scripsit de generibus nominum, sive nominale, cum interpretatione Anglica,—Hic Deus. Anglice Gode."—MS. Bibl. Coll. Trin. Oxon. B. 1, 10. MS. Bibl. according to popular belief from the stars, as noticed hereafter, p. 474. Reference to the noisy flights of wild fowl frequent in Lincolnshire or Holderness is probably found in "Gabriell rache, hic camalisa:" Rache signifies a bound; see p. 422, infra. Bishop Kennett states in his Gloucestrian Collections, Lansd. MS. 1033, that "in Staffordshire the coaliers going to their pits early in the morning hear the noise of a pack of hounds in the air, to which they give the name of Gabriel's Hounds, tho' the more sober and judicious take them duly to be wild geese making this noise in their flight." Holloway gives, in his Provincial Dictionary, "Gabble ratchets, birds which make a great noise in the air in the spring evenings (North)."

nominale is identical with the "Glossarium Latino-Anglicum" amongst the Bodleian MSS. No. 2562, 67; Catal. MSS. Angliæ, t. 1, p. 135, where a list of the principal subjects under which the words in the MS. are classed may be found.

(9.) "Nominale sub compendio compilatum tam de fixis quam de mobilibus;" Latin-English Vocabulary, xv. cent., in the collection of Mr. Joseph Mayer; edited by Mr. T. Wright in his Volume of Vocabularies, before noticed, p. 206. This nominale is very full, and more instructive than any compilation of its class that I have seen.

(10.) Pictorial Latin-English Vocabulary, in Lord Londesborough's Library; it contains illustrative sketches which are copied in the edition of this curious nominale given by Mr. T. Wright in his Volume of Vocabularies, before noticed, p. 244. Date xv. cent.

(11.) Vocabulary of names of plants alphabetically arranged, Latin, French, and English, xv. cent. Brit. Mus. Sloane MS. No. 5.—Compare a similar list in three languages, but less full, Harl. MS. 978, f. 24 v<sup>o</sup>, which appears to have been written about 1265; it has been edited by Mr. T. Wright in his Volume of Vocabularies, before noticed, p. 139. Compilations of this class are numerous and deserving of attention; I may mention Latin-English lists of plants, Sloane MSS. 347, 3548, &c. In the curious "Practica" of a skilful physician of the time of Edward III., John Arderne of Newark, a list of plants is given in French and English. Sloane MSS. 56, 2002, Harl. MS. 549. In Arundel MS. 42 may be found an Alphabet of Plants that contains curious matter on the virtues of herbs, with incidental notices. The author mentions his garden "by Stebenhythe by syde London," and relates that he brought a bough of cypress with its apples from Bristol "into Estbriztland," fresh in September, to show that it might be propagated by slips; f. 68 v<sup>o</sup>. A Dictionary of plants exists also in Reg. MS. 18 A. vi.* Of the earlier Herbaria and Glossaries see the "Leechdoms, &c., of Early England," edited by the Rev. O. Cockayne, for the Chronicles, &c., published under the direction of the Master of the Rolls.

(12.) "Liber Equivocorum vocabulorum," by John de Garlandia.—Amongst grammatical treatises by this author, of whom some account has been given pp. xxvi.—xxxii. supra, this and the "Synonyma" claim notice on account of the English words occurring in the commentary or "expositio," attributed to the author of the Promptorium. There are numerous MSS. of both works, of which also several editions were printed by Wynkyn de Worde and Pynson; See Herbert, and Dibdin, Typ. Ant. vol. ii. pp. 96, 406. I have consulted chiefly the edition by W. de Worde, Lond. 1499. As a specimen of the work and of the accompanying expositio by Galfridus, the learned recluse of Lynn, I may cite the following curious passage:—

"Fungus boletus et fungus dicitur ales.

"¶ Hic docet autor quod fungus habet duas significationes. Nam fungus id est boletus: anglice paddokstole. Vel est quedam avis anglice an ostrich: quia ut aliqui dicunt est illa qui comedit ferrum .i. ferreos claves: anglice horsenayles. ¶ Fungus dicitur a fungor, fungeris, secundum vocem: sed a defungor, defungeris, secundum significationem, defungor id est mori, quia comedentes fungos, sicut plures faciunt in partibus transmarinis, sepius moriuntur. Unde Marcialis cocus,— Boleti leti causa fuere tui."

Defunctos fungis hominis materne negabis,

(13.) "Synonyma," by John de Garlandia.—This work, formerly, as was also that last mentioned, in high esteem for instruction of scholars, has been already noticed. See p. xvii., supra. I have made use chiefly of the edition by W. de Worde, 1500, "cum expositione magistri Galfridi Anglici," namely, the author of the Promptorium, whose commentary

Hereford School, about 1373; Sloane MS. 5. A version printed by Robert Wyer, without date, describes this Herbal as "practys'd by Doctor Lynacre." See Ames's Typ. Ant. p. 158.

* It may deserve notice that the "Poetria nova," ascribed by Pits to Galfridus Grammaticus, as stated p. xviii. supra, but probably written by Galfridus Vinesauf, as Bishop Tanner observes, seems to have been regarded at this time as a production of the former. Under the word "sanguis" is the explanation—"est idem quod progenies. Unde Galfridus in Poetria, autor istius libri,—Egregius sanguis te confert Bartholomei." If this passage, however, may be taken as referring to the Friar of Lynn, it is obvious that we must ascribe it to some later commentator, by whom additions were made to his expositio.

on this treatise is mentioned by Bale and Pits. The "Synonyma," and likewise the "Equivoca," are written in hexameter verse, the former commencing—

"Ad mare ne videar latices deferre cammino."

The Expositio by Galfridus Grammaticus begins, as given by Bale—
"¶ Cum omnis libri divisio sit utilis," &c.

(14.) "Vocabula Magistri Stanbrigii."—John Stanbridge, a native of Northamptonshire educated at Winchester, fellow of New College 1481, took active part in establishing early grammar schools; he was author of treatises long in estimation. Of these his Latin-English Vocabulary in hexameter verse with interlinear English explanations most deserves notice; it was printed by Wynkyn de Worde in 1500, 4to.; seven editions issued subsequently from his press, the latest in 1532. Dibdin, Typ. Ant. vol. ii. p. 91. Another Latin-English Vocabulary, "Vulgaria Stanbrigii," with phrases, &c. was printed by W. de Worde, without date. Of the author, see Bale, Pits, Tanner, and Ant. Wood. Robert Whyttenynton of Lichfield, "Protovates Angliæ," whose numerous grammatical works are described by Dibdin, ut sup. p. 173—203, was one of Stanbridge's scholars.

(15.) "Vulgaria," by William Horman.—This author, from whose quaint sentences and phrases in English and Latin many illustrations have been cited in the notes to the Promptorium, was a native of Salisbury, educated at Winchester, Fellow of New College, 1477, Head-master and Vice-provost of Eton, where he died in 1535.<sup>a</sup> The first edition of his "Vulgaria Puerorum" was printed by Pynson in 1519, in small 4to.;<sup>b</sup> and reprinted by Wynkyn de Worde in 1530.<sup>c</sup> I may cite a remarkable sentence as a specimen of this singular work. It occurs sign. O. ij. edit. by Pynson.—"The prynters haue founde out a crafte to make bokis by brasen letters sette in ordre by a frame. Calcographi artem excogitauerunt imprimendi libros qua literæ formis sereis excudunt."

(16.) Withal's Short Dictionary.—Herbert, who remarks that this is a vocabulary rather than a dictionary, notices an edition, without date, "Imprinted in the late house of William Caxton" by Wynkyn de Worde; 4to. Typ. Ant. t. i. p. 293. It is an English-Latin Vocabulary, "gathered especially out of Columel, Grapald, and Plinie," as stated in its title. This popular little work was reprinted by Berthelet in 1554 and 1559, and by H. Wykes in 1567; it was revised by Lewis Evans and printed by T. Purfoot in 1572; and, having been corrected by Fleming, it was again put forth by the printer last named in 1594 and 1599. Of the edition first noticed Dibdin remarks that he had never heard of a copy. Typ. Ant., vol. ii. p. 323.

(17.) Huloet's English-Latin Dictionary.—The first edition is of great rarity; it is entitled "Abecedarium Anglico-Latinum pro Tyrunculis, Ricardo Huloeto Exscriptore." Lond. Gul. Riddell, 1552, fol. At the end is a "peroration to the English reader," shewing that the author had been for ten years engaged on the work; he promised to improve it if brought to another impression. He dedicated it to the Bishop of Ely, Thomas Goodricke, Lord Chancellor, a scholar of some note, employed in the translation of the New Testament and the compilation of the Liturgy in the time of Edward VI. An edition greatly augmented by John Higgins was printed 1572 by Thomas Marsh, with addition of the French, and many phrases, chiefly from Thierry's French and Latin Dictionary, published in 1564. Anthony Wood speaks of this revised edition of Huloet's work as almost a new book. It is dedicated to Sir George Peckham.

(18.) English-Latin Dictionary by Peter Levins, or Levens.—This scarce volume is entitled "Manipulus Vocabulorum. A Dictionarie of English and Latin wordes set forthe in suche order as none heretofore hath ben . . . necessary not onely for Schollers that want variety of Words, but also for such as use to write in English meetre." Lond. H. Bynne-man, 1570, 4to. In the dedication to Mr. Stanley, Treasurer of the Queen's mint, allusion is made to the fact, that "Maister Howlet" had set forth a work of the same kind, but on a larger scale. The author was a fellow of Magdalen College, Oxford, 1557; he retired in 1560 into the country, and occupied himself in the instruction of youth, and the practice of medicine. See Wood's Athenæ, and Tanner. I have seen one copy only of this work, preserved amongst the books given by Selden to the Bodleian Library.

Early Treatises, Dictionaries, &c. for teaching French.

(19.) Treatise by Walter de Bibelesworth.—The early works compiled to give instructions in French may be consulted with advantage, as throwing light on archaisms occurring in the Promptorium. Of this class of grammatical writings, comparatively little known, may first be mentioned the "Doctrine," or "Treytyz ke moun sire Gauter de Bibelesworthe fist a ma dame Dyonsie de Mounchensy pur aprise de langage." Of this curious metrical treatise, in French verse with English glosses, I have consulted a copy in Arundel MS. 220, and the little roll, Sloane MS. 809.<sup>a</sup> It has been edited by Mr. Thomas Wright from the Arundel MS. with various readings from other copies, and may be found in his Volume of Vocabularies, printed in 1857 at the expense of Mr. Joseph Mayer.<sup>b</sup>

<sup>a</sup> See also Sloane MS. 513, f. 139; Harl. MSS. 490, 740; a fragment in Cott. MS. Vesp. A. vi. f. 60; a MS. at All Souls' Coll. Oxford, No. 1429; Catal. MSS. Angliæ; and a copy in the Public Library at Cambridge, No. 1896, but attributed to "mun seigneur Gauter de Bitheswey." Catal. of MSS. Libr. Univ. Camb. vol. iii. p. 3. Mr. T. Wright has printed numerous English glosses from this MS. in Reliquiæ Ant. vol. ii. p. 78. A valuable copy formerly in the Heber Library is now in possession of Sir Thomas Phillips, Bart. Notices of the treatise by Bibelesworth may be found in M. Génin's Preface to the edition of Palsgrave's Esclaircissement de la langue Française, Documents inédits sur l'histoire de France, &c. Paris, 1852, p. 27.

<sup>b</sup> I may here refer to an elementary treatise which I have not had the opportunity of examining, preserved at Magdalen College, Oxford, No. 188, thus described by Mr. Coxe: "Institutiones linguæ Gallicanæ cum onomastico exemplisque Latina lingua Anglicanæ editis. Incipit—Diccio gallica," &c. Catal. MSS. Bibl. S. M. Magd. p. 86. It is noticed at some length by M. Génin, Introd. to Palsgrave's "Esclaircissement de la langue Francoyse," reprinted in Coll. de Doc. Inéd. Paris, 1852, p. 29. A similar work, supposed by the Abbé de la Rue to have been written temp. Edw. I., may be seen in Harl. MS. 4971.

The "Treytyz" is supposed to have been written in the time of Edward I., or possibly as early as the reign of Henry III. The father of the lady for whom it was composed was William de Mounchensy, a leader of note at the battle of Lewes, and among the captives and disinherited at Kenilworth; Joan, his only sister, espoused William de Valence, half-brother of Henry III. He was killed by the Welsh in 1289; Dionysia, his heiress, married the second son of the Earl of Oxford. Of the author of this, the earliest elementary work of its class, little is known. Mr. Wright cites some Anglo-Norman verses in a MS. in the Bodleian, in which Walter occurs in a discussion with his friend Henry de Lacy, Earl of Lincoln, on the crusade.* Amongst many kindnesses which I recall with pleasure, rendered by the late Mr. Holmes of the British Museum, I may here mention the gift of a transcript of a Writ of Privy Seal addressed to the Chancellor, 22 Jan., 80 Edw. I.; being for a pardon under the great seal, in consideration of good services rendered in Scotland, to Walter "de Bibisworthe," for breach of the park of Robert de Scales at Revenhale, and of the king's prison at Colchester.

(20.) "Femina," MS. formerly preserved in the Library at Trinity College, Cambridge—Although of later date than the treatise last described, this remarkable MS. is perhaps of even greater value and interest. It was first noticed by Hickes, who printed a portion of the first chapter, entitled "de assimilitudine bestiarum," with some pertinent remarks on the philological interest of this curious composition. By the liberal permission of the Master and Seniors of Trinity College the MS. was entrusted to me in 1843, and I have thus been enabled to offer the following description. The work is composed of numerous chapters,—of the body and its members, of the first clothing in infancy, of rural matters, of the craft of baking and of brewing ("de arte pistoris" and "braciatricis"), of fishing, of the names of herbs, birds, beasts, &c., of building houses, and various matters connected with social or daily life. These subjects are set forth in distiches, alternately French and English, with marginal notes to guide the learner in regard to pronunciation. The author's intention is thus declared at the commencement:—"Liber iste vocatur femina quia sicut femina docet infantem loqui maternam sic docet iste liber juvenes rethorice loqui gallicum." The concluding chapter, "De moribus infantis," gives admonitions for discreet behaviour in the various relations of social life, citing the favorite moral treatise by Magnus Cato, the Proverbs of Solomon, and the like, and ending as follows:—

"¶ Ore priez dieu issint puissetez finer,
Qe a soun joye purrez vener.
Now prayeth God so 3e may end,
That to hys joye 3e may kome, so be hyt. Amen."

Then follows a "kalender" or alphabetical table of words in three columns, "linia scripcionis," the word written according to the orthography of the period; "Regula locucionis," the proper pronunciation; "Regula construccionis," the English rendering of the word. For instance, "Chien secundum pikardiam, Chaan secundum parisium," as written under the first head, is to be pronounced "cheen vel chann, an hounde;" and "Chiet secundum pikardiam, Chiat secundum parisium," has the pronunciation "cheet vel chaat, an kat." This curious table ends with the aspiration "Qui scripsit carmen sit benedictus. Amen.—Explicit Femina nova."<sup>a</sup>

I learn, with great regret, from the librarian, Mr. Aldis Wright, that this precious volume, which was restored by me in Feb. 1844, is no longer to be found amongst the MSS. at Trinity College. It is fortunate that some portions should have been preserved by Hickes, although insufficient to make amends to the philologist for so untoward a loss.<sup>b</sup>

<sup>a</sup> The volume was thus entered in the catalogue,—“B. 14, 39; Liber de Ordine Creaturarum; B. 14, 40; the Life of St. Margaret in very old English verse; Liber rhetoricus dictus Femina, et Miscell. alia.” Its value was well known through notices and fac-similes given by Hickes, Ling. Septentr. Thes. vol. i. pp. 144, 154. The Life of St. Margaret is there printed entire, pp. 224, 231, and described as “Dialecti Normanno-Saxonice omnium longe nobilissimum specimen;” thirteen distiches are also given from “Femina.” Some notice of the MS. is given by Sir Henry Ellis, Orig. Letters, third series, vol. ii. p. 209.

<sup>b</sup> At the close of the “Femina” is a treatise of the same kind but of later date, giving phrases, idioms, and dialogues suited for the requirements of a traveller; one of these is between a person fresh from the wars of Henry V. and another who asks the (21.) The Book for Travellers.—The earliest printed Treatise for instruction in French is Caxton's "Boke for Travellers," thus cited in my notes infra, and so entitled in Dibdin's Bibl. Spenc. vol. iv. p. 319. See also his Typ. Ant. vol. i. pp. 315, 317. This rare production of Caxton's press is a folio, without date, printed at Westminster, as Ames supposed, before 1484. The author has not been ascertained. It is printed in two columns in form of a vocabulary French and English; being a compendium of household matters, animals, birds, fishes, fruits, vianda, merchandises, &c. From the copy at Althorp, the only perfect one known to Dibdin, previously in possession of Mr. Lister Parker, I was permitted to extract many curious illustrations of words in the Promptorium. Mr. Blades mentions in his Life of Caxton, vol. ii. p. 133, a fine copy in the Cathedral Library at Ripon; another at Bamborough Castle; an imperfect copy (Spencer duplicate) in possession of the Duke of Devonshire; and a fragment, two leaves, formerly in Ames's possession, now in the Dounce collection in the Bodleian.

(22.) "Introductory to write and to pronounce Frenche, by Alexander Barclay."—This scarce volume issued from the press of Robert Coplande: London, 1521, fol. The author states that he undertook the work "at the commaundement of the ryght hye, excellent, and myghty prynce, Thomas, Duke of Norfolkke," namely, Thomas Howard, High Treasurer to Henry VII.; appointed Earl Marshal 2 Hen. VIII., chief commander at Flodden. Sir Henry Ellis has pointed out with much probability that Barclay<sup>a</sup> may have compiled his "Introductory" from materials of earlier news; the traveller relates the siege of Harfleur, the memorable battle of Agincourt, the deaths of the Duke of York and the Earl of Suffolk. The King, he says, is on his way home, the prisoners had reached Dover, the Londoners had gone forth to Blackheath well armed that those foreigners might see what stout men the King had left at home for the safeguard of the realm. Doubtless the arrival of Katherine of France made the study of French fashionable; the name of William Kyngesmylle, an Oxford pedagogue who kept an "ostelle" in that University, is mentioned; he may have been the author of this portion of the MS.

<sup>a</sup> Bale, p. 723, gives amongst his numerous writings one entitled "De pronunciations Gallie," beginning—"Multi ac varii homines literati;" this is repeated by Pits, p. 745. For further notices of Barclay see Wood's Athenæ; Warton's Eng. Poet. sect. xxix.; Ritson's Bibliogr. Poet. p. 40.

date. He was, however, a scholar of more than ordinary attainments, conversant with languages; his principal work, the "Ship of Fools," is stated to have been translated out of Latin, French, and Dutch, whilst he was chaplain in the college of St. Mary Ottery, Devon.

(23.) "A good boke to lerne to speke French."—A rare little manual intended probably for the use of travellers and merchants. Printed by Pynson, without date (Brit. Mus.); and Wynkyn de Worde. (ibid. Grenv. Libr.)

(24.) Introductory to learn French, by Giles Dewes.—This very scarce work was compiled by a teacher of note in the sixteenth century, whose name should perhaps be written du Wés, or du Guez—de Vadis. It is supposed that he was a native of France; he was clerk of the library at Westminster to Henry VII. and Henry VIII., and instructor in French to Prince Arthur and the Lady Mary. His work is entitled, "An Introductorie for to lerne to rede, to pronounce and to speke French trewly," &c. compiled for the Lady Mary, daughter of Henry VIII. London, John Waley, 4to. It consists of grammatical rules, a large vocabulary, letters, dialogues, &c. which seem to have passed between the princess, her teacher, and her almoner, as exercises. It appears by internal evidence that the work was compiled about 1527, when the Lady Mary was eleven years of age.* A copy of this edition is in the Grenville Library, Brit. Mus. The work was likewise printed by Thomas Godfray, Lond. s. d. and by N. Bourman for John Reynes [1532 ?] (Grenv. Libr.) Of the edition by Godfray a reprint has been edited by M. Génin, and is appended to that of Palsgrave's "Esclarcissement," noticed hereafter. These reprints of two works of extreme rarity form a volume of the series published by the Minister of Public Instruction; Coll. de Docum. Inédits sur l'Hist. de France, II<sup>m</sup>e série, 1852.

* See the account of Dewes in the Introduction by M. Génin, p. 14. Weever has preserved his epitaph formerly in St. Olave's Church. See also Warton's Hist. Eng. Poet. vol. ii. sect. xxxv., where it is stated that he died in 1535. Stowe states that he was preceptor, not only to the personages of the English court above mentioned, but also to the King of France, the King of Scots, and the Marquis of Exeter. Hist. London, p. 230.

(25.) "Lesclaircissement de la langue Francoyse," by John Palsgrave, 1530.—A minute description of this important book, which is dedicated to Henry VIII.<sup>a</sup> is given by Dibdin, and more recently by M. Génin in the Introduction to the reprint edited by him for the collection of "Documents Inédits sur l'histoire de France."<sup>b</sup> The work, the earliest existing grammar of the French tongue, consists of rules for pronunciation, a very full vocabulary of substantives in English and French alphabetically arranged, similar tables of pronouns, adjectives, and other parts of speech, an ample list of verbs being specially valuable to the student of obsolete expressions, on account of the quaint sentences by which each verb is illustrated. The author, who styles himself in the Title "Angloys natyf de Londres, et gradué de Paris," and who studied also both at Cambridge and Oxford, had been chosen to instruct the Lady Mary, sister of Henry VIII., previously to her marriage with Louis XII. In the Privy Purse Expenses of Henry VIII., 1513, Palsgrave is designated "scolemaster to my lady Princes," and he accompanied her to France in the following year. His services are very favorably recognised by Henry in the privilege for seven years prefixed to the work, and dated Sept. 2, 22 Hen. VIII. (1530), shortly after its completion, as thus stated in the colophon,—"The imprint- yng fynysshed by Johan Haukyns the xviii. daye of July," in the year beforementioned. It has, however, been supposed that the book may have been produced from the press of Pynson, by whom it is certain that copies were sold under the author's direction.<sup>c</sup> On his return from France with the youthful Queen, Palsgrave was much in request as a teacher of the young nobility; he enjoyed considerable preferment in the church, and was collated by Cranmer to the rectory of St Dunstan's in the East,

<sup>b</sup> Deuxième Série, Histoire des Lettres et des Sciences, Paris, 1852, 4to. A single copy of the work was found in France in the Bibliothèque Mazarine. A reprint of the rare grammar by Giles Dewes before described is given in the same volume, and an ample Index to Palsgrave's work is a most valuable accessory to this reprint.

<sup>c</sup> In a letter to Cromwell from Stephen Vaughan, who was very desirous to obtain a copy of the work, it is said that Palsgrave had instructed Pynson to sell it only to such persons as he might direct, "lest his proffit by teching the Frenche tonge myght be mynished by the sale of the same." Sir H. Ellis, Orig. Letters, third series, vol. ii. p. 214.

London.<sup>a</sup> The "Esclarcissement" is a volume of great rarity; the only copy known to Anthony Wood was that among Selden's books in the Bodleian, but five copies are noticed by Dibdin; it may be found in the British Museum, and in the University Library at Cambridge.

(26.) "Catholicum Parvum."—The first printed Vocabulary, Latin and French, appears to be the rare volume printed for Louis Cruse, al. Garbin, at Geneva, 1487, entitled "Catholicum parvum." A Latin-French dictionary was printed by Martin Havard at Lyons, 1499. The "Catholicum abbreviatum," or "Vocabularius brevidicus," was published by Anthony Cayllaut at Paris about the close of the fifteenth century, and reprinted there by John Lambert in 1506.<sup>b</sup>

(27.) French-Latin Dictionary by Robert Estienne (Stephanus). The earliest French-Latin Dictionary is that published by Estienne at Paris, 1539, reprinted with additions in 1549. In 1538 he issued his "Dictionarium Latino-Gallicum;" an edition "multo locupletius" appeared in 1546; the work was apparently founded on his "Thesaurus linguæ latinæ," of which the first edition was published at Paris in 1531, and the second in 1536. In these last he introduced French interpretations of the Latin words. In 1557 this learned lexicographer brought out at Geneva a "Dictionnaire des mots François." See Brunet under Estienne, Nicot, &c.

(28.) "Dictionaire Francoislain, &c. corrigé et augmenté par Maistre Jehan Thierry. Paris, chez Jacques du Puys, 1564;" folio. This is the French-Latin Dictionary by Robert Estienne abovementioned, and reprinted from a copy left by him at his death, in which many additions had been made by Thierry and other learned scholars.<sup>a</sup>

(29.) Latin, English, and French Dictionary by John Veron.—This scarce little volume is entitled "Dictionariolum Puerorum, tribus linguis, Latina, Anglica, et Gallica conscriptum. In hoc nudæ tantum puræque sunt dictiones, &c. Latino gallicum nuper ediderat Rob. Stephanus Parisiis, cui Anglicam interpretationem Joannes Veron nunc primum adiecit. Londini, apud Reginaldum Wolfsum. Anno MDLII." 4to. On the reverse is an address in Latin verse by Veron (misprinted Heron) "ad puerum linguarum studiosum," and in a subsequent address to British youth he says that he was induced by the sight of Stephens's Dictionary to undertake the work. There are two signatures A. i, on the second of which the Dictionary begins, concluding on the reverse of the leaf following sign. Gggg. v. The Latin words are printed in Roman, the English in black letter, the French in Italic. This dictionary contains curious archaisms.<sup>b</sup> It is very rarely to be found, owing doubtless to the destruction of such elementary books in the hands of heedless learners, amongst whom the book must have been much in request, not only as an auxiliary to instruction in the French tongue, but as the most convenient Latin-English dictionary produced subsequently to the Promptorium.

(30.) I cannot close this section of notices of early lexicography without mention of the valuable work of Randle Cotgrave, frequently cited in the following pages. Subsequently to the appearance of Palsgrave's French grammar and vocabularies in 1530, no French and English word-book of note is found, with the exception of Claudius Hollyband's French and English Dictionary published in 1593, 4to., a volume of some rarity,<sup>a</sup> preceded in 1573 by his "French Schoolemaister," to which a brief vocabulary was annexed, until the publication of Cotgrave's "Dictionnaire of the French and English Tongues," first printed by Adam Islip, London, 1611. It was dedicated to the author's "very good Lord and Maister, Sir William Cecil, knight, Lord Burghley," eldest son of the Earle of Exeter,<sup>b</sup> and commended "au favorable Lecteur Francois" by J. L'oiseau de Tourval, Parisien." The work must have proved highly acceptable, and may still be consulted with advantage by the students of obsolete language. In 1632 it received the desirable addition of an English-French Dictionary by Robert Sherwood.<sup>c</sup>

<sup>b</sup> Dibdin, Typ. Ant. vol. iv. p. 18. Lowndes notices only a Dictionary in Latin and English by John Veron, newly corrected and enlarged by R. W. (Rodolph Waddington), Lond. 1575 and 1584. See also the notice by Watt. The author's name is sometimes given as Vernon; in one of his theological works he styles himself "Senonoy," and he was probably a native of Sens.

Glossaries of Provincial and obsolete Words, &c.

(31.) "A Collection of English Words not generally used;" by John Ray, F.R.S.—The first edition of this well-known and valuable glossary was published in 1674; the second, much augmented, in 1691; and it was republished in the fourth edition of the author's "Collection of English Proverbs," 1768.

<sup>a</sup> The elementary works by this teacher of languages were in much esteem. Lowndes does not mention the rare "Campo di Fior, or else the Flourie Field of foure languages, of M. Claudius Dessainliens, alias Holiband;" Lond. Thos. Vautrouillier, 1583, 12mo. It contains dialogues in Italian, Latin, French, and English. In regard to early aids to the study of Italian I may cite the Italian-English Dictionary by William Thomas, 1548, as containing obsolete English words.

<sup>b</sup> Sir William was grandson of the Lord High Treasurer, created Baron Burghley by Elizabeth in 1571. He appears by the preface to have been well skilled in French, and may have received instruction from the author.

<sup>c</sup> I may here mention the useful "Alvearie, or Triple Dictionarie in Englishe, Latin, and French," by John Baret, Fellow of Trinity College, Cambridge. Cooper's Athenæ Cantabr. vol. i. p. 421. It was printed by Denham in 1573, and again in 1580, with the addition of Greek to the three languages before mentioned. Several early and rare polyglot vocabularies might be enumerated as containing archaisms not undeserving of the attention of the student of our language in the Tudor age. I recall a curious "Nomenclator" in six tongues, including Latin, French, Italian, and English, Nuremberg, 1548; Joh. Daubmann; of which a copy was shewn to me by Mr. David Laing in the Signet Library at Edinburgh; the Italian is designated as "Welsch."

(82) Glossarial Collections by Bishop Kennett.—The Glossary appended by the learned Bishop of Peterborough to his “Parochial Antiquities,” of which the first edition appeared in 1695, is highly to be appreciated. I would invite attention to his valuable collection of obsolete and provincial expressions preserved in the British Museum, in Lansdowne MS. 1033, which I have cited frequently in the following pages. This large compilation is wholly distinct from the printed Glossary, and seems well deserving of publication; independently of the value of the etymological suggestions, there can be little doubt that numerous dialectic words are here to be found, which have subsequently been wholly disused and forgotten.*

(33.) Glossary of Archaic and Provincial Words, by the late Rev. Jonathan Boucher, Vicar of Epsom.—A portion of this work, containing the letter A, was printed after the death of the author in 1804 by Sir F. Morton Eden; Lond. 1807, 4to. It was entitled “A Supplement to Dr. Johnson’s Dictionary, or a Glossary of Obsolete and Provincial Words.” In 1832 another edition commenced under the editorial care of the late Mr. Hunter, author of the Hallamshire Glossary, and of Mr. Joseph Stevenson. Two parts were published in 4to. containing Boucher’s Introductory Essay, with the Glossary as far as the word “Blade.” Mr. Boucher’s MSS. remained in Mr. Hunter’s hands; at the dispersion of his library, after his death in 1861, these Glossarial collections were purchased by Mr. Russell Smith, and sold by him to Mr. Halliwell; they were again sold at Messrs. Sotheby’s in 1864, and came into the possession, as I believe, of Mr. C. E. Hodgkin, West Derby, Lancashire.

(34.) “Glossary of Words, Phrases, &c. in the works of English authors, particularly Shakespeare and his contemporaries;” by Archdeacon Nares.—This valuable work, which I have often cited as explaining archaisms of an earlier period than that set forth in the title, is replete with curious illustrations of early language and literature. It was first published in 1822, Lond. 4to.; a second edition, considerably augmented, was produced in 1859 by Mr. J. O. Halliwell and Mr. Thomas Wright; Lond. 2 vols. 8vo.

* The Bishop died in 1728; these collections were probably compiled towards the close of the previous century, and not long after the earliest printed notice of local words, namely that published by Ray as early as 1674, but brief and meagre as compared with the MS. Glossary above cited.

(35.) "General Dictionary of Provincialisms; by William Holloway." London, 1840, 8vo.—In the Introduction certain local expressions, chiefly occurring in the Eastern and Northern parts of England, are enumerated, supposed to be of Danish origin.

(36.) "Dictionary of Archaic and Provincial Words, Obsolete Phrases, &c. from the fourteenth century;" by Mr. James Orchard Halliwell, F.R.S. 2 vols. 8vo. 1847.

(37.) "Dictionary of Obsolete and Provincial English, containing words from the English Writers previous to the nineteenth century which are no longer in use or are not used in the same sense, and words which are now used only in the Provincial Dialects:" compiled by Mr. Thomas Wright, M.A. London, 1857, 12mo.—In this useful work of reference numerous illustrations of East Anglian dialect will be found, communicated by the Rev. E. Gillett, Vicar of Runham, Norfolk.

(38.) "Vocabulary of East Anglia, an attempt to record the vulgar tongue of the twin sister counties, Norfolk and Suffolk, as it existed in the last twenty years of the eighteenth century," &c. By the late Rev. Robert Forby. London, 1830. Edited by the Rev. George Turner, 2 vols. 12mo. A supplementary volume was published in 1858, from collections made by the late Rev. W. T. Spurdens of North Walsham, 1840. Mr. Forby's autograph papers, containing the originals of his Vocabulary, are preserved in the library of Caius College, Cambridge, to which they were presented in 1846 by the Rev. George Miller. Catalogue of MSS. Gonville and Caius Coll. by the Rev. J. J. Smith, p. 304. About the time when Mr. Forby commenced his glossarial collection, a similar work was compiled by Mr. Anthony Norris, described as a "Glossary or Dictionary explaining the obsolete words used by old English writers, with references to examples where they occur; to which is added a catalogue of local and vulgar words used in the county of Norfolk, about 1780." This MS. volume is supposed to have formed part of the collection made by Mr. Norris for the illustration of the county of Norfolk, which came into the possession of the Right Hon. J. H. Frere. It was subsequently in Sir John Fenn's Library, and passed into the hands of the Rev. Jonathan Boucher, deceased in 1804; the MS. was then added to the late Mr. Dawson Turner's Norfolk collections, and at their dispersion it was purchased by the Hon. F. Walpole of Rainthorpe Park, Norfolk. In regard to the numerous provincialisms which occur in Norfolk, relics of the peculiar dialect with which the author of the Promptorium declared that he was exclusively conversant, it is not without interest to observe that a writer on agricultural subjects, eighty years since, Mr. Marshall, has stated that, during a very short time whilst pursuing his observations, he registered in Norfolk nearly 1000 local expressions or deviations from established language. He has given those words only that relate to rural affairs.<sup>a</sup> The late Mr. Goddard Johnson of Norwich made large collections of Norfolk words; he informed me that he had gathered 3000 or upwards which did not come under Mr. Forby's notice.<sup>b</sup> His MSS. are, as I believe, in possession of Mr. R. Fitch, F.S.A., at Norwich.

(38.) "Suffolk Words and Phrases; an attempt to collect the Lingual Localisms of that County: by Edward Moor, F.S.A." Woodbridge, 1823, 12mo.

The foregoing notices may doubtless appear tediously diffuse; and I have thought it inexpedient to extend them by an enumeration of certain books, those especially that relate to provincial dialect, cited in the following pages. The bibliography of early elementary works on Language would form an instructive chapter in the History of English Literature; it has been my endeavor to offer some contribution towards a subject which the dissertations of Mr. Mayor, already cited, have in no slight measure tended to bring under consideration. I may refer to his erudite account of Elyot, Cooper, and Holyoke, by whom the revival of learning in the sixteenth century was essentially aided in this country.<sup>a</sup> To the "Copious Dictionary" of Francis Gouldman, however, published at a comparatively late time, in 1664, and often cited in my notes, I would advert not merely as combining the labors of his learned predecessors, of whom an ample notice is set forth in the Preface, but as containing archaisms of interest to the student of language, with certain expressions mostly of North-country vernacular. To Dr. Jamieson's Dictionary of the Scottish Language I have also often been indebted, and scarcely less frequently to the researches of Brockett, of Hunter, and of others to whose timely care we owe the preservation of many of the fast-fading traces of provincial dialects.<sup>b</sup>

<sup>b</sup> A short list of Norfolk provincialisms is given by Sir Thomas Browne in his "Certain Miscellany Tracts," Lond. 1684, p. 146. Mr. Halliwell points out a Vocabulary of the xvth century written in Norfolk; Add. MS. 12,195. In Cullum's Hist. of Hawsted, 1784, a list of Suffolk words may be found. I have frequently cited the "Points of good Husbandry" by Tusser, whose quaint verses, first published in 1557, are full of illustrations of East Anglian dialect and of words occurring in the Promptorium. I cannot omit to mention a recent Version of the Song of Solomon in Norfolk dialect, by the Rev. Edward Gillett, Vicar of Runham, a diligent collector of relics of the ancient vernacular of his county.

THE CAMPUS FLORUM; see p. xxv. ante.

Whilst the foregoing pages were in the press, Sir Frederic Madden, to whose friendly assistance I have frequently been indebted, has called my attention to a writer who probably may have been the authority often cited by the compiler of the Promptorium as "Mirivalensis in Campo Florum," and whom, as before stated, I have long in vain sought to identify.

Leland has given many particulars relating to "Thomas Gualensis, a Leandro Alberto Bononiensi Thomas Anglicus de Malleis"<sup>c</sup> corrupte

<sup>a</sup> "Latin-English and English-Latin Lexicography," by the Rev. J. E. B. Mayor (Librarian of the Public Library of the University of Cambridge), Journal of Ancient and Sacred Philology, vol. iv. 1857.

<sup>b</sup> I may refer to the Bibliographical List of works illustrative of the Provincial Dialects of England, by John Russell Smith, Lond. 1839, in which various volumes occasionally cited in the notes and not enumerated above will be found. The numerous additions to this class of philological literature render an enlarged edition of Mr. Russell Smith's useful Hand-list very desirable.

<sup>c</sup> Probably for Walleis or Waleys, as he is sometimes called. Leland cites several of his treatises on the authority of Leander Albertus, de Viris Illustr., lib. iv. It may be well to notice that there was a writer of an earlier period, Johannes Gualensis, a Franciscan of Worcester, about 1260, of whose voluminous works see Bale, p. 317, Pits, p. 342; some confusion seems to have arisen in regard to his writings and those of Thomas Gualensis. There was moreover another Thomas, professor of theology at Oxford, in the time of Henry III., elected Bishop of St. David's in 1247.

dictus;" a Dominican whose commentaries on various books of the Old Testament he had seen in the library of Warden Abbey, Bedfordshire. Amongst numerous writings of this author, probably of Welsh origin, Leland thus mentions one existing at Oxford in the Public Library :— " Extat in bibliotheca publica Isiaci liber, cui titulus Campus Florum, a Guallensi scriptus, copiosus videlicet Juris Canonici index." Leland observes that previous writers had not ascribed a date to the works of Gualensis; according to his own conjecture that eminent scholar lived about the times of Edward II. Comm. de Script. Brit., vol. ii., p. 333.

Bale and Pits give some additional notices.* From the former we learn that Thomas Walleys (alias Gualensis) a theologian of Oxford, was a strenuous opponent of tenets advanced by Pope John XXIII., and that in consequence, about the year 1332, he suffered imprisonment. Bale gives a list of treatises attributed to Walleys, including one thus entitled: "Campum Florum Juris Canonici, lib. i. Disciplina claustrali deditus." The enumeration of his writings is augmented by Pits, with references to MSS. in the collegiate libraries of both the universities. This list includes several MSS. in the library of St. Peter's College, Cambridge, and it may deserve notice that I there found, as previously stated (p. xxv. supra), a treatise entitled "Campus Florum," and also several works attributed to Johannes Wallensis. Of the author, however, of the "Campus Florum" there preserved, I have found no indication; it commences with the words "Fulcite me floribus," which differ, as will presently appear, from those given as the incipial words of the treatise by Thomas Walleis to which my attention has been called by Sir Frederic Madden.

It is stated by Pits that Thomas Walleis, or Gualensis, lived in 1333; according to some accounts, however, he was living as late as 1410.

The autograph Collections by Bishop Bale, alphabetically arranged, for the continuation of his work, are preserved, as I am informed by Sir Frederic Madden, in the Bodleian Library amongst Selden's MSS. (No. 64, B.; No. 3452, Codd. Jo. Seldeni, Catal. MSS. Angliæ). They were compiled after the first edition printed at Ipswich in 1548, and before that, largely augmented, printed at Basle in 1557. These Collections well deserve to be printed, as Sir Frederic observes; their value being greatly enhanced by the circumstance that, in all instances, Bale has stated the authorities, which are omitted in his printed work. The following notices of the Campus Florum occur at fol. 30, but not under the author's name:—"Campus Florum vocabularius quidam erat apud Miram vallem, locum devotis monachis valde amenum, factus circa annum Domini 1359.—Nicholaus Brigan in Collectionibus.

Campus Florum (Thomæ Gualensis interlined) li. i.; incipit, 'Disciplina claustrali deditus apud Miram vallem.' Claruit autor anno Domini 1359.—Ex Collegio Magdalene Oxon."

Under the article of Thomas Walleys, fol. 176, the work is thus noticed more briefly:—"Thomas Walleys Dominicanus, doctor Wallicus," &c. and at the end of the list of his writings,—"Campus Florum, copiosus index juris Canonici, li. i.—Ex Lelando de viris illustribus."

Nicholas Brigan, or Brigham, called by Bale in his printed work "Brigamus," was his contemporary,—"Anglicarum antiquitatum amator maximus;" he compiled, about 1550, certain collections which seem to have been used by Bale, entitled "Venationes rerum memorabilium," also "Rerum quotidianorum, lib. xii." Bale, Script., p. 718.<sup>a</sup>

Sir Frederic Madden notices that the name "Thomæ Gualensis" had been added above the line in the passage above cited; he considers this interlineation to be subsequent to the original entry, but not later than 1552, the latest date that he found in the volume. It would seem that Bale had really seen a copy of the work at Magdalen College; he certainly assumes that Thomas Walleys was the author. No MS. corresponding with his description appears to be found at the present time, and I have sought for it in vain, either in the enumeration of MSS. in the library of Magdalen College, given about 1697 in Catal. MSS. Angl., tom. 1, part 2, p. 71, or in the recent and valuable Catalogue compiled by Mr. Coxe. I have been equally unsuccessful in my endeavors to trace the MS. described by Leland as existing in the Public Library at Oxford.

<sup>a</sup> Pits, p. 749, writes in commendation of the erudition of Brigham, of his repute as a lawyer, historian, poet, and antiquary. In 1555 Brigham caused the remains of Chaucer to be removed to the chapel of St. Blaise in Westminster Abbey, and deposited in the marble tomb which bears a Latin verse composed by him. See Wood's Athenæ.

<sup>1</sup> A Ruffie or Roughie, according to Jamieson, signifies in Eskdale a torch used in fishing with the lister by night; probably, as he supposes, from the rough material of which it is formed. A wick clogged with tallow is termed a Ruffy. Roughie in N. Britain signifies also brushwood or heather. Funalia were torches formed of ropes twisted together and dipped in pitch.

<sup>2</sup> "I ruffle clothe or sylke, I bring them out of their playne foldyng; je plionne, je froisse. See how this lawne is shruffyled." (sic.) PALEO.

<sup>4</sup> This is placed amongst the verbs, after RUBBYN, (as if written Ruckun). The word is used by Chaucer, (Nonnes Pr. Tale) speaking of the fox—"false morderour rucking in thy den." So also in Conf. Am. 72. Forby gives "to ruck, to squat or shrink down."

<sup>1</sup> The directions given in the Sloane MS. 73, f. 211, date late xv. cent., for making "cheverel lether of perchemyne," may serve to throw light on this obscure word. The leather was to be "basked to and fro" in a hot solution of rock alum, "aftir take zalkis of eyren and breke hem smale in a disch as thou woldist make therof a caudel, and put these to thyn alome water, and chaufe it to a moderate hete; thanne take it down from the fier and put it in thi cornetrey; thanne tak thi lether and basche it wel in this sabras, to it be wel dronken up into the lether." A little flour is then to be added, the mixture again heated, and the parchment well "basked therein, and that that saberas be wel drunken up into the lether; and, if it enters not well into the lether, lay it abroad in a good long vessel that be scheld, the fleschside upward, and poure thi sabrace al aboven the lether, and rubbe it wel yn." It is also recommended "to late the lether ligge so still al a nyzt in his owen sabras." In the Ancoren Riwe, edited for the Camden Society by the Rev. J. Morton, p. 364, it is said that a sick man who is wise uses abstinence, and drinks bitter sabras to recover his health: in the Latin MS. Oxon. "potat amara." It may be from the Arabic, "Shabra, a drink." See Notes and Queries, vol. ii. pp. 70, 204. Mr. Halliwell, in his Archaic Glossary, gives—"Sabras, salve, plaster," which does not accord with the use of the term as above given; it has not, however, been found in any other dictionary.

<sup>3</sup> Sic, probably erroneously so written for—SatlyŃ, as in K. The archaism—to sag,—to saddle, is preserved in the Herefordshire dialect.

In the description of Coveitise, P. Ploughin. Vis. v. 2,857, his lolling cheeks are said to be "wel sidder than his chyn and chyveled for elde;" and, in the Mayster of the Game, a light deer and swift in running is contrasted with such as have "side bely and flankes," that is loose or hanging down, so as to hinder his speed. <sup>4</sup> "Libistila, fabula, fatera," occurs in a glossary cited in Ducange. If we derive Libistica from Λιβυστικὸς, Libyan, this term may have reference to some African writer of fables, as Apuleius, whose Metamorphoseon was familiar to the mediæval scholar. "Fabulæ aut Æsopice (sunt) aut Libysticæ. Æsopice sunt, cum animalia muta inter se sermocinasse finguntur, vel quæ animam non habent, ut urbes, &c. Libysticæ autem, dum hominum cum bestiis aut bestiarum cum hominibus fingitur vocis esse commercium." Isidor. Orig. lib. 1. c. 39.

<sup>1</sup> "Cluniculum, an hole or a spayre of a womans smoke or kyrtell." ORTUS. "Sparre of a gowne, fente de la robe." PALSG. In the curious chapter De Vestibus, in Vocab. Roy. MS. 17 C. XVII. occur, "Manicipium, spayere; apertura, spayere; transmearium, spare-bokylle," the latter being probably a brooch which closed the vent or fent of a dress. Compare FENTE, fibulatorium, supra, p. 156. "Lacenema, a speyre; Urla, a speyre-hole." The term may have designated the openings in the dress, either at the neck, or at the sides, like pocket-holes, as seen in mediæval costume. The Cathol. Abbrev. 1497, thus explains "cluniculum,—le pertuis qui est es vestemens des femmes iouste le coste." Skelton gives a lament of the nun for her favourite bird—"wont to repayre and go in at my spayre," or creep in "at my gor of my gowne before." Philip Sparow.

it has been stated that the trebuchetum was the punishment for the dishonest braciatrix. The Browstar (supra, p. 54,) was usually a female. In the Vision of Piers Ploughman we have a tale of the tippling at the house of "Beton the Brewsterre;" and Skelton gives a curious picture of the disorderly habits of the pandoxatrix and her customers, at a subsequent period, in his Elinour Rymming.

<sup>2</sup> An error doubtless, by the second hand, for TAPYNGE or TAPINGE. See Spelman's remarks, in v. on a peculiar manorial right in Norfolk and Suffolk called Tath; and also Forby, v. Tathe, to manure land with fresh dung by turning cattle upon it.

Thus in Havelok, 2105, "He stod, and totede in at a bord;" Grafton, 577, describes a "totyng hole" in a tower, through which the Earl of Salisbury, looking out, was slain by shot from a "goon," at the siege of Orleans in 1427. Gouldman gives the verb "to toot," as synonymous with to look. largely extended. The term seems to denote a look-out or watch tower. In the version of Vegecius, Roy. MS. 18 A. In the earlier Wicl. version, 2 Kings, V. v. 7 is thus rendered; "Forsothe Daud toke the tote hil Syon (arcem Sion) that is, the citee of Daud;" and v. 9, "Daud dwellide in the tote hil" (in arce) in the later version "Tour of Syon." The Emperor's steward walking overhead hears her moan, and intercedes for her.

<sup>3</sup> A travas or travers is explained by Sir H. Nicolas in his Glossarial Index, Privy P. Exp. of Eliz. of York, p. 259, as a kind of screen with curtains for privacy, used in chapels, halls, and other large chambers; he cites several instances of the use of the term in household accounts and other documents, to which the following may be added. In the inventory of effects of Henry V. in 1423, we find "j. travers du satin vermaille, pris viij. li. avec ij. quishons de velvet vermaille," &c. probably for the king's chapel; also a "travers" for a bed: see Rot. Parl. vol. iv. pp. 227, 230. Chaucer, in the Marchantes Tale, it will be remembered, thus uses the term in the narrative of the nuptial festivity—"Men dranken, and the Travers drawe anon." In a Survey of the manor of Hawsted, in 1581, it is stated that Sir William Drury possessed "Scitum manerii, &c. uno le mote circum-jacente, uno le traves ante portam messuagii predicti, et unam magnam curiam undique bene edificatam." Cullum's Hawsted, p. 142. Sir T. More was so greatly in favor during 20 years of his life at the court of Henry VIII. that, as Roper says, "a good part thereof used the kinge uppon holie daies, when he had donne his owne devotions, to sende for him into his traverse, and theare, sometimes in matters of Astronomy, Geometry, Divinity, and suche other faculties, and sometimes of his worldly affaires, to sit and converse with him." In this and other instances a traverse seems to have been a kind of state pew, or closet. So likewise we read that when Queen Elizabeth visited Cambridge in 1564, on the south side of the chapel at King's College was hung a rich Travas of crimson velvet for the queen's majesty; and when she entered the chapel, desiring to pray privately, she "went into her Travys, under a canopy." Le Keux, Mem. of Camb. vol. ii. King's Coll. pp. 20, 21. Thus also Fabyan relates that the king coming to St. Paul's "kneled in a trauers purveyed for hym" near the altar. Chron. 9 Hen. VI. A Traverse is explained in the Glossary of Architecture as having been a screen with curtains, in a hall, chapel, or large chamber.

<sup>1</sup> "A trave for to scho horse in, Ferratorium." CATH. ANG. This term, it will be remembered, is used by Chaucer, in his description of the Miller's young wife, where he says—"she sprong as a colt in a trave" (rhyming to save). Miller's Tale. This is doubtless the frame used for confining an unruly horse whilst being shod. According to Forby, a smith's shoeing shed is called in Norfolk a Traverse. Edm. Heyward, of Little Walsingham, blacksmith, bequeaths to his wife, in 1517, "my place wich is called the house at the traverse," a term which may probably have been connected with that occurring above. Norfolk Archaeology, vol. i. p. 266. Palgrave gives only "Trough for smythes, Auge à marichal."

<sup>2</sup> Antidotum, MS. and a. v. The composition of various kinds of Theriaca, an antidote for bites of serpents and venomous animals, is given by Pliny and other writers. Scribonius Largus speaks of it as made of the flesh of vipers. In the Middle Ages it was highly esteemed against poison, venom of serpents, and certain diseases; the nature of the nostrum may be learned from ancient medicinal treatises, such as Nic. de Hostreham's Antidotarium, Nloane MS. 341. The Treacle of Genoa appears to have been in very high repute; its virtues are thus extolled by Andrew Borde, physician to Henry VII. "When they do make theyr treacle a man wyl take and eate poyson and than he wyl swel redy to burst and to dye, and as sone as he hath takyn trake he is hole agene." Boke of the Introd. of Knowledge, 1542. Thus also says Caxton, in the Book for Travellers, "of bestes, venomous serpentes, lizards, scorpions, flies, wormes, who of these wormes shall be byten he must haue triacle, yf not that he shall deye!" We cannot marvel that costly appliances were often provided wherein to carry so precious an antidote, so as to be constantly at hand, such as the "pixis argenti ad firacum," Close Roll 9 Joh.; the "Triacle box du pere apelle une Hakette, garniz d'ur," among the precious effects of Henry V.; the Godet, holding treacle, the gift of John de Kollawe, found with relics and offerings to the shrine of St. Cuthbert at Durham, in 1383; and the "Tracle terre argenteum et deauratum cum custia de hirall," bequeathed by Henry, lord Scrope in 1415 to his sister. A curious illustration of the great esteem in which Treacle of Genoa was held, and of the difficulty of obtaining it unadulterated, occurs in the Paston Letters, vol. iv. p. 264; and in 1479, during the great sickness in England, John Paston entreats his brother Sir John to send him speedily "11 pottys of tryacle of Jenne, they shall coste xvj.d.—the popyll dyeth sore in Norwiche;" vol. v. pp. 260, 264. In Miles Coverdale's translation of Wermulierus' Precious Pearle, it is said that "the Phisitian in making of his Triacle occupieth serpents and adders and such like poison, to driue out one poyson with another." The term occasionally occurs to designate remedies differing greatly from the true theriaca. In Arund. MS. 42, f. 15 b. we read that juice of garlie "fordoþ venym and poyson myȝtily, and þat is þe skyle why it is called Triacle of vppelond, or ellys homly folkys Triacle."

<sup>1</sup> Palsgrave gives "Pitfall for byrdes, Trebouchet." The term which originally designated a warlike engine for slinging stones, and also, owing to a certain similarity in construction, the apparatus used in the punishment of the cucking stool (see p. 107, supra), signified also a trap or gin for birds and vermin. Ducange remarks, v. Trebuchetum, Treppet, &c. "appellatio mansit apud Gallos instrumentis aut machinulis suspensis et lapsilibus ad captandas aviculas."

<sup>2</sup> See GRECE, or tredyl, supra, p. 209. In MSS. s. A. the reading is Tredyl of grece, which, if grece is taken here as signifying a staircase, may be more correct. See Nares, v. Grice.

<sup>3</sup> Compare TOGULOWRE, supra, p. 263. In the later Wicliffite version 2 Chron. c. 33, v. 6, is thus rendered, "Enchaunteris (ether tregetours) that disseyuen mennis wittis." Chaucer uses the word, and also Treget, in allusion to marvellous tricks resembling those still practised in India. See Frankelein's Tale, and Tyrwhitt's note on line 11,453. Horman says, in his Vulgaria, "a iugler with his troget castis (vaframentis) deceueth mens syght; —the trogettars (prestigiatores) behynd a clothe shew forth popett; that chatre, chyde, iuste and fyghte together." Fr. Tresgier, magic, Tresgetteres, magicians, according to Roquefort.

The ball is struck with a trip-stick. Tritura is rendered in the Ortus merely in its ordinary sense of threshing.

"Solue cerfoile with violet and vyneger, and this y-dronkyne wole sle wormis in the bely and the trenchis" (sic).

<sup>3</sup> This word occurs between TRUMPOŃ and TRUSSYN', amongst the verbs, possibly as having been originally written TRUPLYTYN'.

<sup>4</sup> In provincial dialect, in some localities, Trussel signifies a stand for a cask. Mr. Wright, in his useful Dictionary of Obsolete English, states that the word signifies also a bundle, the diminutive doubtless of truss, and, in Norfolk, a trestle, a use of the term which Forby has overlooked. Moor gives, in his Suffolk Words, Tressels or Trussels, to bear up tables, scaffolds, &c. "Trussulla, a trussell." ortus. This word also designated the punch used in coining. Among the gifts of Adam, abbot of Peterborough, 1321, a chasuble is mentioned "de tule samito." Sparke, 232. Theater of Plants, ch. 93.

<sup>3</sup> The mineral Turbith, a yellow sulphate of mercury, may be here intended. The word is found in the Winchester and Add. MSS. only. The term Turpetalum, however, is explained by Rulandus in his Lexicon Alchemia, as derived from Arabic, and used to designate some bark or root of a plant, which may have been the spice with which the compiler of the Promptorium was familiar.

A Turfe grafte, turbarium." CATH. ANG. The distinction above intended seems to be retained in East Anglian dialect, according to Forby, who gives the following explanation;—"Turf, s. peat; fuel dug from boggy ground. The dictionaries interpret the word as meaning only the surface of the ground pared off. These we call flags, and they are cut from dry heaths as well as from bogs. The substance of the soil below these is turf. Every separate portion is a turf, and the plural is turves, which is used by Chaucer." In Somerset likewise, peat cut into fuel is called turf, and turves, according to Jennings' Glossary. In a collection of English and Latin sentences, late xv. cent. Arundel MS. 249, f. 18, compiled at Oxford for the use of schools, it is said,—"I wondre nat a litte how they that dwelle by the see syde lyvethen when ther comethe eny excellent colde, and namely in suche coostys wher ther be no woodys; but, as I here, they make as great a fire of torves as we do of woode."

Suffolk Words, v. Treen. Compare THROWYN, and THROWYNGE or turnynge of vesselle, supra, p. 493. It may be observed that before the manufacture and common use of earthenware, cups, mazers, and various turned vessels of wood were much employed, and the craft of the turner must have been in constant request. Chaucer, in the Reve's Tale, describing the skill of the Miller of Trumpington in various rural matters, says he could pipe, and fish, make nets, "and turnen cuppes, and wrastlen wel and shete."

<sup>1</sup> Vernage, Ital. vernaccia, is explained, Acad. della Crusca, to have been an Italian white wine, as Skinner conjectures from Verona, qu. Veronaccia. See Ducange, v. Vernachia, and Garnachia; and Roquefort gives vin de Garnache. "Vernage and Crete" are mentioned as choice wines, Sir Degrevant, lin. 1408; in "Colin Blowbolle's Testament," notes to Thornton Romances, edited for Camd. Soc. by Mr. Halliwell, p. 301, we find in an ample catalogue of wines—"Vernuge, Crete, and Raspays." In the Forme of Cury, directions occur to "make a syrpe of wyne Greke, ether vernage." "Regi theriacum in vino vocato le Vernage dederunt." Ang. Sac. t. ii. p. 371.

<sup>2</sup> See directions for making "Vernysche," about the period when the Promptorium was compiled, Sloane MSS. 73. f. 125, b. 3548, f. 102. "Bernyx, or Vernyx, is a bynge y mad of oyle and lynne sed, and classe, with (which) peyntours colours arn mad to byndyn and to shynyn." Ar. MS. 42, f. 45, b. The Latin word above may be more correctly read Vernico.

<sup>3</sup> Hardyng relates that St Ebbe and the nuns in her company cut off their noses and upper lips, (which was "an hogly sight") for fear of the Danes—"to make their foes to hoge (al. houg or vgge) sowith the sight." Chron. c. 107. "Uglysome, horryble, excecrable." PALSG. "To Hug, abominari, detestari, rigere, excecrari, fastidire, horrere. Hug-some, abominacio, &c. To Vg, abominari, &c. ut in H. litera. Vgsome, Vgsomnes," &c. CATH. ANG.

<sup>4</sup> "Vyce, a tournyng stayre, Vis. Vyce of a cuppe, Vis. Vyce to putte in a vessel of wyne to drawe the wyne out at, Chantepleure." PALSG. Chaucer describes how suddenly waking in the still night, he paced to and fro, "till I a winding staire found—and held the vice aye in my hond," softly creeping upwards. (Chaucer's Dream). Here Vice seems to designate the newel, or central shaft of the spiral stair. In the Contract for building Fotheringhay church, 1435, is this clause,—"In the sayd steppyl shall be a Vyce tournyng, serving till the said body, aisles, and qwere both beneth and abof;" the "vyce dore" of the steeple is mentioned in Churchwardens' accounts at Walden, Essex; and amongst payments for building Little Saxham Hall, 1506, occur disbursements for a vice of free-stone, and another of brick, which last is called in the context a "staier." Gage's Suffolk, pp. 141, 142. In the earlier Wicliffite Version, Ezek. 41, v. 7, is thus rendered—"and a street was in round, and stiede upward bi a vice (cochleam), and bar in to þe soler of þe temple by cuppas; (styngre vpward by the heez toure" later version.) "A vyce, ubi a turne grece." CATH. ANG. Roquefort gives "Vis ; escalier tournant en forme de vis."

<sup>1</sup> Some kind of brooch, a fastening for the hood, seems to be here intended. The capitum, or cheveaille, was closed at the neck with some such ornament, to which, from certain peculiarities in its fashion, the name spira may have been properly assigned. Chaucer describes, Rom. of the R. v. 1080, that with a tasseled gold band and enameled knops "was shet the riche cheveaille" worn by Richesse.

<sup>2</sup> Vinarium, according to Ducange, may signify a vineyard, or a wine-vessel, poculum. The term which occurs above may, however, designate a vessel for vinegar, Vinaigrier, Fr. The cruets for wine, or burettes, for the altar, are sometimes called vinageria, or vinacheria.

<sup>3</sup> This term may probably be traced to the French Vireux, to veere, turne about; Vire, to wheel about, &c. coro. From the rotatory movement doubtless certain mediæval machines were called Vernes, or Fearnes, as in accounts of works at Westminster Palace, t. Edw. I., where, with payments for ropes, &c. mention frequently occurs of "gynes voc' fernes;" and, in the Compotus of W. de Kellesey, clerk of the works, 1328, many payments occur for timber and iron-work, "circa facturam ejusdam Verne sive Ingenii constructi pro meremio majoris pontis aquatici Westmonasterii rupti decaso et jacente in aqua Tamisie ibidem exinde levando et guyndando." Misc. Records of the Queen's Remembrancer, 2 Edw. III. "Moulinet à brassières, the barrell of a windlesse or fearne. Cheere, the engine called by architects, &c. a Fearne." coro.

<sup>4</sup> The ring of metal now termed a ferrule. The Duchess of Brabant gave to her father Edw. I., as a new year's gift, "j. par cultellorum magnorum de ibano et eburn' cum viroll' arg' deaur." Lib. Gard. 34 Edw. I. In the St. Alban's Book, sign. h. j. are directions for making a fishing-rod;—"Vyrell the staffe at bothe endes with longe hopis of yren or laten in the clenest wysc, with a pyke in the nether ende, fastnyd wyth a rennyge vyce to take in and oute youre crophe" (i. e. the top joint).

<sup>6</sup> Wem, in the dialect of Norfolk, signifies, according to Forby, a small fretted place in a garment. Compare, in the Wicliffite Version, Song of Solomon iii. 7, "My frendesse, thou art al faire, and no wem is in thee:." and James i. 27, "A clene religioun and vnwemmed." Chaucer writes of the "Virgine wemmeles;" and Horman says—"Our Lady bare a chyld without any spotte or wem of her virginity (virginitatis noxam).—The auter clothis—shulde be very clene, nat pollute with spotte or wemme." *Ang.-Sax. <sup>1</sup> Although written WERLDE, it would appear by its place in alphabetical arrangement that this was written WERDE by the first hand, as in other MSS. So in the Paston Letters, passim; for instance, vol. iii. p. 350, in allusion to troublous times of Henry VI., "Feyth! here is a coysy werd." In the version of Vegecius, Roy. MS. 18 A. XII., we read that "it happethe ofte to somme of ther wordi dedes to be chosen to dignities."

<sup>2</sup> The precise nature of the weapon here intended has not been ascertained; in the Roll of effects of Sir John Fastolfe, i. Henry VI. occur in the Great Hall at Caistor six "wifles," hanging up with cross-bows, a boar-spear, &c. Archæologia, vol. xxi. p. 272. Sir S. Meyrick supposed they were swords of wood for practice. At the great muster of citizens of London in 1539, described by Hall, there were "Wyffelers" on horseback, with "propre iavelyns or battel-axes in ther handes," and 400 Wyffelers on foot, active persons clad in white silk, &c. "euery man hauyng a javelyn or slaugh sword." Forby, Vocab. of E. Ang., describes the active Whiffiers who cleared the way for the processions of the Corporation at Norwich, bearing swords of lath or latten, which they keep in constant motion, "whiffing the air on either side." He proposes to derive the term from A.-S. wæflere, blatero. It appears, however, more probable that they received the name from the weapons called wyfles. Douce, in his Illustrations of Shakespeare, K. Henry V. act 5, supposes the "mighty whiffier 'fore the king," preparing his way, to have been a fifer. Minsheu defines him to be a club or staff-bearer. See Nares's Glossary. In Bagford's collection, Harl. MS. 5944, f. 174 b, is a curious representation of the Ages of Man, engraved by Stent, 1665. Childhood appears as the "hinch boy" to the Mayor. Youth is dressed as a "swaashing whiffier," with his staff and chain.

<sup>3</sup> The invention of combustible or explosive compounds for purposes of war dates from remote antiquity in the East. Their origin and nature has been fully investigated by H. M. the Emperor of the French, in his remarkable work on the History of Artillery; we may refer also to the treatise Du Feu Grégeois, by MM. Reinaud and Favé, and to the Essai sur le Feu Grégeois, by M. Lalanne. The term Wild Fire, here given as synonymous with Greek fire, occurs repeatedly in the Romance of Coer de Lion, written about t. Edw. I. The dromond captured by Richard between Cyprus and Acre was laden "with wylde fyr and other vytayle;" line 2463; wild fire was projected by tubes called "trumpes;" at the siege of a city were used "arweblast of vys," with quarrels, staff-slugs, and trebuchets, and the besiegers "blewe wylde fyr in trumpes of gynne;" line 5229. A distinction seems occasionally made; in a sea-fight Richard cast out of his galley wild fire into the sky, "and fyr Gregeys into the see," so that the water appeared all burning with the dreadful compound. In Chron. of Eng. written about t. Edw. II. a strange tale may be found of the hot bath concocted by King Bladud, with many things craftily combined in brass tuns,—brimstone, salgemme and saltpetre, sal ammoniac and nitre, "with wylde fur ymad ther to." Ritson, Metr. Rom. vol. II. p. 277. The popular tales regarding these inextinguishable compounds are not without interest as connected with the prototypes of those appliances of war which in our days arrest such universal attention. Caxton, in the Mirroure of the World, part II. c. 21, says of divers fountains, that there is one towards the East "wherof is made fyre grekyssh with other myxtyons that is put therto, the whiche fyre whan it is taken and light is so hoot, that it can not be quenched with water, but with aysel, uryne, or with sonde only. The Sarasyns selle this water right dere and derrer than they doo good wyne." After the time when gunpowder came into general use the deadly volants and compositions devised by the Arabs, as detailed in M. Reinaud's curious treatise, were not wholly abandoned. Grafton tells us that, at the siege of Guianes, in 1410, the men of war within "shotte so fiercely, and cast out wilde fyre in such abundance, that the assaylants were faine to retyre." In the following century we find evidences of the continued use of such combustible appliances of war. Amongst munitions for a fleet which conveyed troops to Scotland, in 1545, under the Earl of Lennox, occur—"xx. Tronckes chardged with wyld fyre: vj. morest spyckes laden with wyld fyre, vj. horstake laden with wyld fyre." State Papers, vol. III. p. 548. Again, in an inventory of stores in Royal Arsenals, taken on the accession of Edw. VI. in 1547, we find, at Berwick, arrows for fire-works; and, at Newhaven, arrows with wild-fire, &c. MS. Soc. Ant. Lond. "Wylde fyre, Feu Sauvage, feu Gregeois." FALSG. The term sometimes designates some disease, possibly erysipelas, of which and of its remedies see Sloane MS. 1571, f. 51, b. Robert of Gloucester, indeed, affirms that English blood is so pure that the dire disorder, that men call "Holy fur or wilde fuyr," cometh not to this realm, and that French men visiting our shores are healed of that evil. The word was moreover used as signifying tinder or some inflammable fungus; thus we find "Wildfire, Lichen, vide Liverwort." GOULDM. See the notes on GUNNE, supra, p. 218.

<sup>1</sup> In the Harl. MS., which has been used as the text in preparing this edition of the Promptorium, no uniform rule appears to have been laid down in regard to the use of the Anglo-Saxon character þ, in place of which Th constantly occurs, probably through carelessness of the transcriber. Here, however, the words thus commencing are found in the usual position assigned to þ, towards the close of the Anglo-Saxon alphabet; each being accompanied by the same word, written with Th, as if its more recondite or archaic form required such explanation. These circumstances are not undeserving of notice. In the King's College MS. the repetition is not found, the words being written with þ only. In the Middle Hill MS. they are written thus—Yanne or thann—Yowtyng or thowtyng, the character ʃ being uniformly used in that MS. instead of þ. In the Winchester MS. þ is commonly, but not invariably, used throughout, and the words in this portion of the alphabet are written without uniformity. Pynson and Julian Notary printed invariably with ʃ for þ, and, in the copy of the rare edition by the former in the Royal Library, British Museum, the following MS. note is found: "All these Y. stande for Th. acordinge as the Saxon carracte was in this sorte—þ, and so we pronounce all these wordes at this day with Th." In W. de Worde's edit. 1516, the whole of the above are omitted, and, immediately after the alphabetical section W, follow Ya, Yanyng, &c., to the close, printed with Y. instead of ȝ, as in all the other texts which have been available for collation. This may, however, be merely a typographical error.

the language of prayer, is well known. Of its use as betokening contempt, or in addressing inferiors, examples might be cited from an early period. Shakspeare describes the foolish suitor in "Twelfth Night," desirous to provoke his rival the Duke of Illyria with a challenge, and thus advised—"If thou thou'st him some thrice it shall not be amiss." Act iii. sc. 2. At an earlier period the question of monastic propriety in regard to addressing novices contemptuously by thee and thou was thought deserving of discussion at the General Chapter of Northampton (See c. x. de Novitiis). Erasmus in his Adagia relates the crafty subterfuge of a miserly patient, who repaid his German physician with idle promises; whereupon the latter meeting him one day reminded him of the obligation. "Cum forte medicus eum Latine numero singulari appellasset, ibi, velut atroci lacessitus injuria, vah! inquit, homo Germanus tuissas Anglum?" and so on that pretence the fee remained unpaid. Thus, likewise, in his treatise "de ratione conscribendi epistolas," c. xii., Erasmus says, "Quid me tuissas? tuissas famulos tuos."

<sup>1</sup> In the edition by Wynkyn de Worde, 1516, this and the words following are all printed with Y instead of ȝ. In the copy of Pynson's edit. Roy. Libr. Brit. Mus., the following note is written:—"All these wordes of ȝ we pronounce with Y at this daye, and some of these; here used haue that place of G in oure spekinge and writinge at this daye, 1599."

<sup>5</sup> "Yarowe, mylfoile, an herbe, Enreue." PALSG. Forby mentions, under plants of omen, a singular mode of divination practised in Norfolk by means of the yarrow, Achillea millefolium, there called Yarroway. One of the serrated leaves is used to tickle the inside of the nostrils, whilst the following distich is repeated. If blood follows this charm, success in courtship is held to be certain:

"Yarroway, yarroway, bear a white blow;
 If my love love me, my nose will bleed now."

See Forby's Vocab. E. Angl., App. p. 424. The omen may possibly have been regarded as of greater value by the use of this particular plant because it was a homely remedy against bleeding. Thus Langham, in his Garden of Health, says of "Milfoyle or Yarrowe"—stampe it and apply it to wounds to stop the blood, and to stop bleeding at the nose."

<sup>2</sup> Compare the notes on þowton, supra, p. 535. Pasquier, in his Recherches de la France (liv. viii. c. 4), there cited, gives very curious details concerning the etiquette in ancient times of thus addressing a superior. He cites, as the earliest instance known to him of such use of the plural pronoun, a letter of Pliny to the Emperor Trajan, in which the expression "indulgentia vestra" occurs; and he shows the prevalence of such a practice in later periods. See Ducange, v. Vobisare, and Vosare. An epistle, dated 1432, is there cited, in which the writer craves his friend's indulgence for addressing him, in the manner of holy writ, in the singular instead of the plural,—"nam et Christus magister omnium neminem unquam legitur vobisasse." Marten. Ampl. Coll. t. viii. col. 177. Erasmus, "barbaros irridens," uses the words vositare and vobisitare. "To ȝe, vosare." CATH. ANG. "Voso, dicitur a vos, Anglice, to se." ORTUS.

The two following paragraphs and distich are found at the end in the MS. in the Library at King's College, Cambridge:

¶ Explicit liber dictus Promptorius Parvulorum, secundum vulgarem modum loquendi orientalium Anglorum.

¶ Quicunque alterius patrie vocabula a dicte patrie vocabulis, aut litera aut sillaba aliquo modo discrepantia, voluerit in hoc libro inserere, caveat, obsecro, ut semper secunda litera cum prima observetur; ut puta, non scribat—Hond, pro Hande, nec Nose, pro Nese,—in locis debitis, secundum vocem literarum scribantur; vel sic scribat—Hand or honde, Nese or nose,—et sic de aliis; quia aliter liber cito viciabitur, et ordo scribendi confundetur, ac scrutatores vocabulorum in scrutando deficient, dum ea que scrutabuntur in locis debitis non inveniuntur.<sup>2</sup>

¶ Nunc finem fixi, penitet me si male scripsi,
Qui legit emendat, scriptorem ne reprehendat.

The following colophon is in the edition printed by Pynson:

¶ Ad laudem et ad honorem omnipotentis dei. et intemerate genitricis ejus. Finit excellentissimum opus exiguis magnisque scolasticis utilissimum quod nuncupatur Medulla grammaticæ. Inpressum per egregium Richardum pynson. in expensis virtuosorum virorum Fredrici egmond et Petri post pascha. anno domini. M.cccc. nonagesimo nono. Decima v<sup>a</sup>. die mensis Maii.

<sup>1</sup> In Arund. MS. 42, f. 28. it is said of "Anet—the sed coct, and al hot put to þe nostrille, soffreth noȝt to galpyn, ne to rospyn, ne to ȝexyn." "To ȝyske, singultire. A ȝiskyng, singultus." CATH. ANG. "I yeske, I gyve a noyse out of my stomacke, Je engloute. Whan he yesketh next tell hym some straunge newes and he shall leave it. Yeske that cometh of the stomake, sanglout. Yexing, hocquet." PALSG. "Senglot, the hickocke or yexing." COTG. Gerarde observes that rhubarb is commended by Dioscorides as a remedy for "Yexing or the Hicket;" and, in Andrew Boorde's Breviary of Health, c. 325, "doth shewe of yexing or the hicket: singultus is the Latin word; in English it is named the yexe or the hicket, and of some the dronken man's cough." A race of green ginger, he adds, is an excellent remedy. Dr. W. Turner assures us that the broth of leaves and seed of dill "swageth y<sup>e</sup> hichkoke." Chaucer uses the word yexing as signifying sobbing. Test. of Love, l. f. 272 b.

The following notice and colophon are found at the end in the editions of Wynkyn de Worde :

In the edition by Julian Nieuw the same notice to the reader is found at the end, with the following addition :

ORTHOGRAPHIC INDEX.

In this Index are given the principal words which are irregularly spelled, together with their modern spelling. Those archaic words are consequently omitted which have no modern orthography. It has not been thought necessary to enlarge the index by the insertion of those words which, although somewhat irregularly spelled, are but little out of their alphabetical place. As has been stated in the Advertisement, p. vii., the sole object has been to facilitate the reference to such words as are mis-spelled and considerably out of place.

<sup>a</sup> It has been suggested that it would be convenient if the words illustrative of certain special subjects were grouped together under general heads. For Architecture, Armour, Cookery, Dress, the Fauna and Flora with which the author seems to have been conversant, and some other subjects, this Index supplies means of reference, not only to the notes, but also to most of the kindred words occurring in the Promptorium under each class respectively, but to which only brief allusion, if any, will be found in the Notes. Of the words last mentioned the lists will be found at the foot of the page.

ADDITIONAL NOTES AND CORRECTIONS.

Page 5, b. line 26, for A-cethen, read A-cethe. The word is written in the Harl. MS. a-cethē, but the final contraction must be regarded as an error of the transcript. In the Winch. MS. it is written "a-cethe." Compare Fulfyllyn, or make a-cethe in thynges þat wantythe, p. 182; and Make a-cethe, p. 321.

Page 7, a, line 23, after Affynyte the word A-foyste, lirida, occurs here, as stated in the note; it was thought to be possibly misplaced. Compare Fyyst, lirida, p. 163, a. In the Winchester MS. however, but not in the other MSS., is, found, after Affynyte. Affyste, lirida, vesiculacio, secundum adamantem.

Page 8, note 4, in the quotation from the metrical paraphrase of Vegecius, Cott. MS. Titus A. xxiii. the word "remue" should apparently be read "reumé;" in the original, "rheuma." Compare the curious version attributed to Trevisa, Roy. MS. 18. A. XII. where the word is thus rendered: "This ebbing and flowing that is callede rewme of the see." B. iv. c. 42. See also Lansd. MS. 285, f. 136, b. In the French version attributed by Caxton to Christine de Pise the word is translated "rheume." Akyr, Eagre, Higre, or Agar, is a name to be traced probably to that of the great Ocean-god of the Northern Mythology, Oegir or Ægir; the drowned were the prey of Rán, his consort. In Lyly's Galathea is the following allusion to the Akyr: "He [Neptune] sendeth a monster called the Agar, against whose coming the waters roare, the fowles flie away, and the cattle of the field, for terror, shun the banks." Finn Magnussen derives Ægir from the verb ægia, to flow.

Page 15, note 3. It should be observed that the printed volume cited in this note, and elsewhere, as Mr. Wilbraham's Latin-English Dictionary, has been ascertained to be Pynson's edition of the Ortus, described in the Preface, p. lvii. The variations in the rendering of Ciniflo, in MSS. of the Medulla Grammaticæ, are given in the Preface, p. xxii. See also the note, ibid. In a Nominale xv. cent. in the possession of Mr. Joseph Mayer, F.S.A., and edited by Mr. Thomas Wright, in his Volume of Vocabularies, cap. 4, p. 212, "Nomina dignitatum laicorum," occurs, amongst servants, "Hic cimiflo (sic) a nask-kyste," namely, as Mr. Wright explains it, "the askfyse, the servant who made and blew the fire." Hexham gives, in his "Netherdutch" and English Dictionary, 1648, "Assche-vijster, one that sits alwayes on the hearth, hanging his head over the ashes."

- Page 37, a. line 24, for nemor read nenior. Compare Lullyñ, p. 317.
 ——— line 26, for sepicio read sopicio.
- Page 41, a. line 10. In Winch. MS. Blowyn as man with wonde. Both honde and wonde are doubtless for onde. Compare Oonde, or brethe, p. 364. This verb does not occur in MS. K.
- Page 46, a. line 13. Compare Budde, fly, p. 54, and Maltebowde or wevyl, p. 323. Warbote, p. 516, may be another compound of the word boud, bode, &c. See Mr. Adams' remarks on names of certain insects, Trans. Philol. Soc. 1858, p. 102.
- Page 61, b. line 7. At the end of a MS. of the Medulla Grammaticæ in the editor's possession, (described Pref. App. p. 1.) is twice written "Dedule, dedule, care away, care away."
- Page 65, b. line 11; Celf wyly, Winch. MS.
- Page 66, b. line 19, for pentys read serpentys. This correction is supplied by the reading of MS. S. which was not known to the Editor when this page was printed. The sense being thus ascertained, it is obvious that the curious passage cited in the note is wholly foreign to the purpose.
- Page 69, b. line 11, for Charyawnt the Winchester MS. gives Chargabyl.
- Page 73, a. line 8; the reading of the MS. —tetyñ—seems questionable. Compare Fretyn or chervyn, p. 179. The Winchester MS. however, agrees with the Harl. MS. and gives Cherwyn', or tetyñ'.
- Page 85, a. line 6. Cocurmete, MS. S. Compare Cookerynge mete, Carificio, p. 86, occurring amongst the nouns. Mr. Halliwell gives "Cokyrmete, clay, Pr. Parv.; corresponding to the Spanish tápia." Archaic Dict. "Tápia, a mud wall." Percevale's Span. Dict.

- Page 93, b. line 17, Corphynn, S. Jamieson cites Aberdeen Reg. 1543, "ane thousand corf keyling," corft fish being as he says boiled in salt and water. In the Household Book of James V. King of Scots, 1529, occur "mulones corf; mulones recentes," &c. On the Eastern coast a floating basket for keeping fish, is called a Corf; possibly "Corphun" may denote herrings either salted in a corf, or packed for conveyance in a basket so called.
- Page 96, a. line 13. In Winch. MS. Cowerde, herteles, longe thoke. Compare Thoke, p. 491. Ray, Sir T. Browne, and Forby give "Thokish, slothful, sluggish." In Lincolnshire "Thoky."

- Page 122, b. line 2; the reading of the MS. is "arbitrer," but the word ought doubtless to have been written arbitet, according to the Catholicon.

Page 122, b. line 17. Holomochus, the reading of the Harl. MS., is doubtless corrupt, as has been noticed in the Preface, p. xxxiv. note c. Aristotle repeatedly uses the word Βωμόλοχος, a low jester. Thus likewise I find in the Ortus "Bomolochus, i. scurra (a brawler); Bomolochia, i. scurrilitas."

Page 125, note 3. The conjecture that the reading of the Harl. MS. (Doroñ) is corrupt, and suggesting "dogon" as a correction, has been confirmed by collation of MS. A, with which the editor had not been acquainted. The reading there found is "Doion," Dogena;" of this Latin word the signification has been sought in vain. Dugon (Jamieson), dudgeon, dungeon (N. country), dogone, A. N., seem to have been terms of contempt. See Wright's Dict. of Obsolete and Provincial Words. "Dungy, cowardly," Wilts. M. de Haan Hettema, in his list of Archaic words compared with Frisian and Dutch, gives "Dogone, a term of contempt. F. dogeniet, D. deugniet, nequam." Trans. Philol. Soc. 1858, p. 153.

"though I am plain and dudgeon,

I would not be an ass and to sell parcels."—Beaum. and Fletcher; Captain.

"Think'st thou my spirit shall keep the pack-horse way,

That every dudgeon low invention goes?"—Drayton.

Nares cites many authorities, from which it would seem that "Dudgeon" was a mottled or hard wood for hafting daggers, to which allusion is made by Shakespeare. It was likewise used for drinking bowls, or masers. Compare Ronnyn as dojoun or masere, p. 436 b. supra. Amongst gifts to St. Alban's Abbey we find "ciphum de dugon ornatum argento cum cooperculo de eodem ligno." Cott. MS. Nero D. vii. f. 103.

Page 126, b. line 20, fulle wroste; and page 129, b. lines 6, 8, Dowsty, and Dostyr. It has been suggested that in these words the s should have been printed f. Probably the author wrote "wrout, dowty, dowtyr;" a copyer may have supplied the guttural by an f, which was possibly mistaken for an s. It deserves notice that gh is not unfrequently, especially in the Eastern counties, pronounced like f, as in cough, laugh, trough, &c. and thus also in the name Rougham in Suffolk.

Page 140, a. line 5; Endemete, i. e. duckweed. See Arund. MS. 42, f. 80 v°. "Folium is an erbe that groweth in Ynde and hath leuys that spredyn a-bouyn on the water in that londe, ryjt as lenticula, endemete, doth among vs." Compare Alphabetum herbarum, ib. f. 95 v°. Page 143, note 2. In MS. S. "Ese, fyschys mete for a hooke." Compare Medulla Gramm. MS. Cant. "Inesco, i. pascere vel per escam decipere, to bayte or ease."

Page 145, b. line 3. Faceet is the title of a popular moral work in Leonine verse supplementary to Cato, or the Liber Cathonis. See p. 63. Fabricius states that it is cited by Ugutio, who wrote about 1190. Warton affirms that it was written by Daniel Ecclesienis, or Church, an officer at the court of Henry II. about 1180. It was called "Cato parvus" or "minor," and Urbanus; it was translated into English by Benet Burghe, and also possibly by Lydgate. Dibdin, Typ. Ant. vol. i. p. 201.

It was printed frequently, among the Auctores octo Morales, and separately at Lyons, in 1488 and 1490; Deventer, 1496; Cologne, &c. Dom Rivet attributes it to John de Garlandia, but erroneously. MSS. of the Poema Faceti or Parvus Cato are numerous; see Harl. MS. 2251; No. 1627 amongst Sir Kenelm Digby's MSS. in the Bodleian; MS. Caius Coll. Cantabr. 1051; MS. Trin. Coll. Dub. 275, &c.

Page 310, b. line 7; compare Lokdore, p. 311, and Lukchester, p. 316. Mr. Wright, in a memoir on the History of the English Language read at a meeting of the Historic Society of Lancashire and Cheshire (see their Transactions, vol. ix. p. 155), observes that in the vernacular of Oxfordshire a woodlouse is called a lockchester, or lockchest.

Page 341, a. line 1, for mancus, read mantus, thus explained in the Catholicon: "mantus, quia manus tegat tantum, est enim brevis amictus," &c.

Page 440, note 1. In a Nominale, MS. xv. cent., in possession of Mr. Joseph Mayer, printed in the volume of Vocabularies edited by Mr. T. Wright, I find, under the head "De speciebus liguminis,—Hoc pomarium, appul-juse; hoc jurcellum, jur-sylle; hoc sarabracium, sarabrase," &c. p. 241. It has been suggested that the term sabrace may have some connection with "Sabrierium, condimentum acuti saporis," in French saupiquet. Ducange.

Page 489, note 2, at the feast on the marriage of Margaret sister of Edward IV. 1468, a roast swan was brought to table, "standing in a tarrage," Exc. Hist. p. 237. "Terrage, terrasse;" Gloss. Gall. in Du Cange, edit. Henschel, t. vii. See also "Terragium," t. vi., explained as signifying a terrace or raised ground; thus also certain vessels of plate are described "à deux terrages d'argent ex pattes esmaillez de vert."

REPORT OF THE COUNCIL
THE CAMDEN SOCIETY,

ELECTED 2nd OF MAY, 1864.

---

THE Council have to announce—which they do with most sincere regret—that the vacancies occasioned by death during the past year, although comparatively few in number, comprise some of the oldest and most respected Members of the Society. They are as follows :

THE MOST HON. THE MARQUIS OF BRISTOL, V.P.S.A.

THE VEN. ARCHDEACON BURNEY, D.D., F.R.S., F.S.A.

CHARLES CAVENDISH GREVILLE, Esq.

GEORGE DODD, Esq., F.S.A.

HUDSON GURNEY, Esq., F.R.S., F.S.A.

JAMES HEYWOOD MARKLAND, Esq., F.R.S., F.S.A.

Of the loss sustained by the Society in the death of the late President, the Council expressed their opinion at their first Meeting after the occurrence of that event. They recorded on the minutes, and communicated to the present Marquis of Bristol, as the head and representative of the family, how entirely the late Marquis had secured to himself the respect and attachment not only of the Council, but of every Member of the Society. His constant attendance at our Meetings, his readiness to promote the objects of the Society, and the courtesy which distinguished all his intercourse with the Members, were points dwelt upon by the Council in their resolution—points in strict unison with his Lordship's general character, and which will cause him to be always remembered in this Society with very peculiar admiration and respect. The Society have already recorded their concurrence in these sentiments at the General Meeting convened for the election of a new President, but they will not deem it superfluous that feelings so sincere should find one more expression in the series of those Reports of the Council, which commemorate the incidents of the Society from year to year.

The name of Mr. HUDSON GURNEY is one very dear to those who remember for how many years he contributed to the promotion of archæological studies, and filled with distinction to himself and with advantage to the Society of Antiquaries the office of their Vice-President. Mr. Hudson Gurney was not only one of the first among our Members, but was also our first Compounder. Mr. MARKLAND also was one of our earliest Members, and had in similar manner done good service to the Society of Antiquaries in the office of Director. Mr. Markland was for one year on the Council of the Camden Society, and acted for a considerable time as Local Secretary for Bath.

The Books issued since the last Annual Meeting have been :—

I. The Camden Miscellany, Volume V. containing :—

Five Letters of King Charles II., communicated by the Marquis of BRISTOL, President of the Camden Society.

Letter of the Council to Sir Thomas Lake, relating to the proceedings of Sir Edward Coke at Oatlands; and, Documents relating to Sir Walter Raleigh's last Voyage. Communicated by S. R. GARDINER, Esq.

A Catalogue of Early English Miscellanies formerly in the Harleian Library. Edited by W. CAREW HAZLITT, Esq.

Letters selected from the Collection of Autographs in the possession of WILLIAM TITE, Esq. M.P., V.P.S.A.

Sir Francis Drake's Memorable Service done against the Spaniards in 1587. Written by ROBERT LENG, Gentleman, one of his co-adventurers and fellow-soldiers. Edited by CLARENCE HOPPER, Esq.

Inquiry into the Genuineness of a Letter dated February 3rd, 1613, and signed "Mary Magdaline Davers."

This volume belongs to the subscription of the past year. The Council are pleased to find that it has been received with the same general satisfaction as all the preceding volumes of our Miscellanies.

II. Letters of Sir Robert Cecil to Sir George Carew. From the original Lambeth Palace. Edited by JOHN MACLEAN, Esq. F.S.A.

This is the first volume for the subscription of the year May last. It will be found to contain much new of the political character of Sir Robert Cecil's affairs in Ireland.

The Council hoped to have issued a

A Register of the Priory of St. Mary Lands and Possessions of that Church Edited by the Venerable ARCHDEACON but this work, which is analogous in character to The Domesday of St. Paul's, requires so much care in editorship, that, although nearly completed, it has not been found possible to bring it to a close. The learned Editor fully promises the work for the present year.

It is with great satisfaction that the Council announce the completion of the third and concluding volume of The Promptorium Parvulorum, edited by ALBERT WAY, Esq., M.A.

The concluding portion of this valuable work not only contains an elaborate Introduction to the work generally, but extensive Indices, calculated to give completeness and add usefulness to the Volume. The Council, desirous that a work of so much value to English Philologists should be made available to Scholars who are not Members of the Camden Society, propose to publish some separate copies of the entire work.

The following Works have been added to the List of suggested Publications during the past Year:—

A further Collection of Letters of John Chamberlain, written between 1603 and 1612. To be edited by JOHN BRUCE, Esq. F.S.A.

Sir Francis Drake's Last Voyage, with an Account of his Death, from a MS. in the Bodleian Library; and Drake's Voiage of Portugall, by John Evesham. To be edited by CLARENCE HOPPER, Esq.

Brief Genealogical History of the Kings of England from a Roll in the Possession of WILLIAM TITE, Esq. M.P.

Abstract from the Privy Council Books from the year 1603 to 1610 (for which period the original Council Books have been lost) from a MS. in the British Museum. To be edited by JOHN BRUCE, Esq. F.S.A.

The Council regret that they cannot yet announce the success of the application to the Judge of the Probate Court stated in their last report, but that further proceedings have taken place upon that subject. At the meeting of the Council on the 5th instant the following letter was written by the Secretary of the Society of Antiquaries and was laid before them, and their concurrence thereon.

Somerset House, Tuesday, 21st March, 1865.

At the meeting of the Society of Antiquaries held this day, the President Earl de Grey solicited your attention to the present prohibition of fac-similes from wills. This prohibition, as I understand, is continued by you in pursuance of the charge of these important documents. It was no doubt perfectly just and reasonable at the time it was first made, when the art of taking fac-similes was still in its infancy, and could not be practised without greater or less risk of damage or defacement to the original. But the Council desire to submit to your inquiry and consideration, whether that prohibition does not now survive the grounds on which it was first made, and whether in point of fact, according to the new photographic process, the fac-simile may not be made with the most perfect safety to the paper or parchment of which resemblance is sought, without the chance of even touching it, and guarded from all other danger by the presence of an officer of the Court.

The Council have now before them a letter, dated the 17th instant, from Mr. George S. Nottage, managing partner of the London Stereoscopic Company, at 54, Cheapside. That gentleman states: "We have within the last few days photographed a Will from Doctors' Commons in this place. It was brought to us by the Record Keeper of the Court, Mr. John Smith, and was photographed in his presence. We have also executed Shakspeare's Will here in the presence of the same gentleman. It is a rule of the Court that the Will should never be out of his custody. Our process does not in any way even touch the original document, that being merely placed upon an easel."

The Council of the Society of Antiquaries, while rejoicing in the permission which has thus been granted to obtain a fac-simile of the Will of Shakespeare, desire to observe that a similar permission would be of great value in several other cases of historical and literary interest.

They would submit to you that such a privilege might, as they conceive, be guarded from all risk to legal rights if it were applied only to documents of less recent date, as of twenty or twenty-five years' back, when the documents are no longer likely to give ground for litigation; and if the privilege were granted only to such firms as the London Stereoscopic Company, of whose skill and care the officers of the Court of Probate were well assured of their own personal experience.

The Council of the Society of Antiquaries are by no means unmindful of your predecessor Sir Cresswell Cresswell's kind and ready compliance with the request which, in common with the Council of the Camden Society, they three years since addressed to him, for an increase of facilities in the consultation of Wills. They are persuaded that you, Sir, feel no less cordial an interest than he evinced in the cause of literature and historical inquiry. They therefore wish no more on this occasion than to refer the matter in question to your own inquiry and deliberation, being persuaded that, if you should find yourself at last unable to comply with their request, it will not be from any want of sympathy with their object, but only because the difficulties in the way of the privilege they desire are greater and more real than at present they believe them to be.

I have the honour to be, Sir,

Your faithful and obedient Servant,

C. KNIGHT WATSON, Secretary.

The Rt. Honble. Sir James P. Wilde, Knt.
Judge of the Court of Probate,
&c. &c. &c.

With reference to this letter the Council of this Society directed the Secretary to write to Mr. Knight Watson as follows:—

The Camden Society, 25, Parliament Street,
6th April, 1865.

DEAR SIR,

THE letter intended to be addressed by the Council of the Society of Antiquaries to Sir James Wilde, Judge of the Court of Probate, having been submitted to the President and Council of the Camden Society, I am directed to inform you that the Camden Society has great pleasure in co-operating with the Society of Antiquaries in the intended application.

The proposed letter expresses so clearly the nature of the permission desired, and urges it with such proper courtesy, that this Council thinks it unnecessary to make any comment. They heartily concur both in the subject-matter of the application and in the way in which it is proposed to be made to Sir James Wilde.

But this Council submits to the consideration of the Council of the Society of Antiquaries whether it would not be right, when making this further application to Sir James Wilde, very respectfully to remind him that there still remains before him for consideration the joint application of the Society of Antiquaries and the Camden Society, forwarded to him in the month of March, 1864, and promised to be considered by him in his letter to the Society of Antiquaries of the 13th of May following.

That portion of our previous application which relates to the Local Registries of the Court of Probate has recently been pressed upon the attention of this Council by several persons particularly interested in that part of the subject, and especially by the Rev. H. T. Ellacombe, a well-known member of both these Societies. Mr. Ellacombe has informed the Council that he has in the press a topographical work which is full of matter derived from all our other records, but does not contain any thing derived from wills—the cost of inquiry and transcription in the local registries having altogether prevented him from making use of that valuable class of historical evidences.

Without presuming to urge Sir James Wilde on the subject of his promised consideration, the Council of the Camden Society are desirous that his attention should be directed to the fact, brought prominently forward in the case of Mr. Ellacombe, that, whilst almost unlimited facilities are given to literary research in other depositories of records, literary inquirers are absolutely excluded by fees from the local registries of the Court of Probate.

Believe me, my dear Sir, yours very truly,

WILLIAM J. THOMS.

C. Knight Watson, Esq.

These letters have been forwarded to the Judge of the Probate Court, and the Council trust that his promised consideration will soon enable them to report, that such fair concessions have been made as will place the records of the Court of Probate upon a par, as to literary utility, with all the other records of the kingdom.

By order of the Council,

CAMDEN, President.

WILLIAM J. THOMS, Secretary.

26th April, 1865.
